Wisconsin, Texas, Washington, Oregon, Georgia and Arizona Among Latest to Suspend or Limit Operations.

10 MORE TAKE STEP IN LAST TWO DAYS

Suspension Movement Developed From Michigan Situation—Gov. Homer Decides Against Illinois Moratorium.

CHICAGO, March 3.—Twenty-five states have now authorized or ordered banks to suspend business for stated periods or have passed laws permitting banks to restrict withdrawals.

Action ranged from holidays, mandatory or optional, to legislation giving banks power to limit withdrawals.

Holidays of varying duration were declared yesterday or early today in 10 states—Texas, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, New Mexico, Georgia and Wisconsin.

Here and in New York, as well as in other sections, banking business went on untroubled by difficulties elsewhere. In many of the states where holidays were declared or restrictive action taken, officials said their banks were sound, but must be protected against withdrawals and repercussions from other sections.

HOOVER GETS LAST PAY CHECK; TO WORK HALF DAY GRATIS

Bids Formal Good-bye to Cabinet Members Who Give Him Desk Set.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Herbert Hoover today received his last pay check as President of the United States, brought to him as usual by Miss Catherine Shea, a messenger in the Treasury.

Mr. Hoover, in fact, received two checks, one for $500 and another for $125, which he will turn back to the Treasury as part of the $15,000 voluntary pay cut he gave himself. The $500 check represents his pay for Wednesday, Thursday and today. Since his term expires at midnight Friday, he will not be paid for half a day Saturday, and will have to donate his services to sign bills and participate in the inauguration of his successor.

President Hoover today said farewell to his assembled Cabinet in an informal ceremony members of the official family presented him with an elaborate desk set for use in his Palo Alto, Cal., home.

The final Cabinet meeting was comparatively brief, and much of it was devoted to what the Cabinet officers called "personal conversation." The President shook hands with all as the meeting disbanded.

Roosevelt Calls in His Party Leaders and Garner Indicates New Congress Will Meet Earlier Than Expected.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—New proposals for dealing with the banking situation were put forth in Congress today, while a measure to give the Comptroller of the Currency power to limit withdrawals from banks in the District of Columbia was put through both houses.

The House, acting soon after the Senate, approved a bill giving unlimited powers over the receipt and withdrawal of deposits in District of Columbia banking institutions to the President and the Comptroller. The measure goes to the White House.

After the District measure had passed the Senate, a special meeting of the House Banking Committee was called to consider it. The nature of the legislation to be considered was not given at the time the call was made and some members gained the impression that the legislation to be considered was a national measure of a different character. The bill to be considered was named later.

Measures drafted in the Senate to deal with the general problem of banking, and would attempt to empower the incoming President and the Comptroller of the Currency to take such steps as they considered necessary to secure bank deposits.

Connecticut Man Is Picked by President-Elect for Attorney-General to Serve for Few Weeks Before Going to Philippines.

STATE FUNERAL FOR LATE SENATOR

Service Probably Monday in Capitol—President-Elect Hopes to Be Able to Attend Burial to Be Held at Helena, Montana.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President-elect Roosevelt today announced the appointment of Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut as Attorney-General in the place of the late Senator Walsh of Montana.

The appointment is temporary—"for a few weeks"—after which Cummings will proceed to the Philippines to become Governor-General of these island possessions.

The following announcement was made on behalf of Mr. Roosevelt by his secretary, Stephen T. Early: "Mr. Roosevelt had expected to announce today the selection of Mr. Homer Cummings of Connecticut to be Governor-General of the Philippines."

"Because of the untimely death of Senator Walsh he has asked Mr. Cummings to assume the post of Attorney-General for a few weeks before going to the Philippines."

WALSH FUNERAL TO BE HELD IN NATIONAL CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A state funeral for former Senator Thomas J. Walsh will be held at the Capitol probably on Monday and Franklin D. Roosevelt will attend if possible.

Plans were formulated as President-elect and Mrs. Roosevelt paid a call of respect on Mrs. Walsh, the Cuban widow of the man who was slated to be Attorney-General in the next Cabinet.

STOCKS UP $1 TO $3 ON NEW YORK 'CHANGE

Buying Flurry Laid to Short Covering—Most of Advance Retained.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Financial markets quickly moved upward in surprising fashion today.

Starting in stocks, the movement spread to bonds and principal commodity markets. In a sudden buying flurry which sent shorts into hurried retreat, stocks rose $1 to nearly $5 a share.

After the movement had slackened in stocks, it continued in commodities. Wheat rose some 3 cents a bushel. Cotton jumped about $1 a bale. Sugar, silver and some of the smaller commodity markets joined the movement. Spot silver was quoted 1/2 cent higher.

The movement took Wall Street by surprise, and many quarters at loss to account for it, although it was suggested that shorts were anxious to cover their commitments in the expectation that the week-end would bring some important action from the new administration.

TOKIO, March 3.—More than 1500 persons were killed in the earthquake, tidal wave and fires which devastated a section of the northeastern seaboard of Hondo Island, largest of the Japanese group, early this morning.

The full extent of the casualties had not been determined at 11 o'clock tonight, but the Governor of Iwate prefecture, which suffered most heavily, reported that 1119 lives were lost in Iwate alone, mostly north of Miyako, a coast town 300 miles northeast of Tokio.

The reports indicate that on the 300 miles of coast swept by the tidal wave, 3038 persons were seriously injured and 948 are missing.

Death List Rising. The total number of dead rose to 1533 with reports from the prefectures of Miyagi, Aomori and Hokkaido. Miyagi is on the East coast, south of Iwate. Aomori is at the northern end of Hondo Island. Hokkaido (or Yezo) is a smaller island north of Hondo.

It was estimated that the epicenter of the earthquake was 125 miles southeast of Kinkazan Island, which would place it at a spot in the sea about 190 miles northeast of Tokio.

Reports from the provinces most seriously affected said that 7300 homes had been destroyed by the earthquake and the tidal wave and fires which followed. The tidal wave carried to sea or destroyed 1670 small boats.

ARKANSAS HOUSE VOTES TO SUSPEND DEBTS 3 MONTHS

Unanimously Passes Bill Taking from Courts Power to Enforce Collections During Period.

LITTLE OPPOSITION EXPECTED IN SENATE

Measure Applies to Public and Private Obligations, Including Insurance Policies.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 3.—The House without a dissenting vote today passed a bill to provide a 90-day moratorium on public and private debts by taking from the courts their jurisdiction to enforce collections during the holiday. The bill was sent immediately to the Senate where Senator Mitchell, a sponsor of the plan, said it would meet little opposition.

The bill makes it unlawful for any Justice of the Peace, Circuit or Chancery Court clerk to issue summons on any action for collection of the debt during the holiday. Referring to 50 or 60 Arkansas banks that have restricted withdrawals to 5 per cent for an indefinite period on all classes of deposits, one section of the bill states: "The obligation of said banks to pay out their deposits on checks is nothing more than an obligation to pay a debt and it is in their power to grant immunities to one class without granting immunities to all."

The bill also provides that no forfeitures shall be declared by any person, firm or corporation and that no life insurance company shall declare any contract forfeited or void by reason of failure of any person to pay premiums due during the 90-day period.

MAN WOUNDED BY OFFICERS IN BANK IS CAPTURED

Three Brothers Seriously Wounded at Madison, Mo., Attempted to Rob Safe.

MADISON, Mo., March 3.—Stanley Fifer, who escaped early Wednesday morning after a fire in the Madison County officers who trapped him and his two brothers in an attempted safe robbery in the Farmers and Merchants Bank, was found severely wounded in the home of a woman who lives on Branstetter, 12 miles north of here, this afternoon. No resistance was made when Sheriff Arch Comstock and four deputies entered the house.

Stanley, wounded twice in the back and once in the leg, had no medical attention. He was taken to a hospital at Paris, where his brother, Joseph, also wounded, is under guard. The other brother, Oscar, who was shot in the spine, is in a critical condition at a nearby hospital.

Stanley, who drove from the bank to the home of Joseph's mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Dickerson, forced her to sign a check for $40 and then drove within a few miles of the Branstetter home, where he abandoned his automobile.

CUMMINGS GETS WALSH'S PLACE IN NEW CABINET

Walsh's body will be started for Helena, Mont., for burial Wednesday or Thursday beside that of his first wife, who died in 1917.

Roosevelt has called a meeting of governors for Monday but he said he hoped to be able to go to the Capitol for the service.

Mrs. Walsh, under a physician's care, rested at the apartment the Senator occupied for many years in the Capital, at 1681 Crescent place.

Congressional leaders were among the first to extend their sympathy. On the arrival of the body at the Union Station last night, a throng from official and social circles met Mrs. Walsh, who had been accompanied from Alexandria, Va., a few miles away, by the Senator's brother, John Walsh, and others.

The body was taken to the apartment, there to rest amid great banks of flowers while messages of condolence poured in. Mrs. Walsh, obviously under deep emotional strain, retired almost immediately.

Mrs. Charles Guder, daughter of the Senator, who met her at the station; Senator Burton K. Wheeler, his colleague, and Senator David J. Walsh of Massachusetts, representing the Senate, accompanied her to the apartment.

A group of Cuban friends of long standing, including Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Cabrera, relatives of Mrs. Walsh's daughter-in-law, also were at the train. Her son is en route to Washington from Havana.

tribute to the late Senator was paid in the Senate in the opening prayer by the Rev. Ze Barney T. Phillips, chaplain, today. He referred to the late Attorney-General designate as "one whose stainless character, ripeness of intellect and unremitted service to his country were sorely needed."

HOOVER DENIES HE WILL ISSUE STATEMENT ON BANKING TODAY

Announcement Made After Reports Which Followed Conferences of Democratic Leaders.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After a conference with his administration's financial leaders, President Hoover today authorized a contradiction of reports that he intended to issue today nightfall a statement relative to banking and business conditions.

Almost simultaneously, statements came indirectly from the President through three sources: Secretary of the Treasury Mills and Governor Eugene Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board, leaving the White House a few minutes apart, told newspapermen separately that neither they nor Mr. Hoover, so far as could be seen, could be looked for to a statement today.

Persistent reports that President Hoover would have something to say emanated from the unofficial sources yesterday and were echoed in Democratic quarters after conferences between President-elect Roosevelt and his party leaders.

HAVERHILL, Mass., March 3.—Three persons were found brutally beaten in their home today, police arrested Hendrick Gadumski, 40 years old, an unemployed shoe worker, on a charge of assault. The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bakanosky and their son, William, 14 months old. Mrs. Bakanosky is the only one for whom hope of recovery is held out by doctors.

Police said they found $3800 in cash in Gadumski's pockets. "He took my money," Mrs. Bakanosky cried when Gadumski was taken before her in a hospital. Gadumski denied any knowledge of the crime.

closed, but were scheduled to open Friday under a 5 per cent restriction. In Mississippi withdrawals of $25 plus 5 per cent of total deposits were permitted.

In Maryland, where banks have been closed a week, the Governor extended the holiday pending legislation. Only a few Pennsylvania banks took advantage of emergency laws to limit withdrawals.

Three Kansas City Banks Limit Withdrawals.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 3.—Two Kansas City banks which are in the process of reorganization today posted rules limiting deposit withdrawals to five per cent.

Directors of the Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co., and its companion, the Fidelity Savings Bank, announced the action was necessary to complete a proposed consolidation of the two firms. Deposits in the former total about $200,000, while those in the Savings Trust Co. are $400,000. Another bank declaring a moratorium on deposits was the Missouri Savings Bank & Trust Co., having deposits of about $200,000.

Kentucky Extends Restriction Period for Week.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 3.—Gov. Ruby Laffoon yesterday extended the State's voluntary bank holiday another week with the period of restriction on now scheduled to end March 11.

Banks are permitted to restrict withdrawals to 5 per cent of deposits as of Feb. 23 during the holiday period. The holidays are not mandatory.

Only 13 of 485 Pennsylvania Banks Use New Law.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 3.—Dr. William D. Gordon, Secretary of Banking, says only 13 of the 485 State-supervised banks of Pennsylvania have sought and obtained authority to limit deposit withdrawals.

He said this number did not include national banks which were exercising, under supervision of the Comptroller of Currency, the new powers granted by the Legislature.

Against New Law.

COLUMBUS, O., March 3.—A protest against the new Ohio laws authorizing restriction of bank deposit withdrawals, and describing such laws as unconstitutional, was expressed in a telegram sent to Gov. White by the Marion, O., Chamber of Commerce.

The message advocating that some method of guaranteeing deposits be adopted, was approved by the Associated Press.

3 BANK ROBBERS ESCAPE AFTER PURSUIT BY CITIZENS

Armed Men Get About $1000 at Minooka, Ill., Bookkeeper Fires at Bank.

MINOOKA, Ill., March 3.—Three robbers held up the Farmers' First National Bank at Minooka early today and escaped with between $1000 and $2000 as bullets fired by Clark Moore, a bookkeeper, hit the rear of their automobile.

Police, citizens and employees of the bank gave chase, but the robbers' automobile was lost in traffic in the direction of Joliet. They drove a Chrysler 1933 sedan carrying license plates 333-282.

Two of the robbers, youthful and unmasked, entered the bank with a pistol and a sawed-off shotgun. The third remained outside in the automobile. They forced three employees and two customers to stand in a corner while they scooped up cash from the tellers' cages. W. F. Dietz is cashier. As the robbers' automobile sped away, the bookkeeper rushed out of the bank with a pistol and fired six shots at them. Witnesses said three or four of the bullets struck the car.

CROWDS POURING INTO WASHINGTON FOR INAUGURATION

200,000 Visitors Expected to See Roosevelt Take Office as President Tomorrow.

LARGEST GROUP SINCE WILSON'S DAY

New Executive and Wife, in Respect to Walsh, Will Not Participate in Social Functions.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The nation's Capital has been turned into one vast parade ground as it prepares to welcome a new President amid inaugural tumult unmatched in private days.

In tens of thousands, and from every state, the fellow citizens of Franklin D. Roosevelt were pouring into Washington to see him take up at noon tomorrow the duties of the Presidency in which Herbert Hoover was spending his last full working day.

The death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, however, had injected a somber note into the atmosphere of gaiety.

Although the main functions of the inauguration were unchanged, the Roosevelts decided not to participate in any of the purely social activities.

The weather forecast for Washington for tomorrow reads: "Saturday probably fair, not much change in temperature; lowest tonight about 35 degrees, moderate north-west winds."

Roosevelt to Call on Hoover.

Many of the incoming delegations brought their bands and cheering sections with them. Under a cloud-flecked sky they made holiday along downtown streets decked with a blaring display of flags and bunting. In groups and troops they took in the sights of Washington.

Hundreds gathered to catch a glimpse of the President-elect—newly arrived overnight from New York—on his way from his temporary quarters at the Mayflower Hotel to the White House, six blocks away, to pay the customary call of courtesy on Mr. Hoover.

Others gathered in knots about the White House itself, where the outgoing President went patiently ahead with the last of tasks to which he had given many weary hours.

Still others tried to crowd into House and Senate galleries, to watch the dying efforts of the last of the "lame duck" Congresses, still in a languid, uncompleted legislation as the adjournment hour of tomorrow noon approached.

Spectators Buy Window Space.

Many of the states sent their chief citizens. Governors were, for one, almost as plentiful as Senators on the streets. Political leaders of the first caliber held interstate conferences in hotel rooms. And in the crowds, too, were farmers and merchants, bankers and laborers, and the inevitable Indians in buckskins and feathers.

Not since Woodrow Wilson marched to the White House just 20 years ago, at the head of a victorious Democracy, had Washington seen such an inaugural outpouring.

Every hotel was overflowing. In the reviewing stands lining Pennsylvania avenue scarcely a seat remained unoccupied, although the price ranged up to $7 for the choice tick-

Presidential Inauguration Program for Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, March 3.

By the Associated Press.
Including revisions made because of the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, here is the program for the inaugural ceremonies tomorrow:

9 A. M.—Aerial demonstration, probably including airplane Akron and 100 military planes.

11 A. M.—President-elect Roosevelt arrives at White House from Mayflower Hotel to pick up President Hoover.

11:05 A. M.—The presidential party, including Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Hoover, leaves White House for Capitol.

12 Noon—Vice-President Garner sworn in at Senate Chamber.

12:50 P. M.—President Roosevelt sworn in. Delivers inaugural address from stand on east plaza of the Capitol.

1:05 P. M.—President Roosevelt completes inaugural address.

1:15 P. M.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt leave Capitol, heading parade. Former President and Mrs. Hoover entrain for New York.

1:35 P. M.—Luncheon. Entertainment of 300 guests canceled because of Walsh mourning.

2:30 P. M.—Inaugural parade reaches White House. President and Mrs. Roosevelt go to Court of Honor reviewing stand.

5 P. M.—Review ended. Tentative: President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertain at tea.

8 P. M.—Tentative: President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertain 60 at dinner.

10 P. M. to 2 A. M.—Inaugural ball at Washington Auditorium. Mrs. Roosevelt canceled attendance on account of Walsh mourning.

6 to 11 P. M.—Drills, fireworks, street festival, etc.

ets, and shopkeepers along the parade route were selling window space.

The old capital had something of the air of a boom town of other days. City officials estimated that 200,000 visitors would be here by tomorrow, and that upward of 75,000 would be in the reviewing stands watching another 10,000 march while many thousands more jostled for standing room on the sidewalks.

In general pattern, the inaugural program will follow the precedents established long ago.

It will begin shortly before noon, when President and President-elect ride together to the Capitol, and will end in late afternoon, after the last straggling remnant of the long parade has passed the white-pillared presidential stand, built for the occasion in front of the White House.

Hoover to Leave at Once.

Soon after noon, in the Senate chamber, a select company of dignitaries will see Speaker John N. Garner take the oath as Vice President, administered by his predecessor, Charles Curtis. Then, perhaps a few minutes before 1 o'clock, seven scores of humanity, seated and standing on the Capitol plaza, will hear Roosevelt repeat the pledge of presidential faith and deliver one of the shortest inaugural addresses in history.

From that ceremony, Hoover will go directly to union station and New York, to spend several days before sailing as a private citizen for a vacation cruise to California.

Roosevelt will ride back along the avenue to the splendors and the trials of the presidency.

Fireworks and a resplendent inaugural ball—the first in years—will close the day, but Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt will not be present.

Roosevelt said that, out of respect to Senator Walsh, none of the family would take part in any social functions except a tea and dinner at the White House.

FREEPORT (ILL.) BANK CLOSES

FREEPORT, Ill., March 3.—The Union Bank and Trust Co., a State bank, was closed for adjustment by its directors today. Deposits totaled about $700,000.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—The State Finance Department today was notified by the Crocker State Bank of Crocker (Pulaski County), that it had declared a moratorium under the McCawley act. The bank in its last statement listed resources of $120,319, loans of $109,867 and deposits $29,324. J. E. Turpin is president and J. T. Turpin cashier.

FLORIDA BANK DEPOSITS GAIN

MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—Not since the days of the real estate boom in 1928 have deposits in local banks been so great, officials said today.

The first National Bank here reported an all-time high total of $19,000,000 in cash in its vaults.

AIR PASSENGER LEAPS 800 FEET FROM PLANE

Search Continues for Body of Merrill King, Paper Firm Head.

By the Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 3.—Search continued today for the body of Merrill King of Kalamazoo, Mich., who plunged 800 feet from an airplane near here. Rice fields and swamp lands near Charleston King had been searched by the U. S. Eastern Air Transport plane, but failed to yield a trace of the missing man.

At Newark, N. J., fellow passengers described his plunge from the ship en route from Miami, Fla., New York, and told of conversations with him during which King had complained of financial loss and "terrible headaches."

Wesson of New York said King had been seated at the back of the plane. He said he heard a commotion and turned in time to see King hanging out of the open door. Wesson said King plunged through before anyone could reach him.

In Kalamazoo, Harry C. Bickford, vice-president of the Rex Paper Co., of which King was president, declared he knew of no business reasons why King should commit suicide. King's widow said she had not been in ill health. King had been in Miami about a week and Wednesday night underwent treatment at a Miami Beach hospital for a cold.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Holding his final conference with newspaper men, President Hoover thanked the press of the nation through them for a "pleasant association through troubled times."

Relaxed and smiling, Mr. Hoover talked in a personal vein with the correspondents. "I have no new for you today," he said. "There plenty of news in other quarters. Then he expressed his appreciation for the opportunity of 'contact and co-operation' with many of the correspondents in the group. Some he added with another smile, 'had missions with which I didn't agree.' But on the whole, he said his association had been pleasant."

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Holding his final conference with newspaper men, President Hoover today thanked the press of the nation through them for a pleasant association through troubled times.

Relaxed and smiling, Mr. Hoover talked in a personal vein to the correspondents. "I have no new news for you today," he said. "There is plenty of news in other quarters." Then he expressed his appreciation for the opportunity of "contact and cooperation" with many of the correspondents in the group. Some he added with another smile, have "had missions with which I didn't agree." But on the whole, he said, his association had been pleasant.

CHERMAK GAINING BUT HE STILL IS 'VERY SICK MAN'

Possibility of Chicago Mayor's Recovery Can Now Be Reasonably Considered, His Doctors Say.

PATIENT SPENDS COMFORTABLE NIGHT

Taking More Food, but Nourishment Still Causes Concern—He Remains in Oxygen Room.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—The possibility of Mayor Anton Cermak's recovery from a bullet wound and resultant complications "can now be reasonably considered," his physicians said today. However, the Chicago chief executive was described as "still a very sick man." He passed a quiet and comfortable night and appeared stronger and improved over yesterday, the doctors said in an official bulletin at 10:35 a. m. The bulletin said: "He is taking more food and while he still is a very sick man the possibility of recovery can now be reasonably considered." The colitis is less severe and the pneumonia has subsided. "Pulse 110, respiration 30." The temperature was not recorded.

A bulletin at 2:40 p. m. said: "The favorable signs noted this morning Mayor Cermak's condition still regains. His day so far is an improvement over yesterday." The condition of the Mayor, who was shot by Giuseppe Zangara in the attempt to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt, was described as "the best since a week ago" by his personal physician and son-in-law, Dr. Frank Jirka.

Mayor Cermak's physicians said at 4:40 p. m.: "The patient is still regaining and appearing comfortable. Pulse 118. Respiration 24."

Dr. Jirka's statement followed an official bulletin which said the Mayor had a comfortable night, sleeping most of the time and waking "feeling quite rested." His pulse at 7:45 a. m. was 110 and his respiration 23, the bulletin said. Mayor Cermak had eggs, soft bread and two cups of tea for breakfast. Doctors said they thought the most important step toward Cermak's recovery was to get food into his body for nourishment. Cermak asked for still more tea, one doctor said, but the request was denied.

The patient was sleeping at 9:30 a. m.

Cermak still was kept in the oxygen room set up to aid his weakened heart and lungs. Surgery and apparently no other treatment, which is maintained at a constant temperature of 60 degrees by the use of ice.

Intravenous injections of glucose were continued since the Mayor has been unable to take sufficient nourishment by mouth. The fact that Cermak's pulse rate fell within the 120 range and was lower at times encouraged his physicians. Hiccoughs, attributed to a peritoneal irritation, were checked and caused no further abdominal distress. Meanwhile, Mrs. Joe H. Gill, also wounded by Zangara, remained in serious condition from infection in the wound in her abdomen. The three other victims of Zangara's bullets have been discharged from the hospital.

WOMAN WHO ENDED LIFE AT HOTEL A RED CROSS NURSE

Body at Morgue Since Jan. 17 Identified—Husband Resides in Pasadena.

A woman, who shot and killed herself at the American Hotel last Jan. 17, has been identified as Mrs. Alice C. Hollingsworth Warren, a Red Cross nurse.

The identification was made through the efforts of police and the Red Cross, stating that Mrs. Warren's husband, C. A. Warren, resides in Pasadena, Cal. The letter explains that Mrs. Warren was at one time assigned to the army nursing corps and is entitled to military burial. Chief Clerk will communicate with the husband.

Mrs. Warren registered at the hotel as A. Warren, Boston, Mass.

INAUGURAL SALES FOR TOMORROW IN DOWNTOWN SHOPS

Eighteen Firms Will Join in Unprecedented Merchandising Celebration for Men, Women and Children.

Tomorrow will be "Downtown Inaugural Day Sales" in St. Louis.
Eighteen downtown members of the Associated Retailers of St. Louis have joined in the movement to make it a memorable day for shoppers.

Included are department stores, women's and misses' apparel shops, jewelry shops, furniture houses, shoe, candy and optical companies, and men's apparel shops.

It is the first time there has ever been such a co-operative effort made by downtown St. Louis retailers, and it has been extensively announced throughout the city and neighboring territory.

Movies theaters have carried stories of the sales, colorful posters for days have proclaimed the event, radio announcers have broadcast it and railroads have advertised it in towns within 75 miles of St. Louis.
Last, but not least, your milk bottle this morning was probably one of the many thousands which wore a white collar heralding the Inaugural Sales.

Day of New Hopes.
The day has been chosen in the belief that as the minds of people are turned to the incoming national administration with hopes of happier days and solutions of many problems, they may also realize that judicious spending of money is necessary to start the wheels of commerce and bring back better times.

Every shop will offer new and attractive spring merchandise at prices that make purchases worth while on this particular day.

The smartest and newest creations of fashion authorities will be shown for the first time and women will be able to see what Paris, London and New York have planned for them.

Men will also see the latest modes tailored for their approval. Accessories for men and women and the home will be shown in lavish profusion.

Pieces of furniture to brighten up the house which may have grown shabby in the past hard years, silver for the spring bride, candy for sweethearts and shoes for every occasion are included in the inaugural sales.

Special Features Arranged.

In addition to the attraction of merchandise at unusual bargain prices, several stores have arranged interesting programs. In one, Boy Scouts will exhibit prize totem poles with Scouts at work carving poles in quaint Indian designs.

An impressive display of stamps from all parts of the world will attract stamp collectors.

Several stores will tune in on the inaugural ceremonies as broadcast from Washington, and their patrons may listen while enjoying their lunches.

In one tearoom, guests may eat at luncheon the same food which President and Mrs. Roosevelt will eat with their guests at the White House, the entire menu being faithfully followed here in St. Louis.

Nor are the children to be forgotten in the celebration, for in addition to the very latest in spring apparel for them on sale at a number of stores, one store will have an inauguration party for them with a patriotic program under the supervision of well-known kindergartners.

NEW SECRETARY OF TREASURY SEVERES BUSINESS CONNECTIONS

Woodin Resigns as Federal Reserve Bank Director Already Out of Locomotive and Car Firms.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 3.—The incoming Secretary of the Treasury, William H. Woodin, severed his business connections in preparation for his new duties.

He resigned yesterday as a director in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Earlier he had resigned as chairman of the board of directors of the American Locomotive Co. He also gave up other official connections with the locomotive company and its subsidiaries.

Directors of the American Car and Foundry Co. accepted Woodin's resignation as president and named Charles J. Hardy, New York attorney, as his successor. William H. Woodin Jr. was elected to fill his father's place on the board.

New Democratic House Whip.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, the new Democratic floor leader, today announced appointment of Representative Arthur H. Greenwood of Indiana, as party whip in the next House. Byrnes also said Representative Cullen of New York, leader of the Tammany delegation, would be his assistant leader.

Utah Passes Unusual Beer Bill.
By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March
3.—The House of Representatives yesterday passed a bill, previously approved by the Senate, which would permit the manufacture in this State of beer for sale in wet territory outside the State. The revenue from the beer manufacturers would go to junior colleges and unemployment relief.

Inaugurating OUR NEW STORE AND A New Deal FOR ST. LOUIS CLOTHING BUYERS!

Saturday we open our beautiful enlarged store, made necessary by overwhelming success during our first three months in St. Louis.
It's a NEW DEAL for St. Louis clothes buyers ...
NEW merchandise, ALWAYS ... NEW styles,
EVERY TIME ... we have no leftovers from other seasons, EVERYTHING is brand-new 1933 mer-

HALF OF SAVINGS TRUST RESOURCES IN REALTY LOANS

Figures $1,404,000 and $2,780,000, According to Inventory Filed With Recorder as to Closed Bank.

The Savings Trust Co., 4615 Delmar boulevard, had $1,404,459 in real estate loans outstanding when it was closed by its directors, Jan. 12, according to an inventory, filed in the Recorder's office today, which lists total resources and balancing liabilities as $2,780,000.

Other large items among resources are $507,287 in personal and collateral loans and $688,943 in stocks and bonds. The chief items among liabilities are $200,000 in capital, $78,028 in surplus and undivided profits, $1,010,147 in bills payable, and $1,437,671 in deposits. Deposits were listed at $1,714,890 in the bank's last statement, Dec. 10, 1932, before withdrawals preceding the closing. The deposits include $83,000 in school children's savings.

Among other assets are listed the following: cash, $874; cash items, $18,578; due from banks, $60,768; Mississippi Valley Trust Co., $23,223; bank building, $84,600; other real estate, $3000; safe deposit vault, $21,128; overdrafts, $2419; stock in Federal Reserve Bank, $7500; furniture and fixtures are carried at $1.

The inventory notes that of the $1,404,459 real estate loans only $100,545 in notes is held by the bank. The National Credit Corporation holds $1,056,079 in notes; the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, $214,460; the First National Bank in St. Louis, $15,875, according to the inventory.

The holders of notes, and collateral loan notes are listed as held by the following: Savings Trust Co., $251,384; R. F. C., $65,671; National Credit Corporation, $31,825; Franklin-American Trust Co., $36,086; Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., $38,605; First National Bank, $31,581; Federal Reserve Bank, $12,500.

The inventory notes that of the bank's resources valued at $586,943, the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. holds $347,332 as collateral; the First National Bank holds $151,662; the Franklin-American Trust Co., recently absorbed by the First National, holds $34,000, and the Savings Trust Co., $38,947.

While the inventory does not list loans from the R. F. C., the N. C. C. or others, it is apparent that they are included in the figure of $1,010,147 in bills payable. It has been stated that the bank obtained $104,000 from the R. F. C. in December.

An addition of inventory figures indicates that the bank pledged collateral valued at $2,107,813, comprising $1,803,914 in real estate notes, $255,903 in collateral notes, and $54,996 in stocks and bonds. Thus the bank is shown to be holding free only $390,576 of these classes of assets as follows: $100,545 in real estate notes, $251,384 in collateral and personal notes, and $38,947 in stocks and bonds.

List of Realty Loans.
Real estate loans of $10,000 or more, made by the bank and secured by insured property, are listed in the inventory as follows:
Etrick Realty Co., $37,500; Manchester Amusement Co., $37,500; Benjamin and Belle Anselm, $36,500; Abe and Minnie Manheimer, $29,800; Robert and Norene Dohr, $28,000; Cammarata, Edmund, $28,000; Maurice and Elizabeth Conley, $23,000; Paul and Lucille Steffan, $20,825; F. C. and Clara Simon, $20,500; Margaret B. Tracy, $20,000; Conrad and Augusta Reimer, $20,000; William and Edna Fletcher, $20,000; Milton and Lena Hopkins, $20,000; Kings-Vern Investment Co., $17,500; Eugene and Marnie Brauner, $17,000; Effie Marie Francis, $16,800; Philander and Mayne Craig, $16,000; George and Louise Fischer, $15,000; Samoto Building and Realty Co., $15,500; Washington Metropolitan African M. E. Church, $15,000; Frank and Estella Hall, $13,800; Walter and Mary Tunn, $13,500; Genevieve Barron, $13,500; Louis and Christine Kamp, $13,176; Carrie and George R. Smith Jr., $12,000; Harry and Janet Alexander, $12,100; Marge Realty Co., $11,000; Carl and Alice Mitchell, $11,000; Leo F. Dohle, $11,200; Harry and Mabel Felter, $10,000; Myrtle M. Sidener, $10,000; John and Elizabeth Zahorsky, $10,500; Maxine Realty Co., $10,000; Maurice and Elizabeth Conley, $10,000; Henry Hoffman, $17,750; Frank Dubinsky, $11,000.

Personal, Collateral Loans.
Personal and collateral loans of $5000 or more are listed as follows: Henry R. Weisels Co., $8700, secured by stock; Wyaconda Securities Co., $8700, secured by stocks; J. L. Johnston, $8800, no security listed; William J. Zeller, $8500, secured by stocks and first mortgage; W. F. Williamson Advertising Service, $5500, indorsers; J. L. Johnston, $12,000, secured by bonds; Henry R. Weisels Co., $21,200, secured by first mortgage; William J. Brennan Grocery Co., $6800, no security listed; St. Louis Gasoline & Fuel Co., $5000, no security listed.

A loan of $4300 to M. D. Gross is shown as secured by warehouse receipts for 345 cases of whisky. The bank's 45,000 depositors are considering a reorganization plan that would give to them the entire capital stock plus a right to share in the proceeds of an orderly liquidation of the equity in the collateral on loans from creditors. The bank's free assets would be turned over to a board of seven trustees for benefit of depositors. The trustees would be in charge of liquidation of the equity in the loan collateral and would pay percentages to depositors as liquidation progresses over a period estimated at one to five years. John J. Downing is president of the bank.

Worrying Over Relative Ends Her Life With Poison

Mrs. Mahalia Zais, 54 Years Old, of 4117 Evans Avenue, Succumbed in Hospital.

Mrs. Mahalia Zais, 54 years old, 4117 Evans avenue, died last night at City Hospital of poisoning. She was taken to the hospital yesterday noon and told police she had taken poison.

A daughter, Mrs. Helen Elmore, who lives at the Evans avenue address, said her mother was worried about a relative who was taken to the City Hospital recently for observation.

ACQUITTED IN 'GHOST' TRIAL

Chicago Woman and Doctor Freed of Bombing Plot Charges.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 3.—Mrs. Ella Hopkins, 60 years old, and Dr. Lester J. Offner, 45, were acquitted last night of charges of conspiracy in connection with the bombing of a filling station on property formerly owned by the woman.

The case became known as the "ghost" trial because of Mrs. Hopkins' assertion that the spirit of her husband came to her in dreams and demanded she buy back their Higgins road homestead from William Lambert, owner of the filling station. Mrs. Hopkins denied knowledge of a plot. She said Lambert was attempting to force her to pay $25,000 to get the homestead back.

SUNSTROKE NOT ACCIDENTAL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 3.—A federal jury yesterday decided that death resulting from sunstroke is not accidental and refused double indemnity to Abbie E. McCreary of Rushville, beneficiary of Francis W. McCreary, his foster father.

The case was contested by the New York Life Insurance Co. security listed; William J. Zeller, $8500, secured by stocks and first mortgage; W. F. Williamson Advertising Service, $5500, indorsers; J. L. Johnston, $12,000, secured by bonds; Henry R. Weisels Co., $21,200, secured by first mortgage; William J. Brennan Grocery Co., $6800, no security listed; St. Louis Gasoline & Fuel Co., $5000, no security listed.

WILL SCRAP PRESENT FARM BOARD SET UP

New Chairman Says He Will "Take Government Out of Stabilization Business."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Henry Morgenthau Jr., who will be new Chairman of the Federal Farm Board, announced today that his first objective when he assumes office Monday will be to "take the Government out of the stabilization business."

He plans to overhaul Government agricultural credit activities, getting an organization of four divisions with responsibility of each centered in one individual.

The present Farm Board set up will be scrapped.

Its functions, in making loans to farm co-operatives, are to be centered in one division under a man to be appointed by the President, who will replace the membership of the present board.

The reorganization, soon to be effected, necessitates resignation of six board members, C. E. Denman, Missouri; Carl Williams, Oklahoma; William F. Schilling, Minnesota; Charles S. Wilson, New York; Sam H. Thompson, Illinois, and Frank Evans, Utah.

James C. Stone of Kentucky already has resigned as chairman of the board, effective tomorrow.

Administration of the Farm Loan Board and the intermediate credit banks, now under the direction of boards, will be centered in one division under the direction of one individual who will be responsible to Morgenthau.

Another division will be formed by consolidation of the Crop Production Loan Agency, now a bureau of the Department of Agriculture, and the Agricultural Credit Corporation set up by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Functions of the fourth division remain undetermined, but it will be established in expectancy of farm mortgage credit relief legislation by Congress.

Harry Lauder Wrote a Song About It...

Remember when the Scotch comedian sang of the joys of "Breakfast in bed on Sunday morning?"

A lot of St. Louisans agree with Sir Harry's idea of Sunday morning comfort. And they add to their enjoyment by having the Sunday Post-Dispatch delivered by carrier for reading during breakfast. It's more convenient to go to the door and pick up your paper than to make a trip to the newsstand, or wait for the boy from the corner store to deliver a copy.

You may arrange by telephone for carrier delivery of the Sunday Post-Dispatch at the regular price of 10 cents a copy. (Wouldn't Harry Lauder like that feature of this convenient service?)

COMMUNISTS TO TAKE DEMANDS TO CITY HALL

Inauguration Day Demonstrations Are Planned Throughout the Country.

Communist organizations of St. Louis have notified city officials that they will hold a demonstration at City Hall tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock to present "demands" for unemployment relief.

The local "demands" will urge that charitable organizations cease furnishing those seeking aid with work before affording relief. Instead of "forced labor," the "workers" want a minimum of three days' work a week at a union scale to be paid in cash.

A "standard budget for all jobs" is requested, with $7 a week for a couple and $3 a week for each dependent, and $4 to single men and women.

Other "demands" outlined in a handbill circulated today urging "workers" to "march against hunger" and assemble at City Hall, include: No evictions or foreclosures; use of the bond issue for relief; establishment of city and State relief stations, with no funds going to private welfare organizations; recognition of "unemployed committees" at relief stations; a six-hour day and five-day week without pay reduction; and social and unemployment insurance at the expense of the Government and employers. Bonus to the veterans to be paid in full.

STATE SLOT MACHINE TAX BILL

Reported Favorably by House Committee.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 2.—The House Ways and Means Committee last night reported favorably a two-bill designed to bring in about $2,000,000 annually in taxes.

One of the measures, by Representative R. J. Rucker (Dem.), Phelps County, places a graduated tax on slot machines. The schedule proposed in the bill is: $5 annually on one-cent machines; $10 a year on five-cent machines; $15 a year on ten-cent machines; and $25 on machines using amounts above 15 cents. The other measure, by Representative J. C. Finney (Dem.), Franklin County, would place a graduated tax on tire dealers who do not sell tires and tubes as a regular line. The tax would range from $25 to $150 a store, depending on the size of the city.

ST. LOUIS GOVERNMENT NOT IN DISTRESS, NOLTE ASSERTS

Protest Against Statement of Detroit Mayor That All Large Cities Are in Trouble.

Comptroller Nolte today sent telegrams to the chairman of the Senate and House Judiciary Committees in Washington, protesting against a statement of Mayor Murphy of Detroit, at a congressional hearing, to the effect that local governments of all large cities are in distress. St. Louis is not in that condition, he said.

SEEKS DIVORCE, SAYS HUSBAND TRIED TO SELL HER FOR $1000

Mrs. Maude Pappas of Webster Groves Also Charges Physical Violence.

Charging her husband offered her for sale for $1000, Mrs. Maude Pappas, 174 Marshall avenue, Webster Groves, filed suit at Clayton today to divorce Frank P. Pappas, a refrigerator salesman.

Joseph Falzone, attorney for the plaintiff, said Pappas made the offer about a year ago to a wealthy man in whose home Mrs. Pappas was then employed as nurse. Mrs. Pappas also charges her husband with non-support, association with other women and physical violence. They were married Feb. 10, 1930, and separated this week. Pappas could not be reached.

THREE MINE PICKETS WOUNDED

Hurt by Bayonets in Clash With Guardsmen at Springfield, Ill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 3.—Three mine pickets were treated at hospitals for bayonet wounds suffered last night in a clash with national guardsmen patrolling Peabody mine. None was hurt seriously. The guardsmen were dispersing the pickets, who were affiliated with the new Progressive Miners' Union. No arrests were made.

5 YEARS FOR KILLING NEPHEW

Man Convicted of Second-Degree Murder at Oark, Ark.

By the Associated Press.

OSARK, Ark., March 3.—A jury that deliberated more than 48 hours returned a verdict late yesterday convicting Whit Stanley, 50 years old, of second-degree murder in the killing of his nephew, Gordon Stanley, 34, last Nov. 12. Stanley was sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary by Judge J. O. Kinnaman.

Young Stanley was shot to death as he struggled with his fiancée, Miss Neva Hogan, a school teacher in an effort to force her from the automobile after she refused to spend the night with his fiancée. The defense offered self-defense plea.

Going to Shoot Dog, Kills Wife
By the Associated Press.
BENTON, Mo., March 2.—Mrs. Aaron Powers, 35 years old, was killed yesterday when a shotgun, which her husband was carrying through the house to kill a dog in the yard, was accidentally discharged.

3 ARIZONA OFFICIALS FREED
BUT ARE REBUKED BY JURY
Members of Industrial Commission Were Charged With Misuse of Public Funds.
By the Associated Press.
PHOENIX, Ariz., March 2.—Three members of the Arizona Industrial Commission, indicted last December for misapplication of public funds, were acquitted yesterday by a Maricopa County jury in Judge Howard C. Speakman's court. However, the commissioners, Robert E. Sims, chairman, Charles W. Hartman and William E. Hunter, were rebuked by the jury.

The commission members were tried in connection with their expenditures in a campaign to defeat an initiative measure to abolish the workmen's compensation act and an initiative measure which sought to consolidate the Industrial Commission with other State departments under a State welfare board.

DEMOCRATS GLAD NEU WON FIGHT TO GET ON BALLOT
Their Leaders Expect His Entry Against Neun to Keep Republicans Out of Opposition Primary.

Republican politicians assert that the entry of Alderman John Neu Jr. into the race for the party nomination for Mayor, made possible by a decision of the Supreme Court of Missouri yesterday, will have no effect on the strategy of the supporters of President Neun of the Board of Aldermen.

On the other hand, Democratic politicians backing Bernard F. Dickmann, president of the Real Estate Exchange, for the nomination for Mayor, are jubilant over Neu's entry. Many Democrats had feared that thousands of Republican votes would be cast in the Democratic primary for Dickmann's leading opponent, Jerome F. Duggan, lawyer.

Republican leaders deny there was any intention to have their followers vote Democratic ballots. The theory in the speculation was that Duggan might be easier than Dickmann for Neu to defeat. Neu would have been unopposed for the G. O. P. nomination but for Neu's filing. Republican leaders have no doubt Neu will overwhelm Neu. The Democrats think the similarity of names of the Republican candidates and the bitter attacks they expect Neu to make will give the Republican organization a victory.

It has been reported in political circles that Democratic machine politicians, who are supporting Dickmann, encouraged Neu to run against Neun. Neu denies that any one approached him on the subject. Members of the Republican City Committee doubt that Neu will receive any support from the party machine. The committee from the Thirtieth, Neu's own ward, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Reidel, is opposed to Neu's candidacy. Politicians think the publicity given Neu's candidacy will largely offset any confusion over the similarity of candidate's names.

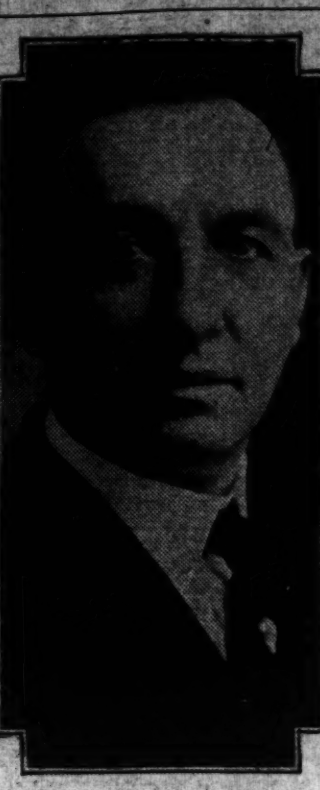

Neu talked a week ago of running for the mayoralty, but last Saturday filed for re-election as Alderman and would support Neun for Mayor. Monday night, half an hour before the expiration of filing time, he sought to withdraw from the aldermanic race and run for mayor, but the Election Board held he could not do this legally. On Wednesday Neu asked the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel the board to place his name on the mayoralty ticket. The writ was granted by the Court en banc. All of the seven Judges participated in a conference preceding the decision. Their vote was not announced, but was understood to have been 5 to 2. Five of the Judges are Democrats and two Republicans. A written opinion will be prepared later. The Election Board began preparing the ballots, with Neu on the ticket for Mayor instead of Alderman.

Preparing Challenges. Democratic supporters of Dickmann had obtained lists of the Republican city employees in order to challenge them if they called for Democratic ballots in the primary next Friday. The precinct officials will have the customary instructions to issue party ballots only to those known to be affiliated with the party for the ballot of which they ask, or who will make affidavits that they will support that party's nominees in the election. It has been pointed out repeatedly that such an affidavit does not prevent a voter from changing his mind between the primary and the election.

Eleven Republican contests for aldermanic nominations, some of which began only last Monday, are expected to keep many Republican voters in their own primary. Republican leaders desire the psychological effect of a large primary vote by their party. One Democratic leader charged today that Republicans had entered candidates posing as Democrats in all the Democratic aldermanic contests. Neun Addresses Meeting. Neun, speaking in the Eighth Ward at 1832 South Eleventh street last night, said that in addition to the need for reduction of taxes and reorganization of city government there were several important problems before the city. Among these, he said, were elimination of spot zoning, rehabilitation of blighted areas, abolition of the smoke evil and formulation of a new improvement program to supplement the work nearly finished under the 1923 bond issue.

In the transportation problem, he continued, there was not only the question of what to do about street cars, but questions of providing for traffic arteries and adequate traffic control, and the handling of downtown parking. There was many ways in which the city could and should co-operate with private business, he said, such as the aid given last year in maintaining the status of St. Louis as a railroad gateway. Dickmann for Economy. Dickmann, talking last night in the Twenty-seventh Ward at 5540 Partridge avenue, declared a sweeping reduction in the cost of the city government was imperative and should be the new administration's first problem. "We will have to cut and eliminate all the bureau and sub-bureau that are not essential," he said. "We will have to consolidate and co-ordinate wherever we can effect savings. It should not be such a hard job to keep the budget balanced, avoid deficits and give the taxpayers a square deal. Let us do away with the favored combinations, the machine politics, the sand-bagging of city employees, and institute an era of business application and we will clean up St. Louis as Grover Cleveland cleaned up Buffalo, N. Y., and give this good old city a new deal." Duggan, addressing the Retail Druggists' Duggan-for-Mayor Club at the Warwick Hotel last night, asserted that Dickmann had refused an appointment on the executive committee of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, because it might cause the loss of the real estate business of dry clients. Since the last election, Duggan said, Dickmann joined the Crusaders, of which Duggan has been a leader for some time.

Winner for Ward Elections.
Former Alderman Samuel I. Wimer, Republican, an independent candidate for Mayor, said at a meeting last night at Carpenter Library, Grand boulevard and Utah place: "I cannot conceive of a new deal at City Hall unless it comes through a non-partisan vote, free and distinct from either Democratic or Republican machine control." Wimer favors the election of Aldermen by wards instead of by city-wide vote as now required. He condemned the practice of the Republican machine in collecting campaign funds from city firemen and other employees, and said he would prevent this, if elected.

Candidates for the Board of Education and Republican candidates for city offices have been invited to address a luncheon of the Republican Women's Club at Hotel Statler tomorrow.

The Nineteenth Ward Democratic organization has endorsed William F. Baumann for the party nomination for Comptroller. The Negro Democratic Women's City-Wide Dickmann-for-Mayor Organization has endorsed William Stone Madden for the nomination for Comptroller.

The Twenty-seventh Ward Regular Republican Club endorsed Adolph K. Feinberg for the party nomination for Alderman from the ward. The club featuring the candidacy of Harold J. Murray for the Democratic nomination for Alderman from the Seventeenth Ward.

meeting at his home, 4315 Lindell boulevard, assigned workers to all the wards.

CONVICT KILLED IN HOLDUP
48 HOURS AFTER RELEASE
DECATUR, Ill., March 2.—Within 48 hours after his release from Pontiac reformatory, Vestur Maxey committed two holdups, was wounded and died yesterday in a hospital here.

Maxey, whose home was in Carmel, Ill., was shot Wednesday night by the proprietor of a filling station at Pierson, Ill., after he had held up the place. Shortly before he had robbed a home at Blumond, near here, and had fired on Thomas Hankson, who arrived home while Maxey was there. Maxey's body will be sent to Carmel.

Maxey, whose home was in Carmi, Ill., was shot Wednesday night by the proprietor of a filling station at Pierson, Ill., after he had held up the place. Shortly before he had robbed a home at Blumound, near here, and had fired on Thomas Bankson, who arrived home, while Maxey was there. Maxey's body will be sent to Carmi.

69 CENTS FOR FURNITURE

Jobless Sympathizers Buy in Belongings of An Evicted Tenant.

MONTREAL, Que., March 2. —
For a total of 69 cents, unemployed sympathizers of an evicted tenant here bought the furniture of a five-room flat, complete from kitchen stove to radio, with beds ranging to five cents.

In the face of a storming but helpless landlord, with police looking on, they moved the furniture out, loaded on trucks and set off cheering for the city hall to demand a new home for the tenant. It was a ballet's auction, held on an order of the Superior Court, and it cost the landlord $67.

At the sale a bath tub was filled with cold water for the benefit of those who wished to bid over five cents. The bath tub was not used.

NATIONAL CITY CO.

MADE BIG PROFIT IN 1929 MERGERS

Cleared $1,288,000 in Farm Implement Combine Witness Tells Senate Committee.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A succession of vice-presidents and former vice-presidents of the National City Co.—subsidiary of the National City Bank of New York, second largest bank in the world—told a Senate committee yesterday of the National City Co.'s profitable financing of mergers and bond issues back in the boom days.

The securities that came out of the transactions have sunk to low values since.

There was testimony that the present market price of a $22,000-000 bond issue of the Lautaro Nitrate Corporation, whose parent company is in Chile, is less than the difference between the $22,000 at which the bonds were received and the $90 at which they were sold to the investing public.

At the close of the hearing, the committee recessed its investigation until the next Congress.

Farm Implement Merger.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, lingered longest on the circumstances which led to the mar-ger of three farm implement firms in 1929.

They were Nichols & Shepard Co., of Battle Creek, Mich.;
the Oliver Chilled Plow Works of South Bend, Ind., and the Harrington Co. of Chicago, Ill.

Out of this consolidation came the Oliver Farm Equipment Co.

Stanley A. Russell was the vice-president who related how this happened. He said that Maxon B.
Starr Jr., a director of the Nichols concern, aided in beginning the negotiations and received a substantial share of the profits.

"I don't know whether Starr told his company stockholders that he shared in the profits," Russell said.

Banker's View of Ethics.

"Do you think it ethical to withhold such information?" Pecora asked. "If I had been in Mr. Star-r's place I would have disclosed the information," Russell replied, adding that for all he knew Starr might have told it.

The testimony also showed that Samuel White was a director of one of the firms and that the company which White headed, the National Republic Co., Chicago bank affiliate, also shared in the profits of the deal. The City company's part in these was about $1,288,000.

Russell said the City company got 21,000 shares of the farm equipment company's common stock and put a value of $10 a share on it.

Shortly afterward the stock went on sale on the New York Curb Exchange at more than four times that figure, it was testified.

"Who promoted the sale of that stock?" "I don't know, but I am certain we had nothing to do with it," Russell answered.

Floating Nitrate Bonds.

Much of the afternoon session was taken up in scrutiny of the participation of the company in an issue of Lautaro Nitrate bonds, also floating in 1929.

J. P. Morgan & Co. and Guggenheim Bros. participated in this financing, although the latter turned their 10 per cent interest over to Lehman Bros., the firm of which the present New York Government was a member.

Morgan had a 25 per cent interest, but his firm failed to share in an additional bonus of 152,000 shares of Lautaro common stock which the City Co. received.

"There is nothing to show you told Morgan about this stock bonus?" Julius Silver, who was conducting the hearing, said to Ronald M. Byrnes, former company vice-president, who was on the stand.

"Not in writing, apparently,"
Byrnes replied.

Profits in Deals.

He said he did not know whether the Morgan firm knew of it. The City Co. made about $1,000,000 on that transaction and Morgan around $500,000.

Joseph V. Ripley, company vice-president, told of assisting in the consolidation of the Boeing Airplane Co., Inc., and the Pacific Air Transport into the Boeing Airplane & Transport Corporation in the fall of 1928.

The company shared in this deal with the Pacific National Company of Seattle and profited $244,306, in addition to receiving 16,200 shares of common stock of Boeing Airplane & Transport Corporation.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
DENVER KIDNAPERS
SOUGHT IN WYOMING

Charles Boettcher II Says He Believes He Was Held in Adjoining State.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, March 3.—The hunt for the kidnapers of Charles Boettcher II, heir to millions, converged on Wyoming today. Sheriff George J. Carroll left Cheyenne on a secret trip Denver police hoped would lead to the hideout of the men who eluded officers after releasing the 17-year-old broker following payment of $30,000 ransom Wednesday night.

Boettcher told police he could not say definitely where he thought he had been held during his more than two weeks' captivity, but he believed he had been taken into Wyoming.

"Although I was blindfolded all the time the kidnapers were traveling with me," Boettcher said, "I felt from my sense of direction we headed into Wyoming."

Police attached additional significance to the Wyoming hideout theory when they learned one of the ransom notes addressed to Claude K. Boettcher, the kidnaped man's multi-millionaire father, was mailed from Cheyenne. The elder Boettcher urged officers on, declaring he had made no promise of immunity during the ransom negotiations. "I will spend my last penny to track them down," he said.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—Notice that he favors a reduction in the salary of penitentiary guards was served on the Senate yesterday by Gov. Guy B. Park. While a bill by Gunn to allow the prison board to fix the salary of guards, provided it does not exceed $135 a month, was being debated, the majority floor leader, Donnelly, sent for the Governor's views.

"I favor $1400 a year," was the message from the Governor.

Guards, except a few who work eight hours a day, now receive $135 a month. Those working eight hours receive $115.

During the debate on the Gunn bill, which eventually was placed back on the informal calendar, Clark said he favored "decent wages" for State employees.

Since the $1400 salary favored by the Governor is the same as in the omnibus salary bill, it is unlikely the Gunn bill will be brought up again.

Perfect Train Length Bill.

The House today perfected a bill introduced by Representative John T. Gardner (Dem.), Grundy County, limiting the length of freight trains in Missouri to 3000 feet, or 70 cars. The length of passenger trains would be limited to 14 cars under the bill. The vote was 45 to 43.

With end of the regular 70-day session less than two weeks away, House leaders sought to further speed up legislation by giving the afternoon and night to consideration of bills by committees. The House is far ahead of its regular schedule and plans are to adjourn at noon tomorrow for the weekend. The regular 70-day session ends March 14, but it is expected that the session will possibly last at least another week.

The first conference of the General Assembly was asked for today by the House, which failed to concur in a Senate amendment to the Kansas City Court of Appeals nomination bill. The Senate amended the bill to require that one commissioner be from each of the major political parties. Under the House bill, both commissioners could be Democrats.

Gets School Attendance Bill.

A bill abolishing the office of county school attendance officer and placing the duties under the County Superintendent of Schools was sent to the Governor by the House for his signature. The bill, advocated by the administration, previously had passed in the Senate.

Penn Gordon, director of the State-owned radio station WOS, suggested to the House Appropriations Committee that the State might sell broadcasting time to resort owners to help pay the station's costs during the next two years.

And the best cod-liver oil is least expensive because it supplies more vitamins A and D.

Many mothers know this and ask for a cod-liver oil guaranteed to be rich in both factors—Squibb Cod-Liver Oil! It is the kind many doctors recommend. At any reliable drug store. Plain or Mint-Flavored.

So satisfying for a mother to know that her baby is developing strong, straight bones and sound, even, uncrowded teeth! They are vital to his appearance, his health and happiness all through life.

But to build them, babies must have an abundance of one essential factor—Vitamin D! This may be obtained from outdoor sunshine and from Bottled Sunshine.

Outdoor sunshine, alone, might furnish enough if it could shine directly on babies' bare skin. At this season, however, clouds, clothing, ordinary window glass prevent.

Babies need Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil. It is the richest natural source of the "bone-and-teeth" factor—Vitamin D!

In addition to Vitamin D, good cod-liver oil supplies Vitamin A—the factor which promotes growth and builds up babies' resistance.

And the best cod-liver oil is least expensive because it supplies more vitamins A and D.

Many mothers know this and ask for a cod-liver oil guaranteed to be rich in both factors—Squibb Cod-Liver Oil! It is the kind many doctors recommend. At any reliable drug store. Plain or Mint-Flavored.

So satisfying for a mother to know that her baby is developing strong, straight bones and sound, even, uncrowded teeth! They are vital to his appearance, his health and happiness all through life.

But to build them, babies must have an abundance of one essential factor—Vitamin D! This may be obtained from outdoor sunshine and from Bottled Sunshine.

Outdoor sunshine, alone, might furnish enough if it could shine directly on babies' bare skin. At this season, however, clouds, clothing, ordinary window glass prevent.

Babies need Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil. It is the richest natural source of the "bone-and-teeth" factor—Vitamin D!

In addition to Vitamin D, good cod-liver oil supplies Vitamin A—the factor which promotes growth and builds up babies' resistance.

WHEAT MARKET HAS SHARP RISE IN LOCAL TRADE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, March 3.—The wheat market ran up over 2 cents today and held 1½ to 1½c of rise, on speculative buying, described as associated with presidential inauguration tomorrow.

The local market shot up with Chicago where the range was near three cents.

The news of day included reports from Washington that the new chairman of the Federal Farm Board would make his first objective the taking of "government out of stabilization business."

Report of Canadian export business and action of securities also were called factors.

above yesterday's finish, corn advanced, and prices for oats $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ cent advanced, and provisions at a rise of 7 to 12 cents.

An upward trend showed itself in grain prices yesterday.

Liverpool wheat quotations displayed strength, with British exchange rates 10 points higher. Opening at $\frac{1}{4}$ cent off to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent up, Chicago wheat prices soon rose around. Corn started unchanged to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent higher, and subsequently made a general advance.

Soaring of Chicago wheat prices enthralled the market almost 3 cents a bushel. Big concentrated buying orders came in from the west.

Word of a very good export business Canadian wheat helped to stimulate speculative demand here. Notice was also taken of assertions that Prime Minister Bennett of Canada was on the point of leaving a personal visit to Washington to discuss a far-reaching trade pact with the United States. Attention, too, was given to Washington advices that the Canadian Federal Finance Board would make it first duty to give the Government out of wheat "stabilization" business.

CHINESE DEFENSE OF JEHOL SAID TO HAVE COLLAPSED

Japanese Reports Declare
Gov. Tang Is Missing and Troops Defending City
Have Mutinied.

TWO COLUMNS BEAR DOWN ON CAPITAL

Invaders Advance in Snowstorm—Peiping Will Be Seized Later, Observers
Think.

By the Associated Press.
CHINCHOW, Manchuria, March 2.—Japanese military reports and press dispatches received at headquarters today told of the utter collapse of the Chinese defense of Jehol province.

Major-General Tadashi Kawahara, continuing the Japanese advance on Jehol city after capturing Pingchuan, 80 miles east of the city this morning, said Jehol city's fall was only a matter of hours.

Despite a blizzard, Gen. Kawahara's troops continued their drive.
Reports said Chinese troops in Jehol city had mutinied and the city was in chaos.

Gen. Tsang Yu-lin, Governor of Je-hol, is missing and Chang Tso-hsiang and Wan Fu-lin, sent to Je-hol by Marshal Chang Hsiao-liang, North China war lord, to command the defense, suddenly departed for Peiping in defiance of orders, these reports said.

Despite the snow, two Japanese airplanes were reported to have scouted Jehol city and confirmed reports that Chinese troops were pouring through the city, man-heading for the passes in the Great Wall to China proper.

The rapid sweep of the Japanese over the greater part of the province in little more than a week hurried along. Because several Chinese leaders transferred their allegiance to the victorious side, he left only a small southwestern slice of Jehol in Chinese hands.

Peiping, now the seat of the North China Government, is thought by foreign observers to be the next objective of the Japanese.
They think Japan must inevitably take Peiping, less than 50 miles south of the Jehol border, because it controls the main highway from the south into the province which is now practically in Japanese hands.

Pingchuan, 50 miles east of Jehol
City, and the last important town aside from the capital which the Chinese held, was captured by the Japanese this forenoon. Another Japanese force which was approaching Jehol City from the north, was last reported still at Chihfeng, 92 miles to the north.

Gen. Kawahara's Sixteenth Infantry brigade marched into Pingchuan this morning from Ying-shih, 22 miles to the northeast. This was the first important seizure for the troops from the northern regions of Japan.

How Campaign Was Handled.
After each important city has fallen in the drive from the eastern border of Jehol, Gen. Nobuyuki Muto, the commander-in-chief, has thrust another brigade to the front to carry on the advance to the next city.

Thus Gen. Kawahara's Northern Japanese marched into Lingyuan yesterday morning after the mountain pass was captured by Major-General Heijiro Hattori's Fourteenth Infantry from Su-chung.

Gen. Hattori's brigade has swung into the front line after Major-General Yoshimichi Suzuki's Fourth Infantry captured Chaoyang, Jehol's second largest city, last Saturday. Gen. Suzuki's troops, veterans of the battle of Shanhai-kwan early in January, remained in the Chaoyang area and Gen. Hattori's brigade was continuing to hold Lingyuan today.

The Suzuki and Kawahara brigades both started from here. The latter have carried the drive westward about 130 miles. The last northward sweep of Major-General Kennosuke Mogi's cavalry, now resting at Chihfeng, was about 100 miles longer, starting at Tungling Manchuria.

CHINESE DEFENSE OF JEHOI SAID TO HAVE COLLAPSED

Japanese Reports Declare
Gov. Tang Is Missing and Troops Defending City
Have Mutinied.

Invaders Advance in Snowstorm—Peiping Will Be Seized Later, Observers
Think.

By the Associated Press.
CHINCHOW, Manchuria, March 3.—Japanese military reports and press dispatches received at headquarters today told of the utter collapse of the Chinese defense of Jehoi province.

Major-General Tadaaki Kawahara, continuing the Japanese advance on Jehoi city after capturing Ping-chang, 60 miles east of the city this morning, said Jehoi city's fall was a matter of hours.

Despite a blizzard, Gen. Kawahara's troops continued their drive. Reports said Chinese troops in Jehoi city had mutinied and the city was in chaos.

Gen. Tsang Yu-lin, Governor of Jehoi, is missing and Chang Tso-tung and Wan Fu-lin, sent to Jehoi by Marshal Chang Hsiao-liang, North China war lord, to command the defense, suddenly departed for Peiping in defiance of orders, these reports said.

Despite the snow, two Japanese airplanes were reported to have scouted Jehoi city and confirmed reports that Chinese troops were pouring through the city, many heading for the passes in the Great Wall to China proper.

The rapid swing of the Japanese over the greater part of the province in little more than a week, hurried along. Because several Chinese leaders transferred their allegiance to the victorious side, they left only a small southwestern slice of Jehoi in Chinese hands.

Peiping Next, Observers Think.
Peiping, now the seat of the North China Government, is thought by foreign observers to be the next objective of the Japanese. They think Japan must inevitably take Peiping, less than 50 miles south of the Jehoi border, because it controls the main highway from the south into the province which is now practically in Japanese hands.

Pingchuan, 50 miles east of Jehoi City, and the last important town aside from the capital which the Chinese held, was captured by the Japanese this forenoon. Another Japanese force which was approaching Jehoi City from the north, was last reported still at Chinfeng, 92 miles to the north.

Gen. Kawahara's Sixteenth Infantry brigade marched into Pingchuan this morning from Yinghsien, 22 miles to the northeast. This was the first important seizure for these troops from the northern regions of Jehoi.

How Campaign Was Handled.
After each important city has fallen in the drive from the eastern border of Jehoi, Gen. Nobuyoshi Mutu, the commander-in-chief, has thrust another brigade to the front to carry on the advance to the next city.

Thus Gen. Kawahara's Northern Japanese marched into Lingyuan yesterday morning after that mountain pass was captured by Major-General Heijiro Hattori's Fourteenth Infantry from Sui-chung.

Gen. Hattori's brigade had swung into the front line after Major-General Yoshimichi Suzuki's Fourth Infantry captured Chaoyang, Jehoi's second largest city, last Saturday. Gen. Suzuki's troops, veterans of the battle of Shanhaiwan early in January, remained in the Chaoyang area and Gen. Hattori's brigade was continuing to hold Lingyuan today.

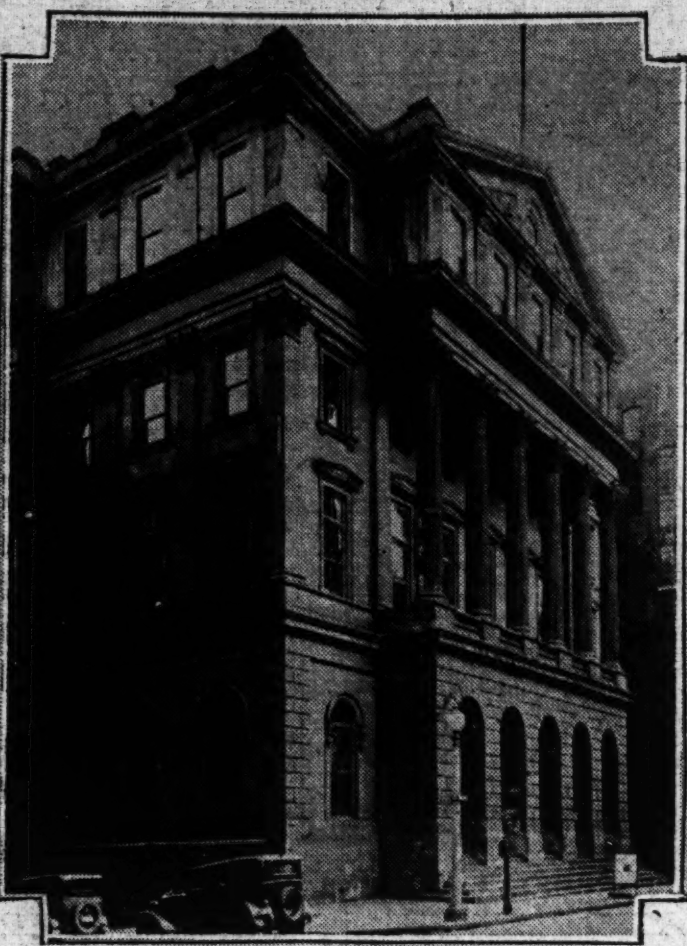

The Suzuki and Kawahara brigades both started from here. Thus the latter have carried the drive westward about 130 miles. The long northward sweep of Major-General Kinnosuke Mogi's cavalry, now retreating at Chinfeng, was about 50 miles longer, starting at Tungling, Manchuria.

GERMAN COMMUNISTS' HEAD IS ARRESTED IN BERLIN
Ernst Thaelmann, Once Candidate for Presidency, in Custody on Eve of Election.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 3.—Ernst Thaelmann, head of the Communist party in Germany and its candidate for president at the last election, was arrested at his apartment here this afternoon.

Reports from Denmark earlier in the day had said that Thaelmann had been found at the town of Sonderborg, where he had fled from Germany with several associates. The German elections will be held Sunday.

Old Custom House to Be Destroyed

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

Old Custom House, Scene of Gold Stronghold in the Civil War and Whisky Ring Trials, to Be Razed

Building at Third and Olive, Built on Site of Original St. Louis Theater, Will Make Way for Street Widening.

By CARLOS F. HURD.
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.
A Third and Olive streets, where St. Louis' finest theater once stood, demolition of the city's first Federal building is now in prospect.

Where, in 1851, wreckers pulled down the much-admired St. Louis Theater, praised in its day as "the finest in the West, if not in the entire country," wreckers will, in the next few years, be pulling down its successor building, which in Civil War days was the Postoffice and Custom House, one of the city's monumental structures.

The old Custom House is to be replaced, not by another building, but by widened Third street, chief item in the city's present downtown improvement program. The widening measure is pending in the Board of Aldermen, and at the city's request, Congress has passed a bill authorizing the sale of the old building and site to the city, which cannot condemn it as it would condemn private property. The bill authorizing the sale has gone to the President for his signature.

A Timely Improvement.
Several years may pass before the old building is wrecked and the street widened from its present 38½ feet to 100 feet, including sidewalks. But the Third street widening is likely to be the next large street improvement, as it is made timely by the widening of Morgan street, new thoroughfare to the West End, and by the prospective opening of Eads Bridge upper deck as a city-controlled public highway.

In 1855, N. M. Ludlow, actor and manager, began agitating his plan for a first-class theater, to take the place of the old Salt House Theater, so named from the former use of the building as a salt warehouse. The Salt House Theater, on Second street north of Olive, was, in Ludlow's words, "dirty, ill contrived and poorly provided with scenery."

Ludlow raised $65,000, obtained the site at the southeast corner of Third and Olive, and the cornerstones of the St. Louis Theater was laid May 24, 1858. The theater was designed by George I. Barnett, architect, and its facade was a copy of the Erechtheum of Athens. It seated 1500 persons. "The Honey-moon," a comedy, was the opening production. Edwin Forrest played "Othello" and Macready appeared as Hamlet, in the theater, which, however, was not a prosperous enterprise. The building was sold under a deed of trust, in 1863, for $20,000.

A Sole Pony Express.
A group of citizens, in the meantime, had their eye on the site, which they desired for the customhouse and postoffice projected by ambitious civic spirits. The postoffice, in those days, was a migratory institution, and in the 40's was housed in a frame building at Second and Chestnut streets.

Something better was desired in the way of a postoffice, as St. Louis' postal facilities were improving rapidly. There were plans for speeding up the mails between St. Louis and Baltimore to a schedule of five days, and the "great Western stages," forerunner of the later overland mail to California, made regular trips from Tomlinson's livery stable. There was no rural delivery system, but farmers living near the present city limits often got their mail from R. D. Watson's "pony express." Watson, who lived seven miles west of the courthouse, about where the main buildings of University City now are, would take his pony to the postoffice, strap the neighborhood's mail to its back, and would turn it loose, to do a solo canter back to the farm, where the mail would be distributed to the neighbors.

Completed in 1859.
William Renshaw and Gen. N. Ranney were leaders in the movement to petition Congress for a customhouse and postoffice building, the first meeting for the purpose being held at the courthouse in November, 1858.

Such movements took time then, as they do now, and it was 1851 before the matter had reached the point of selecting a site. The St. Louis Theater property was purchased in 1852, and the customhouse and postoffice, built from plans of the same architect, Barnett, who built the theater, was completed in 1859.

It cost $322,000, but $70,000 was added to the cost, years afterward, by addition of the fourth story. The building, 109½ feet on Third street by 153 feet on Olive, was built in the Roman Corinthian style of architecture, and was faced with so-called Barre stone, containing a large proportion of silica, which was held to make it "almost time-proof as well as fireproof."

The United States Sub-Treasury was in the new building. In early Civil War days, the Sub-Treasury and the Arsenal, the latter in South St. Louis, were sources of the greatest anxiety to Union supporters here and to the Government at Washington. Isaac H. Sturgeon, assistant treasurer here, appealed to Washington for protection for the more than $1,000,000 in gold and silver stored in the Sub-Treasury, and for a time 40 soldiers were stationed in the building. The danger disappeared after Lyon, Blair and Sigel had made this part of Missouri safe for Unionism, but the emergency was remembered, and this accounts for the fortress-like construction of the present Federal building at Eighth and Olive, which has a deep moat at its front and sides.

The Whisky Ring Cases.
Judge Samuel Treat was presiding over the United States District Court when that tribunal moved into the building in '79, and he continued in office almost until the removal, in the late '80s, to Eighth and Olive, where the Federal Court still has its home.

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS REPORT $140,094 PLEDGED

Three Gifts of $5000 Each, Others of $2500, $1500 and Three of $1000 Are Announced.

Subscriptions in the Community Fund's $600,000 campaign for character-building agencies, as reported today at the solicitors' noon meeting at Hotel Jefferson, amount to $140,094. Yesterday's report was $110,312.

More of the contributions obtained by the special gifts division were announced yesterday by its chairman, Samuel Plant. These included:

$5000—Mrs. Joseph H. Roblee, and two given anonymously.
$2500—Lambert Pharmaceutical Co.
$1500—Daniel N. Kirby.
$1000—St. Louis Union Trust Co., Brown Shoe Co., and Mrs. Irene W. Johnson.
$500—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Orr and Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Watta.
$400—Mr. and Mrs. Lanning F. Smith.

Smith formerly was president of the American Educational Society in St. Louis, but now lives in New York. His contribution was accompanied by a letter in which he said he and Mrs. Smith still look on St. Louis as their home and wanted to do their part.

Dwight F. Davis, former Governor-General of the Philippines, who spoke at yesterday's meeting, compared the work of character building agencies to the counter-offensive in war. It is not enough, he said, to "hold the line," by furnishing relief for the destitute, but the enemy "may get behind the line and sap the morale of our young people."

Character building agencies, he said, deal with youth in a brief period which he spoke of as "the dangerous age." Because attitudes formed then are likely to endure, So, Davis said, the work of character building agencies could not be dropped for two or three years unless a whole generation was to go by without the formative influences that they provide.

Outstanding among the reports submitted were those of C. A. Rosen, a team captain in the downtown district, who has obtained 25 per cent over his quota, and Mrs. George A. Throp of the West End district, who has exceeded hers 19 per cent. The leading team on the South Side, captained by Mrs. D. S. R. Pruitt, had 77 per cent of quota.

INDICATES JAPAN WILL CHANGE POSITION ON LAND ARMAMENTS Spokesman for Foreign Office Estimates Only Observers Will Be at Conference.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, March 3.—While confirming the Japanese decision to continue participation in the work of the disarmament conference at Geneva, a Foreign Office spokesman intimated today that the participation would be confined mainly to observation. He said that both Lieutenant-Colonel Y. Tatekawa and Vice Admiral Osami Nagano, the chief Japanese delegates, were returning to Japan to report, and that only the junior members of the delegation would remain in Geneva.

He also pointed out that Japan was likely to take the first favorable opportunity to notify the Powers that she will be obliged to modify her stand on land armaments owing to the change in the situation in the Far East and her obligations under the Manchukuo protocol.

REPORTS OF GAS SHIPMENTS TO HUNGARY DENIED IN ROME
Semi-Official Italian News Agency Replies to Charges in French Papers.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, March 3.—The semi-official Stefani News Agency has issued a categorical denial of reports said to have been published in France that supplies of asphyxiating gas had been shipped to Hungary from Italy.

The reports are said to have appeared in French newspapers after protests had been made against a shipment of 40,000 rifles to Austria from Italy which, it was suggested, were bound indirectly for Hungary. The French and British Governments recently insisted to Austria that these arms be reshipped to Italy or destroyed.

SHAW IN KOBE WARNS JAPAN IT MAY END UP IN REPUBLIC Writer Speaks of Empire's Imperialism in Interview on World Tour.

By the Associated Press.
KOBE, Japan, March 3.—George Bernard Shaw, British author and playwright, referring to the Japanese campaign in Jehoi Province, told a group of Japanese reporters here yesterday that "the European war was imperialistic, yet it led to the disappearance of three empires."

Shaw, who is on a world tour, continued: "Have you in Japan ever thought in your imperialistic aims you may end as a republic and that is not at all what your rulers want? European imperialists, or what is left, would give their eyes for the return of 1914."

He urged Japan to adopt birth control to solve population problems. "There is no reason," said he, "why Japan should continue to expand and demand the right to overflow other countries which naturally present an influx of a lower civilization."

He said he might land at San Francisco if anybody could think of a sufficient reason why he should. He definitely promised he would make a public speech in New York.

OXFORD UNION STANDS FIRM
ON ITS ANTI-WAR DECISION
Refuses in Wild Session to Wipe Out Pledge Against Fighting in Conflict.

By the Associated Press.
OXFORD, England, March 3.—In a stormy session the Oxford Union last night reaffirmed its position of three weeks ago and rejected, by 750 to 128, a motion to expunge from the records its previous motion: "That this House will in no circumstances fight for its King and country."

Those attempted vainly to maintain order in the packed house as orators argued the motion, which drew fire from the London press and from members of the House of Commons when it was adopted, 275 to 153.

Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, was one of the leaders in the fight to expunge the motion. He was greeted with hissing and shouts, and then the hall was filled with the odor of stench bombs. It was 10 minutes before he could proceed.

MANCHESTER, England, March 3.—The union of Manchester University today approves a resolution "that this house will under no circumstances fight for its King and Country." The vote was 374 to 106.

LEAGUE GROUP FOR EMBARGO
ON ARMS TO PARAGUAY, BOLIVIA
Committee of Thirteen in Making Recommendation Will Ask for Co-operation of U. S.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, March 3.—The League of Nations committee of thirteen agreed yesterday to recommend to the Governments represented by its members application of a concerted effort at the shipment of arms to Paraguay and Bolivia.

They decided also to invoke Article XI of the League of Nations covenant which provides that a dispute at conciliation fail to settle a dispute a report and recommendations shall be submitted for adoption by the League Assembly.

They agreed also that co-operation of the United States is vital to the success of this move for restoring the peace in the Gran Chaco, and they will seek participation in the proposed embargo by the Government at Washington.

Says Curley Will Be Ambassador.
BOSTON, March 3.—The Boston Globe says it has learned that Mayor James M. Curley of Boston has decided to accept the office of Ambassador to Italy, "informally offered him by President-elect Roosevelt." The paper says formal tender of the post will be made shortly after the new administration is in office.

Co-Operation With States.
In her co-operation with State Departments of Labor, Miss Perkins said she hoped to foster a program of shorter working hours, a minimum wage for women and unemployment insurance. MISS PERKINS SAYS A. F. L. WILL HELP DESPITE OBJECTION

New U. S. Secretary of Labor
Declares She Is Glad Federation Expressed Self Openly and Frankly.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 3.—Miss Frances Perkins, in her first pronouncement about her new work as United States Secretary of Labor, said yesterday she expected the co-operation of the American Federation of Labor despite its objection to her appointment by President-elect Roosevelt.

The 50-year-old social worker and Labor Commissioner of New York State said William Green and the A. F. of L. "are entirely within their rights in saying they cannot become reconciled to my appointment. I am very glad they expressed themselves openly and frankly. It makes the whole situation more wholesome and I don't regard it in any way as an expression of ill will against me."

Miss Perkins said that, "inasmuch as Mr. Roosevelt will call a special session soon after his inauguration, there will be many matters for me to talk over with Mr. Green and the representatives of organized labor. And I shall certainly do so. If they cannot find the time to come and see me, I will hasten to see them."

She spent yesterday rushing through the details of leaving her work in New York State. Her desk was piled high with letters and records.

Summary of Her Views.
Making it clear to newspaper men that "I have not had time or opportunity as yet to plan anything in detail," Miss Perkins set forth these views:

1. "I expect naturally to make a pledge to see to it that on unemployment candid and prompt information will always be forthcoming from my department. There will be no coloring of facts and no deductions drawn, and there will be no manipulation of figures."

2. "I intend to spend a great deal of time in the States to be in the industrial centers regularly to observe conditions and to make myself easily and quickly available to wage earners and industrialists alike for conferences."

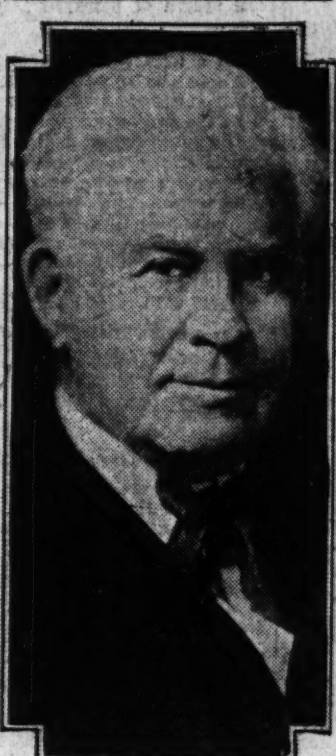

3. Miss Perkins said she would continue "in full" the work of the Children's Bureau, adding that Grace Abbott, its director, was one of her closest friends and a person in whom she had great confidence.

4. "I will go all the way necessary to revamp the present system of Government unemployment agencies," she said, "as this is a necessary work." In states possessing such agencies, she plans to supplement the work if the states so desire; if the states lack this facility, she intends to inaugurate it. "But I want," she added, "always to work in close harmony with the states."

THE NEXT SPEAKER

HENRY T. RAINEY,
CARROLLTON (Ill.) Congressman, chosen in Democratic caucus to be the Speaker of the House at the next session.

RAINEY SELECTED FOR SPEAKERSHIP IN NEXT CONGRESS

Office to Be Divested of Much of Its Power and Control Will Be in Steering Committee.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The next Speaker of the House—Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois—today made plans for divesting that office of much of its power and giving it to the Democratic majority.

A steering committee is to be formed, Rainey announced last night soon after his nomination in the Democratic caucus, which henceforth will shape the policies of the House.

"Our failures in the Seventy-second Congress, what few there have been, have been due entirely to the fact that the direction of policies has come entirely from the Speaker's chair," he said. "From now on it will come from the Democratic party."

Rainey will succeed John N. Garner, the Vice President-elect. He was chosen over Representatives McDuffie of Alabama, Rankin of Mississippi, Jones of Texas, and Bankhead of Alabama. Nomination is tantamount to election, as the Democrats will have an overwhelming majority in the new House.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee was selected as floor leader—the post now held by Rainey. "The steering committee assures solidarity of the party in support of President Roosevelt," Rainey said. "I will support President Roosevelt to the limit. Whatever the Roosevelt program is for the special session, we are going to do and no more. If necessary we will only organize committees to deal with the program."

Plans for Steering Committee.
The Speaker's powers in recent years have given him wide authority in deciding the fate of legislation. There has been agitation for a steering committee made up of members from various sections of the country. The Republicans long have had such a committee.

Rainey took the floor in the caucus and advocated the steering committee, which will be composed of not less than 9 nor more than 18 representatives from different sections of the country. The Speaker, floor leader, caucus chairman, whip and chairman of the Rules Committee will be office members, but none of these may be chairman. Each member of the committee will be responsible for reporting the views of his group to the leaders to determine whether legislation can be enacted.

Vote on Speakership.
Rainey was named for the speakership in a caucus attended by 338 Democrats elected to the next Congress.

Rainey received 168 votes, McDuffie 112, Rankin 20, Jones 2 and Bankhead 1.

For floor leader Byrns got 157 votes and Bankhead 140. Rainey's nomination was brought

I know that my retirement will make no difference to its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always support the oppressed and the weak, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

From Industry's Point of View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE R. F. C. has lent many millions of dollars to the railroads, insurance companies and banks. Besides, the Government has dished out money in large goblets for farm relief.

I have no complaint to make about these loans. They were in all probability very necessary to the well-being of the country. We know what has happened since they have been made, but we certainly do not know what would have happened had they not been made. However, with all of this Government aid, there are still many millions of men out of work. Your editorial calling on industry to resume and to put idle men to work was timely and laudable. However, the truth is, industry has no money or credit to do so, and to do so without orders would be unthinkable. Even with orders, it is hard to obtain funds or the credit to carry on.

The charge that industry has not done its part is not true, considering what industry has done and is doing to save itself. Whatever faults there are with the system of doing things which industry must follow and over which it has very little, if any, control.

Just now there is no doubt that industry could get enough orders to put on a great many more men, but what would happen to them if industry used what little money and credit it has in filling such orders if collections could not be made immediately?

That is one of the great difficulties every manufacturer has to contend with now. Who can pay and when is very hard to say. Besides, a credit rating is of very little value to a business man at present, be he buyer or seller.

O'Fallon, Ill. SWINNEY MORGAN.

Challenges Mr. Neum.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
COME on, Walter, be a real sport. Design the presidency of the board. Show the people the old machine did really slip a cog. Get on an even footing with Eatney and let's have a real honest to goodness race for Mayor. May the best man win. C. C. SCHAEFER.

High Cost of Education.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I THINK you should give us your opinion of the important question of education, the heavy burden it is placing on the shoulders of our already oppressed taxpayers and the corresponding benefit coming to the nation.

In the year 1880, we educated 15,000,000 children at a cost of little more than $5 per capita per annum. In 1914, there were 26,000,000 on the rolls at a cost of little more than $20 per child, while in the golden age of the present depression, we have 30,000,000 attending school at an enormous cost of almost $100 per child. Last year our schools cost us around three billions, and this does not cover the private schools. This enormous sum is three-fourths as much as the total appropriation for the Federal Government, three times as much as the veterans cost the nation and four times as much as the army and navy combined.

We all love education, yet we are inclined to ask ourselves, is it worth this enormous cost, or, rather, do we get results in proportion? Are our citizens 20 times as good as before 1880 or five times as good as before the war? Do they now take a keener interest in politics and in the welfare of the nation than they did in the days of Lincoln? Are graft, crime and corruption less evident now than in the last century?

Do not waste time on Tom Pendergast while issues remain unanswered. The taxpayers of our country would like to know where their money is going and what the country gets in return.

War: The Child of Greed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN answer to the letter of Mrs. Henry F. Lodge, I should like to ask the following questions:

Has China's unpreparedness for war kept her territories from being overrun by the Japanese?

Would Japan have adopted her present tactics had China been prepared to resist?

Did our own unpreparedness prevent us from becoming embroiled in the World War?

Have the League of Nations and the world disarmament conferences aided China in holding that which is rightfully hers?

My answer to these questions is a most emphatic "No." There will always be war until human nature changes and people lose all selfishness and greed. As long as international avarice exists, we will continue to have war, and international greed will exist until the millennium. Therefore, I support Dr. Porter's stand. An opinion was expressed by the greatest of all Americans, George Washington, in the following words: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

WESLEY E. HOENER.

THE BOETTCHER KIDNAPING.

"Crimes like the Boettcher kidnaping in Denver are not committed by hungry men; they are committed by men without character and without principle." Thus said the Rev. Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis in an address for the Community Fund campaign.

Quile so. The Boettcher kidnaping, who got $50,000 after inflicting unspeakable torment upon a Denver family, came from another quarter. They are the evil spawn of betrayed justice. The Baltimore Sun says:

In a number of our larger cities, a class of lawyers has arisen in criminal practice whose members constitute a threat to administration of justice and the welfare of society. In instances, they have been suspected of being the brains of the underworld and have often demonstrated ability to pack juries, intimidate or outwit prosecuting officials and make a mockery of the law. Bar associations seem unable to handle situations of this kind, for often these associations do not embrace more than half the lawyers of the state; they have no jurisdiction over non-members and but limited authority to deal with their own members.

The whole country is beginning to realize this. Not until justice is stern and incorruptible can American society be purified of the kidnaper. Kidnaping is the consequence of social rot. "The rot must be deep in America," said the Manchester Guardian of the brutal Lindbergh kidnaping and its disgraceful corollaries.

The immediate remedy is to reform those who practice in the shadow of justice. All reputable lawyers see this clearly. The great minds in the profession have been saying it with increasing insistence. A dozen states have moved or are moving to reform the bar. The crooked lawyer is the precursor of crime. Except for him, the law would be a terror. He has made of it a jest. Thus the Secret Six in Chicago, the incorporated bar in California, Oklahoma, Alabama, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Mississippi and Utah; the bills to incorporate the bar in Oregon and Missouri.

William Howard Taft said in 1908: "It is not too much to say that the administration of the criminal law in this country is a disgrace to our civilization and that the prevalence of crime and fraud, which here is greatly in excess of that in European countries, is due largely to the failure of the law and its administration to bring criminals to justice."

This was also the judgment of the Wickersham Commission. The causes are manifold, but they are not the same in all communities. The decay of police power, a powerful crime factor in Chicago, for instance, is not a crime factor in St. Louis. The chief cause of crime in St. Louis is the undisciplined bar. It cannot discipline itself now. The 800 lawyers in the St. Louis Bar Association cannot discipline the 700 lawyers outside the association. The 2000 lawyers in the State Bar Association cannot discipline the 3000 lawyers outside the association.

It is this lack of discipline that lies at the bottom of the social rot in St. Louis. Unprofessionalism in the practice of law begets unprofessionalism in the courts. It is only a step from the scoundrel lawyer to the scoundrel judge. It is not the people who want bad judges. They are put on the bench by the machinations of unprofessional and unethical lawyers. Nothing is plainer than that this is the case. Nothing is more certain than that if the bar is not taken in hand there can be no security either to life or to property.

There can be no kidnaping where justice is swift and certain, where the law is stern, where the judge is upright, where the people are vigilant in their own defense. Kidnaping is a consequence, not a cause. Justice can be no purer than those who worship at her shrine. The lawyers who steer privilege, the Insulls and the Mitchells, through the mazes of the law, are but the prelude to the unrighteous judge and lastly to the gunman. The kidnaper who laughs at courts and codes is divested of his bravado only by the specter of the gallows.

Reputable lawyers in St. Louis and Missouri are striving to restore the profession's good name and purge it of the scoundrelism which comes to kidnaping in the end. In the words of T. J. Madden of Kansas City, who spoke Tuesday for the bill which would incorporate the bar, "Public confidence will never rise above the level of our own self-respect. The bar has got to renovate and clean its own house. This bill provides an indoor method of doing it."

THE METAMORPHOSIS OF SAM ARKY.

After a lifelong adherence to the party of Lincoln, Blaine and McKinley, Prof. Sam Arky, notorious professional bondsman and meat peddler, has enlisted under the banner of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson. Sam engaged in no abstract dialectics to explain this change of front. Realist that he is, he has no concern with the clash of creeds or the battle of philosophies. Surveying the current scene, he finds the people prefer Democrats to Republicans, and Sam always favors giving the people what they want. So Sam is running for Alderman on the Democratic ticket, and, upon election, intends to settle those little judgments against him resulting from bond forfeitures. Local Republicans, contemplating Sam's defection, may murmur:

Just for a handful of silver he left us,
Just for a riband to stick in his coat.
But local Democracy, unable to stem the invasion of this alarming convert, is equally inconsolable.

MR. FARLEY'S OPPORTUNITY.

Bringing letter postage down from 3 cents to 2 would increase postal revenues, says Chairman Mead of the House Postoffice Committee, and he has figures to prove it. Since the new rate took effect last July 1, there has been a shrinkage of volume in first-class mail that will amount to five billion pieces for the current fiscal year. At the 2-cent rate, that represents a loss of $100,000,000, which contrasts sharply with the increase of $130,000,000 in revenue predicted when the new rate was enacted.

It is useless for postoffice officials to say that such a loss, or a greater one, would have resulted from dwindling business due to the depression. This undoubtedly was a contributory cause, but too many instances of evasions and economies are on record to make the depression the chief reason. Many firms are using circular mail for advertising where once they used first-class mail. Utilities and banks are delivering bills and statements, respectively, by messenger instead of by mail. The same economy has been produced by the increased parcel post rates. The two large Chicago mail order houses are delivering their spring catalogues, 20,000,000 of them, entirely by messenger, thus avoiding postal charges estimated at $2,200,000.

The letter mail increase, says Mr. Mead, was "one of the greatest blunders in the history of the postal service." The new Postmaster-General, James A. Farley, takes into office a reputation as an astute business man. He can demonstrate it by getting behind Mr. Mead's measure in the next Congress to reduce letter postage rates.

SENATOR WALSH.

The death of Senator Walsh of Montana is, as President-elect Roosevelt has said, a "grievous loss to the whole country."

No man in our official post-war life has served the public interest with sterner resolution, more relentless capacity, more intense devotion than he did. No man has commanded a finer public confidence in the purity of his purpose. "Without fear and without reproach," chivalry's highest decoration, may be awarded him, not in the emotion of eulogy, but in measured truth.

The period of his acknowledged greatness dates back to the revelry that was Washington in the days of Mr. Harding. The psychologists have accounted for that carnival of corruption. A world had weariied of the sacrifices of war, of the shining idealism and messianic visions of Woodrow Wilson. It gorged on the flesh pots. But as Florence had its Savonarola, so Washington had its Walsh. The old monk, routing the wastrels and condemning Lorenzo to an unabsolved death, was hardly a more terrifying figure in that ancient city than was Walsh of Montana to the plunderers of the nation.

The oil scandals and their far ramifications are history now, and the morally demoted captains of industry and the faithless public servants have fared their various, shadowy ways, but if Teapot Dome is a shameful tradition, it is also a permanent symbol of a faithful public servant's tenacity and integrity. The value of Mr. Walsh's service in that chapter of his career has been calculated in material figures of hundreds of millions. The moral worth of it is beyond the scope of any science of accounting. It is a bequest of character to the entire future of our national existence—a heritage of enduring pride, a credo of honesty which, possessed and practiced, means the fulfillment of democracy's destiny, and without which we shall perish.

Within the Senate, in the competent esteem of his official peers, Mr. Walsh's professional attainments were unreservedly acknowledged. He was recognized as an authority on the Constitution, and his opinion was solicited and deferred to, not only as the conclusion of great learning, but also as the conviction of conscience. He was, one might almost say, a court of last resort, from the scrupulous sincerity of whose judgments there could be no appeal.

By all these tokens, then, the announcement that he had been chosen as head of the Department of Justice in the Roosevelt Cabinet was received by the country with rare gratitude and high expectation. Public sentiment felt that a new era was about to dawn, an era in which justice would be done with a vigor and a courage that have been too long wanting. The need for such qualities in such a place of power at such a time was among our paramount requirements. And the man of the hour had been found.

The country is poorer today in spirit and hope as it prepares to pay its final respects to Thomas J. Walsh, Senator from Montana, warrior in the service of democracy.

TWENTY GOOD CAUSES.

Everyone who has the welfare of St. Louis at heart will not only wish for the success of the Community Fund's campaign for its 20 character-building agencies, but will contribute according to his means toward the $600,000 goal. No one needs to testify to the great worth of organizations which are devoted to the development of the finer qualities in the men and women of tomorrow. What they have accomplished in the past and are accomplishing today is all-sufficient indorsement.

An indispensable force for good in the large city in times of prosperity, the need for character-building agencies is far greater when the blight of economic depression causes widespread unemployment among youths as well as among their elders. In a period like the present, there is no protection against wholesale degeneration of youth's ideals better than wholesome recreation. Properly differentiated from the drive for funds for direct relief purposes, the fact remains that the character-building agencies have a highly important part in the relief program.

In a sense, when the character-building agencies stepped aside they agreed to take what was left. It should be enough to enable them to carry on. Contributions to their campaign will go to 20 good causes.

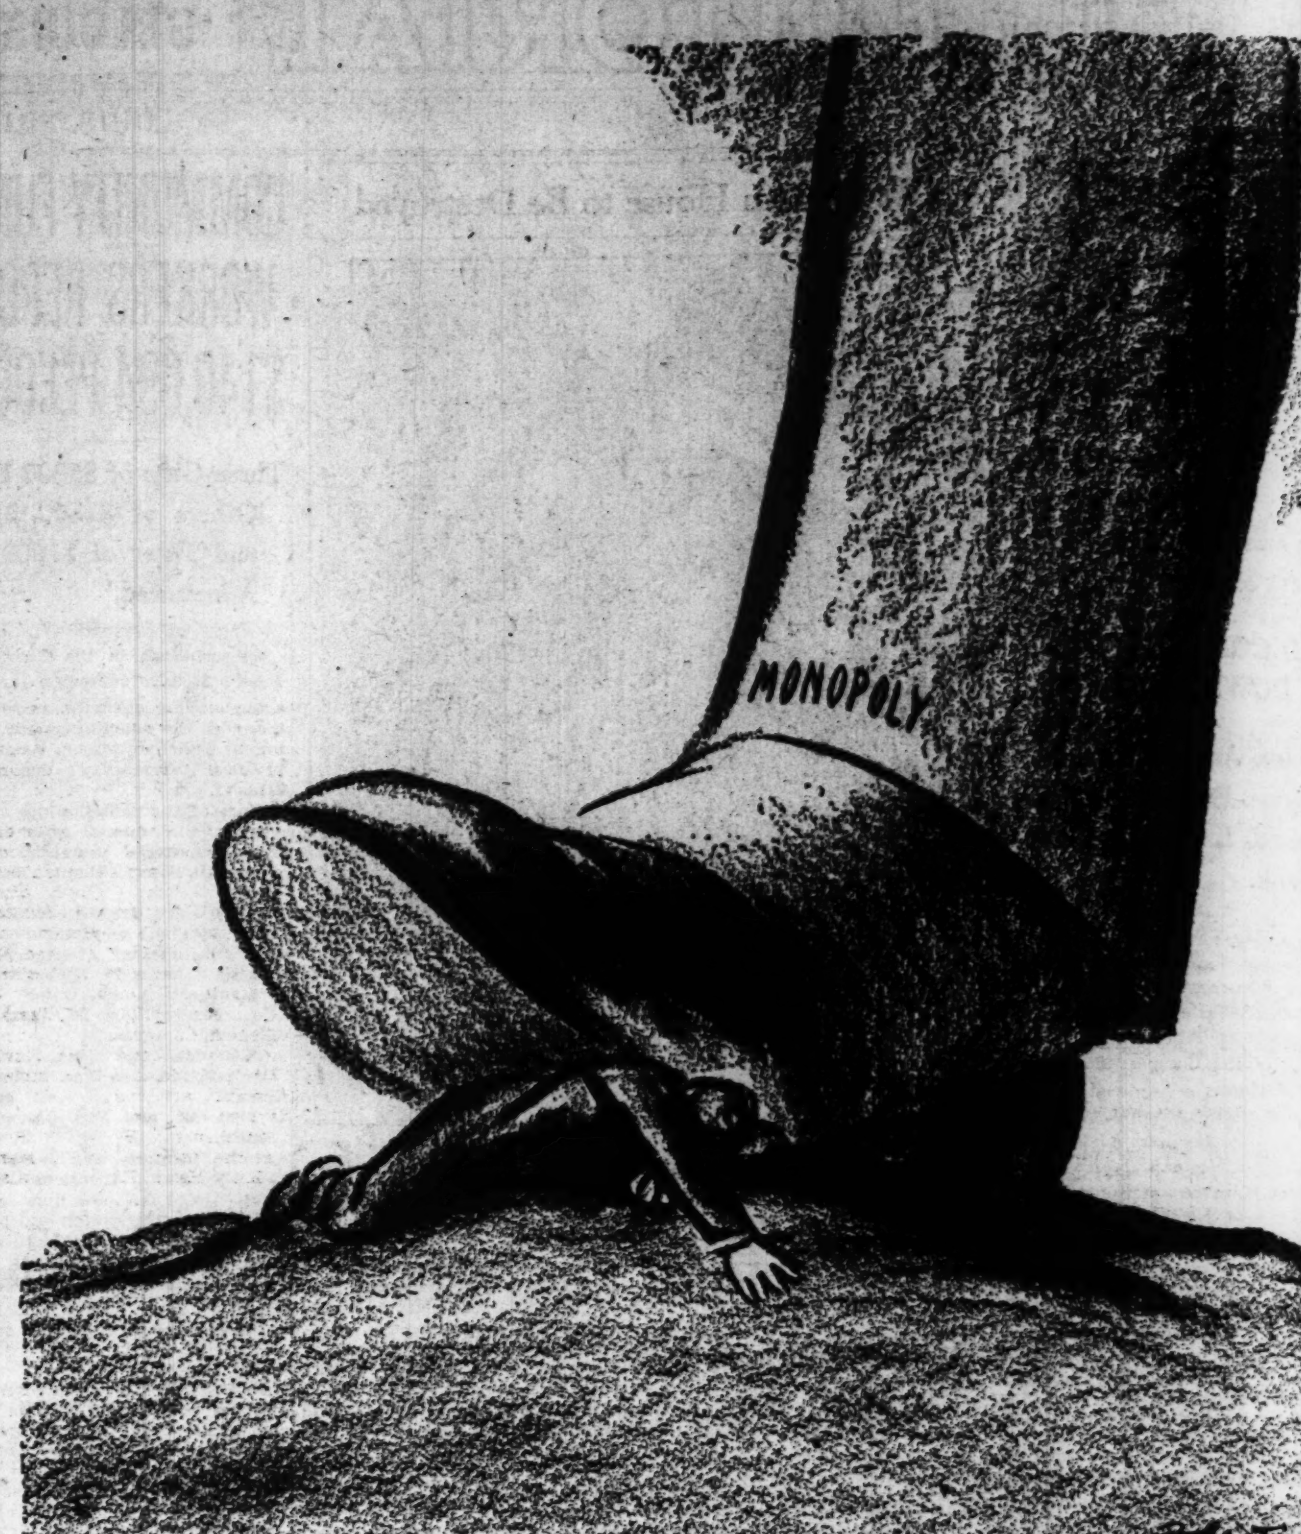

And the job of Mr. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, will be to make one blade of grass grow where a gallon of corn grew before.

IS MR. SHAW TAMED?

On his world cruise, George Bernard Shaw has given plentiful exhibitions of his many-sided self. At Manila, watching live turtles being taken aboard the ship, Vegetarian Shaw spoke up righteously: "I hope the passengers who ate them will get ptomaine poisoning." Approaching Shanghai, Cynic Shaw said: "The ultimate result of the disarmament conference will be that people will be destroyed by 10-inch shells instead of 16-inch ones." At Peking, Egotist Shaw boasted: "Technocracy is nothing new. I said 50 years ago what the Technocrats are saying." At the same time, Old Counselor Shaw advised the Chinese: "Study Communism. It has features which must be adopted by every civilized country which wants to avoid bankruptcy." That remark caused a Chinese commotion and British protests. For the first time in his life, Shaw was impressed by criticism. "People must think I'm just a damned old fool," he apologized. "Perhaps I've talked too much." And then, "I believe my best course henceforth is to shut up."

Whereupon, a new Shaw took possession. Flying next day over the Great Wall of China, ready text for any number of barbed or facetious remarks, he uttered not a word. A few days later, visiting Kandy, Ceylon, he meekly wrote in the hotel's complaint book: "Nothing to complain. An earthly paradise." This apologetic, introspective, optimistic, silent creature is a pathetic writh of the former Shaw. It is not the turbulent fire-eater to whose visit this country had looked forward in pleasant trepidation. Unless he recovers, perhaps it would be better for Mr. Shaw to detour widely around our coasts.

Apocryphal Banker Mitchell's testimony, Senator Wheeler of Montana remarks that a big banker who evades his income tax should be sent to prison, as Al Capone was. But Senator Wheeler is one of those radical fellows to whom all tax dodgers look alike.

WHAT IS HAPPENING TO THE SMALL BUSINESS MAN.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Administration Changes

THE Federal power which the Republican party has held for 12 years will be transferred tomorrow to the Democratic party. The late Frank L. Cobb was fond of saying that the American system was singularly bare of the ceremony which in other countries helps to make the Government impressive, but that there is a moment in our constitutional life when the perfect symbol of popular government is achieved. That is the moment when the outgoing President rides down Pennsylvania avenue, accompanied by his successor to the inauguration at the Capitol. Cobb had steeped himself in the history of politics, and he knew how slowly and with what difficulty it had become possible anywhere for a scene like this one to be regularly enacted.

On a rough estimate, there are perhaps a dozen nations, comprising less than a sixth of the population of the globe, where there exists the assurance that the people can freely and peaceably change the party which rules the state. Everywhere else, a change of party involves the risk of violence. To have come to the point where the decision is accepted without question is, in the perspective of history, a very great political achievement. It is the supreme contribution of the English-speaking peoples to the art of government. They did not achieve it easily or quickly.

It was not, I believe, until the Ministry of Walpole, about 200 years ago, that the Englishmen settled down into the habit of allowing the power of government to be transferred without violence. I may be mistaken, but I think I am right in saying that until the time of Walpole the succession of Ministers was rarely if ever voluntary and peaceable. It required another 70 years or so for Englishmen to learn the lesson of self-government for their colonies. One hundred years passed before the American people had conclusively confirmed their own internal unity and order.

It has been said that when a nation turns from revolution to the party system, from violence to voting and from irreconcilability to tolerance, it is because there are no great issues before the people. There is no commotion, they say, because the choices lie between the party of Tweedledum and the party of Tweedledee. That is a trivial view of a matter which these critics do not really comprehend. For it is absurd to suppose that the issues in the public life of Great Britain, Canada, the Scandinavian countries or the United States are less real or less momentous than they are in Italy or Germany or Brazil. The central problem of bringing the industrial system under social control and of regulating it in a world economy is certainly as pressing in the stable democracies as it is in the unstable ones. It is greater political maturity and not political indifference which brings it about that in countries like Britain and the United States the issues of the day do not involve the stability of the constitutional system.

The reason the parties do not divide sharply or irreconcilably on great issues is that they have learned to anticipate the decision of the majority and to accept it. The conflict has been fought out in primaries and conventions and through informal debate among the people, and the issue is settled in principle before the parties take their stand.

That is why there is so little difference of principle between the national parties. That is why the American Government is not subject to the shock of deeply divided opinions. The division of opinions exists here as elsewhere, but the party system is a buffer against irreconcilability.

Such a system is not workable where conservatives are bitter enemies. For then the progressives are revolutionists. In the advanced democracies, there is sufficient wisdom to prevent an unyielding deadlock. The great tradition of conservatism in the English-speaking world is that of Disraeli and of Theodore Roosevelt. Both carried into effect, usually after they had had to shock their own die-hards, reforms which progressives had initiated and had made acceptable to the nation.

A wise conservatism makes possible a responsible progressivism. The thing which ordinarily determines the character of a progressive regime is the kind of resistance it meets from those who have vested interests in the existing order. When that resistance is unintelligent and unyielding, the progressive leaders, unable to carry through their measures, are assailed by the impatience of their own followers. As their issues with the conservatives become irreconcilable, the violence of the dispute weakens them to such a degree that they lose the power to moderate. They are caught between two fires, and must either break with their followers or must follow their followers.

Where there is political wisdom in a nation, the pendulum of power swings between right center and left center. The moderate nature of its motion is not a sign of indifference to great issues, but a sign that the people as a whole know how to yield to persuasion. It means that, beneath the differences of view, however great, there is a common conviction that argument will not degenerate into resistance and that proposals will not be enforced until there is consent. It is a delicate adjustment which rests at last on the confidence of the people that they are self-governing. It has taken a long time, and men have undergone much suffering, before government of this kind became firmly established anywhere.

The ceremonies tomorrow bear witness to the fact that such a government endures.

STATE LICENSES FOR DRIVERS.

HERE now appears to be a good chance for a drivers' license law to pass the Missouri Legislature. Everybody who wants to see the irresponsible and reckless ruled out of the streets and the highways will applaud.

This State has been slow to adopt such a law. The proposal was defeated in two or three sessions of the Legislature, but the pressure is so great, the measure has so much backing, this time there seems little doubt that some sort of license law will be approved. It matters little whether a fee is provided for in the bill. But if one is provided, it should be nominal, producing merely enough revenue to administer the act.

Slum Clearance in Cleveland

From the New Republic.

THE question before the country is, What can best and most quickly be done to enhance consumer purchasing power? One of the best expedients is also one of the most obvious: a large-scale building program. If so happens, also, that the only type of building the country needs is one which it very badly needs—new housing for the poor. An excellent example of what we mean is the plans now under way in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis. Of these, the plan in Cleveland has gone farthest.

In that city, a number of imaginative architects, working largely through the Chamber of Commerce, and with the approval of the real estate interests, are laid out a program for restoring some seven blighted areas and preventing the advent of blight in other districts. The project will cost millions of dollars, since many blocks of slums will be torn down and replaced by modern, sanitary apartments, in which the former slum dwellers will live, paying less rent, on the average, than they do now. This is made possible by large-scale operation and by the fact that land only a few blocks from the shopping district can be purchased for the relatively low price of $1 a square foot or less.

Fifty per cent of the land will be made into parks, and the new houses will, of course, be infinitely superior to the present rookeries. Through large-scale operation, new apartments of steel or masonry can be erected at astonishingly small prices. It is hoped that a five-room steel apartment can be built, comfortable, beautiful, enduring, equipped with every modern appliance, to rent for the amazingly low figure of $4 or $5 per room per month.

One hardly needs to say that no project of this sort is possible under strictly private enterprise. Private builders cannot work on a large enough scale to bring prices down to the requisite level. Nothing has been done in the way of new building in Cleveland for people of this social stratum during the last 10 years, and practically nothing anywhere else in the United States. Private building interests can therefore hardly complain, in the face of the admitted fact that this work they are unable to do and are doing out under the provisions of a new housing law designed to aid such projects.

The tax-paying citizens of Cleveland have also no right to object, since these blighted areas at present cost them millions of dollars more than is necessary, for public services, and particularly for dealing with crime and the social maladies which are produced by poverty. These sums will at least be somewhat reduced. The juvenile delinquency rate in one of these blighted areas is 10 times as high as in the best part of Cleveland. The murder rate is 208 times as high.

Such housing plans as this, of course, solve no long-time problems. Poverty is not wiped out by giving the poor cross-ventilation, running hot water and parks. Good housing is a palliative, and ought to be recognized as such. It is, however, a palliative which at present can serve not only to rescue the poor from their misery, but to increase employment—for a few years at any rate. If there is any sensible argument against it, we should be glad to know what it is.

THREE'S NEEDED.

Along with the three R's, the country needs in its business the three E's—economy, efficiency and expedition.

LITTLE THEATRE IN AN EARLY SHAW PLAY

Group Also Awards Annual Play-Writing Contest Prize to Marjorie Stoneman Douglas.

Under the direction of Thomas Wood Stevens, "The Devil's Displeasure," George Bernard Shaw's well-known old play, was presented by the Little Theatre group at the Artists' Guild last night. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night for members of the Guild and on Monday evening will begin a week of regular performances for the general public.

The play has been admirably done and a large cast of amateurs appeared to advantage in the story of the early days of the American revolution. The five scenes, designed by Gordon Carter, required in the three acts, were specially attractive.

Among those in the cast were Bruce MacFarlane, Sara Cammack, Stanley Pennell, Haspell Schwartzberg, Elliott Bergfeld, J. William Lucas, Augustus Tumbrink, Charity Grace and Peggy Lou Mayer.

The Little Theatre has announced that first prize in the second annual competition for plays by American dramatists had been awarded to Marjorie Stoneman Douglas, a former St. Louisian who is now a newspaper woman in Miami, Fla. The title of the play was not chosen but it is said to be a tragic story with a woman as the center of a dramatic conflict. The scenes are laid in Florida.

The prize play will be presented by the Little Theatre next month under the direction of Mr. Stevens. Twenty-six plays were submitted by dramatists throughout the country for the contest.

MRS. CORINNE ROBINSON WILL LEAVE ESTATE TO CHILDREN

Requests That They Provide for Certain Philanthropies, Including Orphaned Children.

HERKIMER, N. Y., March 2.—The will of Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, sister of the late President, Theodore Roosevelt, who died last month, was admitted to probate yesterday.

The will disposes of an estate estimated as "more than $10,000." After bequests of various trust funds, the property is left to the three children, Theodore, Douglas Robinson, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Corinne Robinson Alsop, and Monroe Robinson.

"It has been my desire to give various other legacies," Mrs. Robinson said in her will, "but in view of the financial depression, I deem it unwise to do so, and accordingly I am disposing of the residuary to my children."

She expressed the wish that the children distribute part of their inheritance as suggested in a list appended with the will. The recommendations included: New York Orthopedic dispensary and hospital, $7500 in memory of her parents and $500 to St. Paul's School at Concord, N. H.

STUBBEN SOCIETY DEMANDS REDUCTION IN CITY SALARIES

St. Louis Unit Asks Candidates for Mayorality for Expansions on Economy.

Carl Schurz Unit of the Stubbens Society of America has sent a letter to candidates for the mayoralty asking for expansion on municipal economy and for pledges for reduction of city salaries in elective and appointive positions. Salaries of less than $1000 a year should not be reduced, the society says. The society also asks for endorsement of its view that city employees should be required to spend all their time in city service and should not be permitted to work for outside employers; and that vacations should be limited strictly to the legal allowance.

The society has its St. Louis headquarters at German House 2345 Lafayette avenue.

$166,000 ESTATE INVENTORY

Administrator Named for Miss Bertha L. Biedenstien Holdings.

The estate of Miss Bertha L. Biedenstien, a Rutgers street woman who died Jan. 13, is valued at $166,613, according to an inventory filed in Probate Court yesterday. The estate consists of stock amounting to $30,806; cash, $73,541; bonds, $35,935; real estate, $200, and various parcels of realty appraised at $21,000.

Miss Biedenstien left no will, according to a petition for administration, and her heirs-at-law are two brothers, William and Oscar Biedenstien; a niece, Irene Biedenstien; and a nephew, Oliver Biedenstien. The Lafayette-South Side Bank & Trust Co. was appointed administrator.

MRS. GEORGIANNA ALT DIED Wife of Assistant Street Commissioner of Clayton.

Mrs. Georgianna Alt, wife of John Alt, Assistant Commissioner of Streets and Parks of Clayton, died of an abdominal ailment last night at her home, 217 North Benton avenue, Clayton. She was 73 years old.

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Emma Williams, Mrs. Anna Brand, Mrs. Lyle Reiter, Mrs. Katherine Alt, Miss Josephine Alt, and Miss Cora M. Alt, all of Louis County. The funeral will be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Alexander chapel, 6175 Delmar boulevard, with burial in Mount Lebanon Cemetery.

MANY STATE OFFICIALS AT HUTSON FUNERAL Services for Veteran Reporter Held in Catholic Church at Jefferson City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—The funeral of Asa Hutson, legislative and political writer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was held in St. Peter's Catholic Church here yesterday, and was attended by a gathering which filled the building. Gov. Park and heads of State departments, the Justices of the Supreme Court, the membership of the State Senate, and many members of the House, were in attendance. Many floral tributes were sent to the church. Requiem masses were celebrated by Mr. Joseph Selinger, pastor of St. Peter's Church. In a short eulogy, Mr. Selinger told of his long acquaintance with Mr. Hutson, and of the work done by the veteran legislative reporter and political correspondent. "His profession was his life," the priest said. "The world is better because he lived."

The legislative correspondents of St. Louis and Kansas City papers were active pallbearers, and officials and members of the Legislature were honorary pallbearers. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery here.

Tributes to the character and services of Mr. Hutson, for nearly 27 years in the service of the Globe-Democrat, were received by the newspaper from publishers and men in public life in various parts of Missouri.

Messages of esteem and condolence were received from Senator Bennett C. Clark, Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, the Missouri delegation in the House at Washington, members of the State Legislature; George B. Logan, president, and Roy Roberts, managing editor, of the Kansas City Star; Wallace Crossley, president of the Missouri Press Association; Charles M. Hay, Bernard P. Dickmann and many other friends of Mr. Hutson.

FOUR AIR-CONDITIONED CARS ORDERED BY M.-K.-T. LINES

New Equipment for Texas Special to Cost $250,000; Shops to Reopen at Sedalia. Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines has ordered four air-conditioned lounge cars to cost a total of $250,000, it is announced by M. H. Cahill, president and chairman of the board. The cars will be placed in service next summer on the Texas Special. Reopening of Katy shops in Sedalia, Mo., Parsons, Kan., and Waco, Tex., was also announced. The shops, which were not open last year because of decline in traffic, will be opened April 1 for a three-month period. About 400 employees will be put to work at Parsons, 200 at Waco and 90 at Sedalia.

EXALTED RULER OF ELKS

Judge Joseph P. Dickmann of the Court of Criminal Correction was elected Exalted Ruler of St. Louis Lodge No. 9 of the Elks last night at their clubhouse, 3619 Lindell boulevard. JOHN RODGERS DIES, RETIRED REAR ADMIRAL Midshipman in Civil War, Chairman of Board That Adopted Radio for Navy.

By the Associated Press. HAYRE DE GRACE, Md., March 3.—Rear Admiral John Augustus Rodgers (retired), died last night at his home at Sion Hill, near here, after an illness of three months. He was 84 years old. Admiral Rodgers, who had been in good health since his retirement in 1910, was taken ill with a cold while attending the unveiling of the Wright Memorial at Kitty Hawk, N. C., last November.

He was born in July, 1848, in the room in which he died. He came from a line of men distinguished in the Navy and was appointed to the United States Naval Academy in 1863 by President Lincoln.

He saw service as a midshipman during the Civil War and later served at European, Asiatic and home posts. During the Spanish-American War he was advanced to Rear Admiral for eminent conduct in battle.

Admiral Rodgers was chairman of the Naval Board which in 1904 investigated and adopted wireless telegraphy for the Navy. After his retirement he was recalled to service, being Commandant of the naval unit at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, during the World War.

One son, John D. Rodgers, was killed in an airplane accident in Philadelphia after he had tried in 1923 to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu and was admitted several days on his plane.

Another son, Robert P. Rodgers, was the designer of the Memorial at Kitty Hawk. His widow also survives.

250 ADDED TO THE LIST OF OUTSTANDING SCIENTISTS

Three Women Included in Selection; Must Be Engaged in American Science.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 3.—Selection of three women and 247 men to fill the ranks of the 1000 outstanding American scientists in pure research was announced last night by Dr. J. McKean Cattell of New York City.

The women are Ruth Benedict, an anthropologist of Columbia University; Libbie H. Hyman, zoologist, University of Chicago, and Anne Haven Morgan, zoologist, Mt. Holyoke College.

The 250 were selected from the votes cast by distinguished men in 12 branches of science. The newcomers belong to these sciences: coming only from the United States and only from "pure" as distinguished from "applied" sciences.

Dr. Cattell established the honor roll of leading scientists in 1903. Three times since then the ranks have been replenished by additional selections. The last previous list was named in 1927. About 1500 persons have been named in the 30 years, but Dr. Cattell said deaths and inactivity have reduced these so that names rank in the leading 1000 scientists.

These names were chosen from more than 20,000 candidates.

ATTACKS VATICAN ORGAN'S STAND ON GERMAN ELECTION

Fascist Newspaper Says "Unnatural Solidarity" is Shown for Communists.

By the Associated Press. ROME, March 3.—A true maintenance of the Vatican's attitude can press since a reconciliation in November, 1931, was broken today by a violent editorial in the Fascist newspaper "Il Tevere" against the German elections Sunday last.

The Tevere principally reacted to the Osservatore's statement that German elections Sunday last were most of their importance because Walther Funk, chief of the German Government's information bureau, asserted Germany has "changed from a Government to a regime" and would not return to the Democratic parliamentary system.

Il Tevere, in a column and a half front page, bold face editorial, accused the Osservatore of trying to influence the German Catholic vote.

"Osservatore contradicts its doctrine (non-political) by its political comment, openly disseminating equivocation in the conscience of its readers," the paper said. It asserted the Vatican paper showed "unnatural solidarity" for German Communists while denouncing the Soviet regime in Russia.

JOHN S. WILKINS, RETIRED TOBACCO BROKER, DIES AT 83

Funeral services for John S. Wilkins, retired tobacco broker, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from his home, 5717 Cates avenue, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery. Mr. Wilkins, who was 83 years old, died of hardening of the arteries last night. Born at Florissant, Mr. Wilkins, when in his twenties, was employed as a salesman by the St. Louis distillery Co. and made long business trips through Illinois and the Southwest. Later, he was salesman for the Kaplan Tobacco Co. for 18 years. He was a salesman for the Drummond Tobacco Co. for 11 years, and then went into a partnership brokerage business, retiring four years ago.

His widow, two daughters, and a son survive.

MISS FRANCES ALLEN, who has been making her home in Washington for several years, arrived here a few days ago to visit her mother, Mrs. George L. Allen, 25 Westmoreland place. Miss Allen will sail late this month for England, accompanied by a friend from the East, and will remain abroad until June.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Carter, 3 Portland place, returned home yesterday after a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Easton, of Ringwood, Kent, England. They landed in New York Tuesday on the Aquitania.

Mrs. George R. Throp, 6510 E. 12th avenue, with her two younger children, Esther, a student at Mary Institute, and George, Jr., who attends John Burroughs School, will depart the middle of the month to spend their spring vacation in the East. They will not be accompanied by Miss Throp's elder daughter, Miss Alice Throp, in Philadelphia the last of this month. Miss Throp, who is a student this year at the Pennsylvania Academy of Art in Philadelphia, is now visiting friends in New York.

Chancellor Throp will leave Sunday for a two weeks' trip through Texas.

Dr. Stanley King, president of Amherst College, who is in St. Louis for a short stay, was the guest of honor at a stag luncheon given today by Chancellor Throp at his home.

Mrs. Nathaniel Briggs Day, 109 Woodland avenue, Summit, N. J., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Edith Day, to George McQueen Landon, son of Col. and Mrs. Edwin Landon, Berkeley, Cal. Miss Day's father, the late Mr. Day, died some time ago. She is a niece of Mrs. Harold H. Tittmann, 632 Maryland avenue, St. Louis, and is a granddaughter of the late John G. Cope and a great-granddaughter of the late John J. Roe, both of St. Louis.

Miss Day is a graduate of the Mary Wheeler School in Providence, R. I., and Vassar College. Mr. Landon is a graduate of the Harvard School, Phillips Exeter Academy, and the University of California, class of 1928. He is a nephew of Mrs. William K. Wallbridge, Short Hills, N. J.

The wedding will take place March 26, at the home of Mrs. Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Green, 5544 Clemens avenue, returned home Tuesday night after a several weeks' trip through Florida. They went by train to Jacksonville, then by motor to Miami, and from there by motor to the West Coast and into the interior. The trip included a voyage into the Gulf of Mexico and a stay at Miami and Palm Beach. While at Miami they met Mr. and Mrs. Frank U. Hammett, have leased a house there until April 15; Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch, 4384 Westminster place; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Keller of Carroll; and Robert W. Brooks, 6308 Waterman avenue, and his daughter, Miss Florence Brooks.

Mrs. Howard R. Huntington, formerly of Thornbury place, will depart today for her home in Boston after a visit with her son-in-law and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Dobson, 6420 San Bonita avenue. Mrs. Huntington has been the guest of honor at several luncheons and dinner parties during her stay, including a party given by Mrs. Joseph Mullen, 5720 Cates avenue, at the Glen Echo Country Club. Mrs. Huntington lives in the East to be near her daughter, Miss Katherine, who attends Radcliffe College, and her son, Howard, a student at Harvard.

Mrs. Walter Reese of Evanston, Ill., is visiting friends in Webster Grove and University City. Her daughter, Miss Sally Reese, has returned to her home after spending the week-end with Miss Georgia Dextheimer, 7200 Creveling drive, University Hills.

$50,000 FOR METROPOLITAN OPERA FROM JULLIARD FUND

Gift Carries With It Provision That U. S. Singers Must Be Encouraged.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 2.—The Metropolitan Opera announced yesterday the August Julliard Musical Foundation had given $50,000 to the $300,000 guaranty fund for next season.

John Erskine, president of the Julliard School of Music and of the Foundation, said the gift was made on certain conditions, among them that the Metropolitan give further encouragement to United States singers and composers. This, Erskine said, was one of the conditions set forth by the late Mr. Julliard in event the opera found it necessary to use the aid of the Foundation.

Erskine said the decision of the Julliard Foundation to "see the Metropolitan through" meant the Foundation would provide as much money as could not otherwise be raised to make up the necessary guaranty fund. The $140,000 endowment fund left by Augustus Julliard in 1919 for the development of American music has been so carefully preserved, Erskine said, that the principal still is intact and is yielding an annual income of about $600,000.

Glen H. Curtiss Award.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 1.—Authority to award a Distinguished Flying Cross to the late Glenn H. Curtiss, pioneer in aviation, was approved yesterday by President Hoover. The act authorizes the President to make the award to Mrs. Los Curtiss of New York, mother of the aviator.

MRS. GANN TELLS OF BEING MISTAKEN FOR MRS. GARNER

Vice-President Curtis' Sister Makes Incident Occurring During Stop in St. Louis.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 3.—Mrs. Dolly Gann yesterday made a plea to Republicans that they disregard party lines to bring the country back to normal. She spoke to 500 members of the National League of Republican Women.

"The country is in such a condition," she said, "that every man, woman and child must put his shoulder to the wheel. Republicans have proved they can disregard party lines in years gone by. We must do it again."

Previous to this serious plea she told of her campaign experience. She said after her arrival this summer in St. Louis before breakfast, she sat in the railroad station reading when a woman asked her, "Haven't I met you?"

"You have, probably seen my picture," said Mrs. Gann. "I am the sister of the Vice-President."

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Garner," said the woman, "we are going home to work for you."

MRS. MARY HANNIBAL DIES

Remains at 90 in Home in Which She Lived 40 Years.

Mrs. Mary Hannibal, widow of Herman Hannibal, pioneer North St. Louis ice and fuel dealer, died of the infirmities of age yesterday at her home, 2220 North Tenth street. She was 90 years old. Mrs. Hannibal lived at the Tenth street address for about 40 years and in the neighborhood for 75. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Two sons, a daughter, a brother and sister survive.

WARM SPRINGS DELEGATION

IN CAPITAL FOR INAUGURATION
Fellow Overcomers of Infantile Paralysis Arrive With Crutches and Wheel Chairs.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—In two parked sleeping cars where crutches leaned against berths and collapsible wheel chairs were part of the luggage, the most radiant delegation in the capital, Franklin Roosevelt's Warm Springs (Ga.) friends, were up at dawn today to start celebrating his inauguration.

First Roosevelt-for-President boosters, they claimed to be—the 35 who were his fellowovercomers of infantile paralysis and the group of hearty townfolk, among them Judge H. H. Revell and Sheriff J. B. Jarrell.

Pullman Conductor J. D. Weddell proudly, confided that the President-elect himself has put these "home folks" in his "personal charge."

"I like to do for the Roosevelts, they're my friends," he said. "My newspaper was the first in the United States to mention Franklin Roosevelt for President six years ago," boasted Judge Revell.

"I used to live in Texas and I know the raisin of Jack Garner," said the Sheriff, with a wise shake of his head. "Good stock."

TAXES DELINQUENT ON 19,822

LOTS IN ST. CLAIR COUNTY
Subject to Foreclosure; Levies Paid on 604 of 605 in Brooklyn.

Land subject to foreclosure in St. Clair County because of delinquent taxes totals 19,822 town lots out of 27,769, according to figures compiled today by D. A. Frindable, County Clerk.

The list covers property on which 1931 taxes, collectible in 1932, are delinquent. The list a year ago showed about 12,000 foreclosures. Some of the property, however, includes lots which have been delinquent for more than 50 years. The highest percentage of delinquent lots is found in Stites Township, embracing the Negro settlement of Brooklyn where taxes are unpaid on 604 of 625 lots.

In East St. Louis 9665 lots out of 33,880 are delinquent; in Belleville, 2006 out of 18,353.

BANK ROBBER LOSES APPEAL

40-Year Sentence of Bert R. Davis, Kansas City, Upheld.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—Division No. 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction and 40-year sentence of Bert R. Davis of Kansas City, for participation in robbery of the Interstate National Bank of Kansas City of $45,193, in December, 1930. The conviction of Roy Ledbetter of Greene County of robbery of the Bank of Ash Grove, Greene County, of $3758, in June, 1931, was reversed by the court, and the case remanded for a new trial, because of error by the trial court in not giving the jury an instruction on the evidence, which had been requested by the defense. The ruling stands as a 10-year sentence imposed on Ledbetter after his conviction.

PASSING OF OLD CUSTOM HOUSE

and Grant administration, in which politicians, some of them highly connected, were involved in a revenue fraud on the Government, were tried in the Third street building in the mid-'70s. The conspiracy was undertaken for the avowed purpose of raising money for President Grant's campaign fund, first for his second term and later for a projected third term. The money stuck to the conspirators' fingers and the Government's loss in whiskey taxes was estimated at $2,786,000 by Gen. John McDonald. He went to prison for his part in the scandal, as did four others. Grant gave the order, "Let no guilty man escape," but resented the prosecution of his private secretary, Babcock, and removed John B. Henderson as special prosecutor, for remarks which offended him. Babcock was acquitted. Henderson has held that Grant was not aware of the acts of his subordinates.

Among the Postmasters who had charge of the city's mail in the building were John Hogan, Peter L. Foy, Joseph S. Fullerton, Andrew J. Smith, Chauncey I. Pille, Samuel Hayes, Rodney D. Wells and William Hyde. Pille, who was Mayor before being Postmaster, had a long subsequent career as city and State Republican boss, and in the late '90s was still able to dominate city and State conventions of his party. St. Louis did not long remain content, in the period of growth after the Civil War, with its Customhouse. For one thing, it was ugly, and it was costly and unhealthy to burn gas all day, as had to be done in the postoffice portion of the building. For another thing, the public was intrigued with the idea of getting mail direct from the Eighth street tunnel, built as the railroad outlet for Eads Bridge.

These were two of the arguments which led to the selection, in 1872, of the Eighth-Olive site, where construction occupied nearly 15 years, and where, as is recognized, demolition will be no easy job. With the removal of the postoffice, customs office and District Court to Eighth street, the Third street building was relegated to secondary uses. It now houses the United States appraisers, Marine Hospital service, pension examiners, army recruiting office and assay office. These will go, in time, to the new Federal Building on Memorial Plaza.

RAYNES SELECTED FOR SPEAKERSHIP IN NEXT CONGRESS

about when Byrnes and Cresser of Ohio withdrew, and Cullen of New York threw the weight of his big Tammany delegation to the Illinois member.

Liberal Element in Control. A Tennessee Democratic leader, Crump, was given credit for engineering the shift that threw the votes of the other candidates to Raynes. Tammany, which had been waiting to jump on the bandwagon, acted at the last moment.

Raynes also received unexpected support from a group of Texas members, rounded up by Buchanan, who will succeed Byrnes as chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Raynes's victory places the control of the House under the liberal element. McDuffie reported to have been supported by Speaker Garner, was regarded as a conservative. Many of 127 new members-elect, most of whom are labeled as liberals, threw their support to Raynes. The Democrats met behind closed doors at 4 o'clock. Raynes's strength was indicated when Les of California was elected chairman of the caucus, Gregory of Kentucky, secretary, and Jed Johnson of Oklahoma, assistant secretary. Byrnes placed Raynes in nomination and Cresser and Cullen seconded the nomination. Bankhead nominated McDuffie, and Conner of Massachusetts spoke for the Alabamian. Doney of Mississippi nominated Rankin of the same state.

Nelson Beaten for Clerk. The Democrats also selected their slate of House officials. South Trimble, former Representative from Kentucky, was renominated clerk over Representative William L. Nelson of Missouri, who lost out in the reappointment of representation in Missouri. Trimble received 158 votes and Nelson 118.

Joseph Simont of Richmond, Va., was renominated doorkeeper; Kenneth Romney of Montana, sergeant-at-arms, and Finish Scott of Tennessee postmaster.

Byrnes, the new floor leader, said "I expect to do what I can to put through the plans and policies of President Roosevelt in the new Congress."

The caucus did not fill the vacancies on the Ways and Means Committee.

Another Caucus Seen. A committee of five is to be appointed to draft a plan for the Steering Committee, and it will be considered at a caucus before the special session of the new Congress. At that time the vacancies on the Ways and Means Committee will be filled.

Byrnes declined to state whom he would appoint as whip. It is understood, however, that he will name Greenwood of Indiana to that position, and Cullen of New York as assistant leader.

The elevation of Raynes to Speaker creates the eighth vacancy on the Ways and Means Committee and will result in Representative Doughton of California being coming chairman of that group. Byrnes will resign from the Appropriations Committee to accept the leadership, and Buchanan of Texas will become chairman.

Raynes's Record in House. Although nearly 75 years old Raynes has shown surprising vigor during his floor leadership and has attacked his colleagues for their stand on various issues. Last year he took the floor and assailed them for failure to support the unsuccessful sales tax plan. At that time, he said:

"This House, I realize, is a runaway house. You are adopting measures here without proper consideration. You are opposed to communism, every one of you, and so am I. But let me tell you, gentlemen, during this Congress—and you have put the capcase on all of it at the present time—we have made a longer step in the direction of communism than any other country in this world ever made except Russia."

Frequently during his career he has clashed with the conservative element of his party. For years he has advocated the recognition of Russia, several years ago and on his return said that the United States could obtain much trade if the Soviet Government were recognized.

Some of Raynes's ideas coincide with those of President-elect Roosevelt.

Student of Taxation. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, Raynes became a student of tariffs and taxation. He assisted in the formation of the Underwood tariff act in the early part of the Wilson administration and was one of the prime movers in the establishment of the income tax system by the Federal Government.

Several years ago Raynes was looked upon by his conservative colleagues as a radical. He proposed much legislation designed to relieve farmers and to benefit the common people as contrasted with legislation designed to help industry.

Born at Carrollton, Ill., on Aug. 20, 1860, Raynes first came to Congress in 1903 from the Twentieth District of Illinois. He served continuously until 1920, when he was defeated in the Harding landslide.

POST-DISPATCH READER-SERVICE INSURANCE AGAIN PROVES ITS WORTH

W. E. MCGANN, HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT WEEK AGO, DIES

Employee of Post-Dispatch Succumbs to Pneumonia Which Followed Injuries.

William E. McGann, dispatcher for the Post-Dispatch, died at St. Mary's Hospital today of pneumonia, which followed injuries suffered in an automobile accident a week ago. He was 51 years old.

He was driving west in Lindell boulevard last Monday night when at Spring avenue he was forced to swerve sharply to avoid a collision with another machine, and his car hit the base of a light standard in the street.

Taken to City Hospital, Mr. McGann submitted to emergency treatment, then went home in a taxicab, stopping on the way to examine his wrecked machine. Before retiring he took his dog for a walk. Next day X-ray examination revealed a fractured jaw. He also suffered contusions of the chest. On Thursday pneumonia developed.

Mr. McGann had been an employee of the Post-Dispatch 23 years. He lived at 1201 Childress avenue with his wife, Mrs. Nellie McGann.

From the Post-Dispatch, December 19, 1932.

Application Form for Superior Travel-Accident Policy

I hereby apply for a Superior Travel-Accident Insurance Policy, specially patterned for the Post-Dispatch by the Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, and agree to subscribe to (or renew my subscription to) the St. Louis Post-Dispatch (daily issues only).

I agree to pay the carrier or dealer who delivers my paper the premium of five cents a week in addition to the regular subscription price of 10 cents a month; both premium and subscription price to be collected monthly in accordance with the regular collection practice of carrier or dealer.

I understand that the policy to be issued to me will be subject to cancellation if payment for subscription price or monthly premium is not made; or if I move without notifying the Post-Dispatch. I further understand that all applications are subject to acceptance or rejection at the option of the Post-Dispatch.

LOUDERBACK'S TRIAL SET FOR NEXT SESSION

Impeached U. S. Judge to Stand Before Senate First Day of New Congress.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Senate today fixed 2 p. m. on the first day of the first session of the next Congress for its trial of impeachment charges brought by the House against United States District Judge Harold Louderback of California.

Chairman Norris of the Judiciary Committee moved postponement of the trial until the next Congress because of the nearness of adjournment of the present session.

His motion was agreed to after Senator Long (Dem.), Louisiana, had protested that the case would come up on the first day of the special session to be called by President-elect Roosevelt for consideration of emergency relief legislation and the Congress should not "fiddle away its time on a little impeachment fiasco while the people are crying for bread."

With solemn formality, the five members of the House presented to the Senate articles of impeachment against Louderback.

The five men from the House were escorted to the front of the Senate Chamber and seated in chairs placed for them at the left of Vice-President Curtis. They were Summers (Dem.), Texas; Browning (Dem.), Tennessee; Taver (Dem.), Georgia; La Guardia (Rep.), Kansas. Accompanying them was Kenneth Romney, House sergeant-at-arms.

GRAIN ELEVATOR MANAGER HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

New Berlin (Ill.) Man Charged With Misappropriation of $7066.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 3.—John L. Brehm, manager of the New Berlin elevator, has been arrested by deputy sheriffs on a charge of embezzling $7066 from the Farmers' Grain Co., owner of the elevator. The charge was brought through the president, W. H. Dunlap, also of New Berlin.

A warrant for Brehm's arrest was obtained after an auditor completed a check of the company's books.

STUDENTS STRIKE IN POLAND

Object to Control of Universities by Government.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, March 3.—A country-wide strike against a new Polish school law providing for a strict centralized control of the higher institutions of learning by the Ministry of Education, has been organized by National Democratic students. Universities and technical high schools in Warsaw, Cracow, Lwow, Poznan and Vilna have been closed. A majority of the professors are in sympathy with the strikers. Clashes with other students here and in Cracow and Lwow resulted in a number of injuries.

The Government expects by enforcing a stronger ministerial control of the schools to inculcate in the student body a greater understanding of the Government. Hereafter the anti-Government National Democratic group had exerted a strong influence politically on the student bodies.

ELECTORAL COLLEGE CHANGE

Lea Bill Giving Minorities Vote Is Reported Out.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Lea resolution under which the present system of electing a President would be changed so minorities in states would be represented in the electoral college was approved yesterday by the House Committee on the Election of President, Vice-President and members of Congress.

Under the plan sponsored by Representative Lea (Dem.), California, the electoral votes for each state would be cast in proportion to the popular vote for electoral college candidates. This would let the electoral vote of a state be split instead of being cast as a unit as at present.

PEPE CONVICTION AFFIRMED

Kidnaper Got Two Years for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction of John Pepe of St. Louis on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

He received a two-year term on the charge, and previously was sentenced to five years for kidnaping Jacob Hoffman, St. Louis bookmaker. He has been in the penitentiary here since last May.

The court also affirmed the sentence of Joseph Simon, St. Louis, of 1 year in the City Workhouse for carrying concealed weapons.

Veterans' Grace Period Extended.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—A statement from the American Legion said today a 15-day moratorium on the payment of Government insurance premiums had been granted by the veterans' administration to veterans in states where banking holidays have been declared or withdrawals sharply limited. Hundreds of checks have been received at the veterans' administration which are uncollectible because of banking holidays. The moratorium extends the grace period by 15 days to allow the veterans additional time in which to make good their checks.

BANK AT MADISON, ILL., PUTS ON RESTRICTIONS

First National Limits Withdrawals to 5 Per Cent of Deposits.

The First National Bank of Madison, only depository in that city, has announced a limitation of 5 per cent on all deposits in its bank at the close of business Wednesday. The restriction does not apply to deposits made yesterday or later.

The announcement came after the three East St. Louis banks announced a 5 per cent limitation, with certain exceptions, on deposits in the banks at the close of business Tuesday. A. W. Baltz, president of the Madison depository, is vice-president of the First National Bank of East St. Louis.

Directors of the Madison bank said the restrictions were imposed because of general unrest over the banking situation and to protect interests of depositors. The bank has total resources of about $1,000,000.

East St. Louis Teachers' Pay to Be Held Up.
Tax anticipation warrants for February salaries of East St. Louis school teachers, voted last night in the amount of $27,277 by the School Board, will not be cashed by East St. Louis banks, which placed a 5 per cent limit on withdrawals this week.

Arnold C. Johnson, president of the First National Bank of East St. Louis, explained it would not be fair policy to cash the warrants with withdrawals restricted. January anticipation warrants were cashed by the banks.

George Gerold, treasurer of the school district, said that teachers who hold the warrants until the latter part of April, when additional funds will be available, will receive the 6 per cent interest customarily paid to the banks. The anticipated debt is 10 per cent of the total annual expense of the district, Gerold said.

The East St. Louis Light & Power Co. and the Illinois Power & Light Co. East Side electric and gas utilities, announced yesterday they would extend 60 days credit to customers in good standing, who are depositors in the three East St. Louis banks which this week placed a 5 per cent limitation on deposits. February payrolls in most of the larger East St. Louis industrial plants were cleared before the banks acted.

MURDER SUSPECT EN ROUTE HERE FOR AUTO THEFT TRIAL

Thomas Kehoe Held Since Last October in Disappearance of Dyer Informant in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—Thomas Kehoe, who has been held in Federal jail here since last October in connection with the disappearance in 1930 of Louis Cheramie, a Government prohibition informer, left today under guard for St. Louis to face charges of violating the Dyer automobile theft act.

When Kehoe was arrested here, he told a story of how Cheramie was slain and his body tossed in the Mississippi River. He implicated Stanley "Swede" Anderson, gangster, in the purported slaying. Anderson escaped from officers by jumping through a train window near Kenner, La., Jan. 24, while being brought here from St. Louis in connection with the case, but was slain by a deputy sheriff at Baton Rouge the next day, when he refused to submit to arrest.

Authorities said an investigation of the Cheramie case would continue, but that Kehoe would be tried later if evidence warranted a trial.

BILL FOR REPEAL CONVENTION

PASSED BY INDIANA SENATE
Now Goes Back to House for Concurrence; Wisconsin to Vote on Issue April 4.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 3.—The Indiana Senate yesterday passed a House bill providing for a State convention to vote on repeal of the Federal prohibition amendment. The measure must be returned to the House for concurrence in minor amendments. The Senate vote was 55 to 7.

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—The Wisconsin Legislature yesterday set up machinery for a State-wide vote April 4 on ratification of prohibition repeal. The action, legislators said, probably will make Wisconsin the first State in the union to vote on the ratification. While actual ratification can not be voted officially until a Constitutional convention on April 23, election of convention delegates on April 4 will plainly show Wisconsin's wish.

The spring primary election for judicial and municipal candidates will be held April 4 and voters then will receive a separate repeal ballot containing 30 names, 15 for repeal and 15 against. The 15 receiving the highest vote will go to the constitutional convention on April 23. Anyone aspiring to be a delegate to the convention must circulate nomination petitions and obtain at least 1000 signatures.

University City Man Gets Warrant for Manuel Tannebaum, Who,
He Alleges, Swindled Him.

A warrant charging Manuel Tannebaum, 7015A Tulane avenue, University City, with obtaining money, by false pretenses was issued by Justice of the Peace Lewis of Clayton yesterday on complaint of Russell Vanover, 6711 Crest avenue, University City.

Vanover said he recently gave $15 to Tannebaum, who promised to obtain work for him at St. Louis County Hospital. Tannebaum represented that he worked at the hospital, Vanover said, and was related to a Judge of the County Court. When he inquired at the hospital yesterday he said he learned there was no job for him.

EIGHT ARRESTED FOR SEINING

Men Caught in Act by Four Wardens Near Richmond, Mo.

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Mo., March 3.—Eight men, arrested by Game Wardens this week, are in jail here charged with seining in Sunshine Lake near here.

An 800-foot seine was taken with the arrest of Buster Hankin, Randolph McGinnis, Lockard Smith and William Cooper of this community. Jack Long, Robert Stratling and Jack Long, all of Kansas City, Kan., were using a 300-foot net in the lake when arrested by Wardens. Barney Day, whom Wardens said was a guard for the seiners, was arrested for hunting without a license. Day was carrying a loaded shotgun, the Wardens said. J. E. Ott of Chillicothe, Field Warden in charge of the four Wardens making the arrests, said he and his assistants spent four nights without sleep in order to make the arrests.

FRISCO READJUSTMENT PLAN TO FIT NEW BANKRUPTCY BILL

If President Signs Measure Directors
Are Expected to Avail
Selves of Its Provisions.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 3.—The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway management is preparing to shape its plan of readjustment to the new bankruptcy bill, if the President signs it, it is learned today.

Directors of the road are scheduled to meet Monday to take such steps as will enable the road to avail itself of the new legislation. Under the terms of the bankruptcy bill a reorganization plan comes binding on all creditors of a railroad if two-thirds of them agree to it. If only one security is affected the same proportion applies.

NICKEL CIGAR OUTPUT SETS MARK AT TAMPA

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—A new record for making nickel cigars was established by the 200 odd factories in Tampa during the past year.

A total of 18,957,284 of these 5-cent sellers was turned out during the month of October, an all-time record for a single month. Approximately 350,000,000 cigars or an average of 1,100,000 for every working day, were turned out by Tampa factories in 1932, from which the United States Government derived $1,500,000 in revenue.

SHOOTS TWO MEN, KILLS SELF

St. Joseph (Mich.) Laborer Apparently Becomes Deranged.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 3.—Apparently becoming suddenly insane, Peter Domerowski, laborer, yesterday shot and wounded two men, one seriously, first at Chief of Police Ben Phair as he rushed to the scene, then turned his pistol on himself, ending his life.

Frank A. Kieble, business man, was wounded gravely, and Emil Weber, a neighbor, was shot in the hip. Domerowski fired at Chief Phair as he entered the yard of his home, then killed himself as the official dashed after him. Kieble, with his wife, has called at the Domerowski home to deliver a package of clothing to be laundered.

30,000 Polish Miners Strike.
WARSAW, Poland, March 3.—Eighty thousand coal miners in the Silesia, Dabrowa and Cracow coal basins started a two-day strike in protest against a 15 per cent wage cut today. The Government, which considers the cut unjustified, expects to bring about conferences Sunday between the mine operators and the miners under Government mediation.

73 AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES

IN MISSOURI IN JANUARY 467 Accidents Reported for the Month, With Casualties Totaling 615.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—Automobile accidents in Missouri during January totaled 467 from which there were 615 casualties, the State Highway Department reported yesterday. Deaths from automobile accidents during January numbered 34 killed instantly and 39 dying from injuries.

Included in the list of accidents were 79 in St. Louis, 52 in Kansas City, 47 in St. Joseph and 16 in Jefferson City.

These figures, the Highway Department says, are incomplete as they represent only the major accidents reported to the police and safety councils.

PART THREE.

JURGES STRICTER REGULATION OF PIPE LINE FIRMS

Investigator for House Interstate Commerce Committee Makes Recommendations.

FOR U. S. CONTROL OF HOLDING COMPANIES

Also Suggests That States Consider Co-Operative Drilling of Wells—Favors Policing by States.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Recommendations for closer supervision of pipe line companies and for Federal intervention to preserve oil resources, if the states fail in conservation efforts, were laid yesterday before the House Interstate Commerce Committee by a special investigator.

The recommendations were embodied in a voluminous report prepared by the investigator, Dr. Walter M. W. Splawn, former president of the University of Texas and formerly a member of the Railway Mediation Board and the Texas Railroad Commission. They were based on data obtained in a survey that lasted more than a year.

The suggestions were:

That regulation of pipe line companies, to be effective, would have to extend to holding and parent companies.

That any regulation enacted by Congress consider the necessary and close relationship between pipe lines and producers.

That states consider co-operative drilling of new wells.

For Policing by States.

That transportation of gas in interstate commerce by pipe line be regulated, and that:

"It seems that Congress might, for the present, rely upon the states to police oil fields and regulate the production of oil since states, for example Texas and Oklahoma, are making rather strict conservation laws. Where found necessary states by forming compacts could co-operate in conservation measures."

"The authority for compacts between states is provided for in the Constitution. States should make free use of the technical experience and the information of such Federal agencies as the petroleum division of the Bureau of Mines. If the states fail in their efforts at conservation, amendments to the Constitution may then become necessary to enable the Federal Government to supersede the states."

Action by L. G. C. Suggested.

There was a suggestion, too, that the Interstate Commerce Commission consider rate regulation together with the idea of requiring storage "at a reasonable rate with a view to determining what, if any, relief is possible to the small operator who does not own transportation facilities."

The report added:

"Speaking generally, the earnings of pipe-line companies are high at the rates charged. It is urged that this fact provide an opportunity for the integrated groups which own the pipe lines to recoup from such earnings the losses they may sustain in other branches of the industry."

Dollar-a-Year Men Again.

By Associated Press.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 3.—Forty citizens have agreed to serve as members of the City Council at $1 a year, and others may later be added.

The citizens made their offer in a statement asking that taxes be reduced.

O.K. St. Louis!
The IMPROVED WEIL STORE is READY FOR YOU!

PROGRESS—

... expresses in one word both the spirit and the method of America.

This is as true today as at any time in the century and a half growth of our giant young nation.

No temporary pause or set-back will alter its forward course.

Here at the Weil Clothing Company we have taken practical steps to translate this faith into fact.

We have prepared a better store for the better days ahead.

You are invited to come and see what has been accomplished with the idea in view of widening the scope of our activities to more efficiently serve every man, young man and boy in Greater St. Louis.

Ralph Weil
President.

A progressive step to better serve all St. Louis... a more modern, more efficient store... widening the scope of our service to include EVERY type of man and boy in St. Louis... a store in tune with the times... supplying America's 1933 demand—"BETTER Clothes for LESS Money"... putting good appearance without extravagance within the reach of all!

WITH Style AS THE KEYNOTE

104 ST. LOUIS PROS IN RANKS OF BASEBALL'S UNEMPLOYED

ONLY 88 PLAYERS ARE SIGNED TO CONTRACTS; TWO MANAGERS AND 14 MOUND CITY STARS IN MAJORS

For the first time in 20 years, St. Louis' quota in organized baseball has dropped below the 100 mark. When the depression forced many of the smaller minor leagues to close before the end of 1932, many St. Louisans found themselves without a job. However, it was believed that "better times were just around the corner" and many returned home to await the 1933 season, confident that the circuits would reopen again this spring.

On March 23 of last year, 153 St. Louis boys had signed professional baseball contracts as players, managers, coaches and umpires, which was an increase over the two previous seasons. Only 73 boys had failed to find places.

This year, only 88 St. Louisians have jobs and the "out-of-work" list has reached a grand total of 104. St. Louis and its suburbs have always sent out more athletes than any other city in the country, and despite the big drop in the number this year, 1933 will be no exception.

Two St. Louisians Managers. In the majors are two St. Louis managers, Charley Grimm, of the National League champion Cubs, and Max Carey, former Concordia Seminary star, with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Five local boys are serving in the big leagues as coaches. They are Jimmy Burke and Arthur Fletcher of the Yankees; Jewel Ems, Cincinnati; Johnny Schulte, Cubs, and Otto Miller, at Brooklyn.

Fourteen St. Louis boys are in the minors, 10 in the National and four in the American League. The Cardinals have three native sons and the Browns one. St. Louis has six scouts.

Others from this city taking an active part in organized baseball are two minor league club owners, one minor league president, one minor league business manager, one minor league publicity director, one minor league ground keeper, two

Babe Ruth Enters Golf Hall of Fame With a Hole in One

By the Associated Press. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.

BABE RUTH walked up to the third hole on the Pasadena golf course yesterday, aimed at the green 135 yards away with a No. 2 iron and promptly entered the dream organization of all golfers, the Hole-in-One Club.

The Babe was playing with Frank A. Willard, artist of Tampa and Chicago, against Lloyd Guillickson, pro at Pasadena, and Billy de Beck, the cartoonist.

From the tee it appeared that Ruth's ball had rolled beyond the cup. The Babe started a trot to the green. When he found the ball in the cup he began a war dance.

Minor league umpires, and four minor league managers, two of them class A pilots—Walter Holke, manager of Fort Worth, and Bob Coleman, manager of Beaumont of the Texas League, while Freddy Hofmann, manager of the Pacific Coast League in class AA.

St. Louisans Who Are in the Fold

Hawaii's Gift to the U. S. Team

Miss Olga Clarke, 16, a native of Honolulu, has recently joined the Los Angeles Athletic Club's swimming team. She has been walking the leading girl swimmer for two years and will compete in the 100-yard free style swim.

Bottomley Signs With Reds; Grimes Is Down With the Flu

Hurst, Phillies' First Sacker, Announces That He Is a Holdout, After Three of Club's Pitchers Sign—Lindstrom Used in Center Field.

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—After a four-hour conference with Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, "Sunny Jim" Bottomley announced last night he had signed his contract. Joe Morrissey, infielder, signed earlier in the day, so Pitcher Larry Benton was left as the only holdout.

Bottomley, obtained from the Cardinals, is believed to have agreed to a salary of $10,000. He first was offered $8,000 by Weil, but the Reds' chief later increased the sum to $10,000.

Two hours after the advance sound reached him, Walter Holke, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, had him on the field in the first spring practice. The drill, little more than a limbering up exercise, found 16 players on hand. The others are to report next week.

ALABAMA, Cal., March 3.—Burling Grimes' plan for a big comeback with the Chicago Cubs this year already has received a setback. The veteran spitball pitcher was in the hospital today with an attack of influenza.

Grimes, hero of the 1931 world series while with the Cardinals, had all manner of bad luck last year, what with influenza and a D and C teeth. He had an appendicitis operation during the winter and was all set to beat down, only to have illness delay him again.

Don Hurst Is a Holdout. WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 3.—Declaring he felt he was "entitled to more than his new contract calls for," Don Hurst, big first baseman of the Phillies, announced himself a holdout.

The three pitchers unsigned on their arrival yesterday all put their names to contracts before the batterymen's first workout. They were Bert Rhum, Ed Holley and John Reilly.

President Gerald Nugent said Hurst was not due in camp until March 10 with the other infielders, and until then could not be considered a holdout.

Lindstrom Used in Center. PABO ROBERTS, Cal., March 3.—Fredie Lindstrom was given a chance at center field and Lloyd Waner was switched to right at the Pirates' camp today. Morning and afternoon drills were scheduled.

Fraser Regains Health. PASADENA, Cal., March 3.—About the most pleasing item in the Chicago White Sox training development to date is the apparent return to health and form of Vic Fraser, young right-handed pitcher.

FLYERS OPPOSE WICHITA SIX IN GAME, TONIGHT

PROBABLE LINEUP

WICHITA. Good. ST. LOUIS. Bad. The Flyers, under Albert Hughes, have won four of their last five games, while Wichita has been going well of late, winning one and tying one of its last two games away from home.

Wichita has added a new goalie, George Venna, formerly of the Detroit club of the International League, and he may play tonight although Sig Wick, the youngster who appeared here with Wichita in its last two appearances at the Arena, was in goal at Kansas City Wednesday night when the Bluejays tied the Pla-Mors, 2-2.

The St. Louis club has already won the season with one victory and two points than any other team to represent this city in the five years hockey has been played here and is assured of a place in the playoffs for the league championships, the plans for which are expected to be announced soon.

For tonight's game the Hockey club has provided 400 seats at 25 cents each, with prices for others ranging from 10 to 50 cents. Game time is 8:30 o'clock.

HILLTOP SWIMMERS OPPOSE WESTMINSTER IN MEET, TONIGHT

Having split their record so far this season with one victory and one defeat, the Washington University varsity swimmers will face Westminster's tank team in one of their few important dual meets of the season tonight at Wilson pool on the campus. Starting time is set for 8 o'clock.

With very little veteran material from which to draw, Coach Karl Bauer of the Bears has built a fairly strong squad this year. The Bruins will be favored to win the dual.

Four veterans, Capt. Harry Thuner, breast-stroke swimmer, Jack Schroeder and Joe Ledbetter, free style artists, and Bill Pratt, diver, are on the Bears' squad, most of the other members being sophomores.

The Bear team gained its single victory over Washburn College of Topeka, Kan., last week. Although the victory was a narrow one, the Bears' record, the medal relay team winning the 300-yard event in 3:28.6 and a half seconds over the feature game, 46 to 40. In the other events, the Bears were defeated.

Washington's single defeat was administered by University of Illinois, whom they met early in the season in Champaign.

SEMI-FINAL GAMES IN GRANITE CITY BASKET TOURNAMENT, TONIGHT

Three contests were played in the Granite City Y. M. C. A. independent basketball tournament last night at the Granite City Y. M. C. A. The winners will pair off in the semifinal round of play tonight.

The Carlinville All-Stars defeated the Sherwin-Williams quintet in the first game, 46 to 40. In the other events, the Bears were defeated.

Quinn Is Well Advanced. CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 3.—Jack Quinn went to his first big ball training camp 24 years ago but the old boy still is a handy fellow to have around. Pitching against the Brooklyn Dodgers batters yesterday, Quinn, who has been limbering up at Hot Springs, appeared in fine condition, much further advanced than other members of the Dodger hurling staff.

Terry Uses Bookie at Third. LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Smoky Joe Martin appeared in the New York Giants' training camp roster as an outfielder but already Manager Bill Terry has decided he'd look better at third base. The Winston-Salem rookie was given a thorough workout at third base yesterday and did a pretty good job. He kicked around a few grounders but made a number of spectacular plays and uncovered a strong throwing arm to boot. He batted .302 with Winston-Salem last year.

Dick Porter Signs Contract. NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh had nothing but good news about his Cleveland Indians. He received word that Outfielder Dick Porter had signed his contract, leaving only Pitchers Ferrell and Hudlin and Infielder Harley Boss unsigned. In addition, all of the 10 men now in camp were in excellent condition aside from Pitcher Bert Brown, who was a trifling overcast.

Coleman in Good Condition. FORT MYERS, Fla., March 3.—Ed Coleman, Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, proved to the satisfaction of Manager Connie Mack that his ankle, broken last season, is in first-class condition. Turning out for the second day's workout of the spring training season, the big outfielder raced out a hit in fast time in his turn at batting practice. He showed no trace of limp.

Tigers Release Two Players. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 3.—The 1933 Detroit Tiger squad had been reduced by two outfielders to-day following announcement of release of Ty Silver and Ed Walker to the Montreal (International League) team. Released on option, they may be recalled at any time.

Rapid Transit Is National Field Trial Champion

WRAXS COLMAN

Rules—There Are None. RULES in wrestling? The book contains reams of them. But they are seldom fully observed. The prevailing attitude of wrestlers and the public toward rules is summarized in a statement recently credited to Jim McMillen, who occasionally is referred to as a title hope. James is broad casting:

"Wrestling to-day is a combination of boxing and the old-fashioned orthodox system of holds. When a referee refuses to disqualify a wrestler for slugging, his opponent is lost completely. 'Unless he has enough knowledge of boxing and slugging to retaliate, he is at a serious disadvantage.'"

"While wrestling is getting tougher today than it was years ago, the boys in the game are getting more intelligent. Go through the list of wrestlers and see how many college boys you'll find among them."

In the first paragraph we note that it is customary for referees to disregard the rules by permitting slugging.

In the second paragraph McMillen suggests that the victim's recourse is to again violate the rules by slugging in retaliation.

In the third paragraph we apparently are told that the more intelligent boys are, the tougher they are likely to become. Also, what does Jim know as to how tough it was years ago?

Time was when the rules prohibited butting, but that has been deleted from the latest Missouri code in order to legalize the flying tackle. "Fighting, elbowing, heeling, deliberate butting with the head and the use of the rabble knee" were also taken out of the list of fouls named originally, and are presumably now permitted in Missouri wrestling.

Obviously the commission's intent in deleting these was to give the bad boys of the mat more opportunity to put on the appearance of a rough-and-tumble show.

The commission was at least consistent. Believing the "public likes the show rough" (i. e., foul) it certainly lent some important first aid to roughhouse action. But it still falls short of McMillen's idea of modern wrestling.

A Much-Traveled Title. THE welterweight fight class may properly be termed the flies division. At least the title has hopped about the country with amazing shifts.

Since Jackie Fields won the crown from Joe Dundee on a foul it has hopped to Young Jack Thompson, in Detroit, thence to Sammy Anglin, in Cleveland, and back again to Thompson in Cleveland. Next it journeyed to Boston, where Lou Brouillard won it, only to lose it in a match with Fields at Chicago.

After Fields recovered from an illness that kept him out of the ring a new cycle. It hopped clear across the continent to San Francisco, where Young Corbett gained the crown.

And that's traveling some. Where it will go from Frisco is conjecture. But likely as not it will be wherever Jackie Fields hangs his hat.

Return Bout Compulsory. THE grape vine says that all this shifting was due to the fact that all welterweight championship contracts involve a clause guaranteeing a defeated champion a return match within 90 days.

That is almost as vicious a policy as the one reported to a decade or so ago by more than one title-holder. This made it a contract condition that the owner of the challenging fighter guarantee the champion so much money in case of the title-holder's defeat.

While neither scheme is in itself necessarily evil, the loopholes for crookedness are numerous and suspicions are inevitably aroused. "Strange" enough Jack Kearns, manager of Jackie Fields, the recently defeated champion, seems to have been connected with both schemes.

When Mickey Walker was fighting for the middleweight title, Kearns not only agreed to a lot of pretense at roughness now dispensed to pep up the crowd.

Kearns made good with the money when a terrible decision cost Flowers the title; but he never made good with the return fight. Flowers died later without ever having had his chance.

Oklahoma City Defeats Creeks

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 3.—Oklahoma City romped to victory over the Sugar Creeks of St. Louis, 58 to 23, in a Missouri Valley A. A. basketball game last night. It was the local's first win.

Oklahoma City got off to an early lead and held a 28-11 advantage at the half.

Scorgel was the big cog in the victory, scoring 10 field goals and 10 free throws, and led his mates with nine points.

OKLAHOMA CITY ST. LOUIS (28) Score: Oklahoma City 58, St. Louis 23. Field Goals: Oklahoma City 10, St. Louis 3. Free Throws: Oklahoma City 10, St. Louis 3. Rebounds: Oklahoma City 25, St. Louis 15. Assists: Oklahoma City 10, St. Louis 5. Steals: Oklahoma City 5, St. Louis 2. Blocks: Oklahoma City 3, St. Louis 1. Fouls: Oklahoma City 15, St. Louis 10. Time: 20 minutes. Referee: Frazier (Northwest).

CLIFFORD SUTTER WINS BERMUDA TENNIS TITLE

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 3.—Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, United States Intercollegiate tennis champion, yesterday won the men's singles title in the Bermuda championships, defeating Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2. Sutter, succeeded Fred Perry, English Davis Cup player, who did not defend the title this year.

Sutter's superior stroking and tactics never let the issue in doubt. Mangin showed flashes of brilliant tennis, but was not consistent.

Virginia Rice of Boston and Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the women's singles, captured the women's doubles title from the Boston-New York team of Mrs. Harry C. Brumie and Florence Le Boutillier, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

CORBETT'S WILL LEAVES ESTATE TO HIS WIDOW

NEW YORK, March 3.—James A. Dayton, attorney for the late James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, said yesterday that Corbett's will, to be filed within a week or 10 days, leaves the entire estate to the widow, Mrs. Vera Corbett.

The attorney said that probate of the will is being delayed to obtain some information from relatives in California relative to the value of some holdings there. Mrs. Corbett, the lawyer said, is named executrix in the will.

GABBY STREET DUE TOMORROW TO LEAD CARDINALS SQUAD TO CAMP

By James M. Gould.

Gabby Street, upon whom the responsibility of restoring the Cardinals to high baseball will ride here tomorrow morning lead the first flock of Redbirds training camp.

Gabby already has been credited with the statement that the Cardinal pitching staff is the strongest in the league and that the club will be "up there from the start." In telephone conversation with Branch Rickey, yesterday, before the business manager started his Gabby confirmed his belief in the ability of the team to win the pennant and announced himself "arin' to go." Rickey said he never before known the Old Man so full of confidence and desire for battle.

Tex Carleton, who had been persistent a holdout that he was about due to depart for Columbia or Rochester, sensed the danger to his position and yesterday wired in that he had mailed his resignation. Rickey said Carleton had wired he was "entirely satisfied with the terms—quite a change" heart since first negotiations.

Contract Situation Quiet. So far as the Browns are concerned, the contract-market continued dull. Outfielder Gullie, for a conference with vice-president McEvoy, didn't put in an appearance but there was an unexpected visitor in the person of peppy Benny Bengough, the "hairies" catcher. Benny talked things over with a while but didn't sign the paper. However, he has decided to move south Sunday so the probability that he will come through with signature today. He doesn't at all like a holdout.

With both teams starting Sunday evening on the same train, the combined party probably will number 16 with nine in the Browns group and seven in the Cardinals party.

As officials of both clubs will be in Florida next week, there will be more contract business than usual before that. All the important Cardinals are signed with the exception of Frankie Frisch and vice-president McEvoy says the while some of the Browns still are negotiating, there is every reason to believe that all those ordered to report at West Palm Beach next Tuesday will be among those present.

KIRKWOOD ADMITTED TO TROLLEY LEAGUE

Kirkwood, Mo., has been added to the Trolley League, and the Olive (Ill.) team has been dropped. It was announced following a meeting of league officials last night at the Broadview Hotel in East St. Louis. It was also announced that the Ben Millers of St. Louis, who won the title last season, would be known as the Fly-Moss team this year.

Referee Selected. The exhibition three-cushion billiard matches between Willie Cochran and Jay Bozeman, Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evenings at Peterson's Athletic Club, will be refereed by Herb Peterson. It has been announced that Young Peterson is the son of ("Show-Me-A-Shot-I-Can-Make") Charley, the fancy shot expert Cochran recently won the national three-cushion title. Bozeman was runner-up.

NEW YORK'S NEW BOXING HEAD To O K Carnera-Sharkey Fight

Gen. Phelan, Chairman of the Empire State Commission, Is "Personally Opposed" to the Bout, But Is Willing to "Defer to Public Opinion."

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Sharkey, the champion, and Carnera, the challenger, who were thrown out of this sovereign though indigenous state in a moment of moral vigor some weeks ago, will now be bowed back again in ample time to conduct their legalized brawl at that place and time originally specified.

Meanwhile, William Muldoon, sometimes called the professor to distinguish him from the large number of persons who once went to college, will finish out in left field and so will his super-dreadnaught division, the idea for which undoubtedly came to him in the dead of night when his resistance was low.

These developments were confirmed today when I went to see Gen. John J. Phelan, the new boxing commission chairman, to ask just why he was barring this gripping encounter from remaining to learn just why he wasn't.

Would Yield to Public Opinion. The General was a little vague about everything but he managed to make himself understood. First, said that he was "personally unfavorable" toward the fight. Then he said he didn't wish to seem "unreasonable." Finally, he intimated that he thought that, after a gallant struggle, he might be able to overcome his personal repugnance to the press and public insist. There being nothing else the General could have added, even if he hired a stenographer and put it in writing, the next victim was an official of Madison Square Garden, as follows:

Q. Were they going ahead with their plans for the fight, just though the Boxing Commission hadn't vetoed it out of the State?

A. "We are."

Q. Will it, therefore, be held at this time and place originally specified?

A. "It will."

Q. Is Gen. Phelan, after thinking things over very deeply, liable to announce that he has changed his mind?

A. "Yes it is."

So as I say, it begins to look as though Prof. Muldoon is going to finish away down there in left field again as a sturdy minority one. But he ought to be used to by this time, their grip with the Professor being what it is.

In anything important, the simply listen to what the Professor has to say and then do something else.

SOUTHERN KALE AND MUSTARD GREENS IN Spring Tonics in Vegetable Form Arrive From Alabama.

Mustard greens with a little tang all their own, and a fine grade of kale are coming in quite plentifully now from Alabama. These additions to the supply of market greens are valuable in their iron and mineral contents and are good substitutes for medicine for "that tired feeling."

aid in lowering prices. They are of fine flavor and quality. Other Vegetables. Florida new potatoes are a little lower in price this week. New asparagus is still scarce and high-priced. New peas from Mexico are in the same price class. But there is such a wealth of fresh vegetables at low prices that one can forget the few out of reach. String beans, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, egg plant and other vegetables are abundant and at the lowest prices in years.

Grilled Oysters. Get largest sized oysters. Clean, scald, drain and dry. Dip in melted butter, then in crumbled rusk. Place on broiler and cook until well browned. Place a buttered and heated rusk on each plate and place three or four oysters on rusk for each serving.

VARIETY NECESSARY FOR MEATLESS DAYS

Gnocchi and Shrimp Mouquin Are New and Delicious.

The housewife, faced with the problem of providing a series of satisfactory substitutes for meat during Lent, will do well to try some of the new fish, egg and vegetable combinations. They make a whole series of delicious entrees to be served as croquettes.

Gnocchi sounds like a very strange name for a strange dish, but it's one that is proving popular, and is more easily prepared than a ravioli. It is really a new egg and cheese combination, but you will find that it produces an appetizing luncheon dish also.

Gnocchi. One-fourth cup butter. One and three-fourths cup soda crackers, rolled fine, salt. Two cups scalded milk. Two egg yolks. Three-fourths cup grated American cheese. Melt butter, add crackers, salt and scalded milk. Cook over low flame for three minutes, stirring constantly. Add slightly beaten egg yolks and one-half cup of cheese, and stir until well blended. Pour into a buttered shallow pan and chill. Turn out on a board, cut in squares, place on buttered baking sheet, sprinkle with remaining cheese and brown in a hot oven about 10 minutes.

Shrimp and Almonds. Shrimp mixed with almonds and celery is another new idea. Shrimp mouquin, served hot on rusks, calls for the following ingredients.

One-half cup whole blanched almonds. Three-fourths cup diced celery. One and one-half tablespoons butter.

Two cups cooked and drained shrimp. Three-fourths cup rich milk, salt and pepper. Six rusks.

Cook almonds and celery in butter over low flame until almonds are golden brown and celery tender. Add shrimps, cut in halves, milk and seasoning, and cook 10 minutes longer. Serve hot on rusks.

And peppers stuffed with crab meat should not be overlooked as a specialty for either luncheon or dinner.

Pepper Surprise. Six green peppers.

One tablespoon butter or other fat. Three-fourths cup soda crackers, crumbled. One egg. One-half teaspoon mustard. Pepper and salt. Nutmeg. Celery seed.

One cup cooked crab meat, fresh or canned. One cup stock or water.

Cut off stem ends of peppers and remove seeds and veins. Melt butter, stir in crumbled crackers, beaten egg, seasoning and crab meat. Stuff the peppers with this mixture and put in a greased baking dish. Add one cup of stock or water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) for 30 minutes. Six portions.

Garden Eggs. Four eggs, beaten. One cup crumbled soda crackers. Two tablespoons grated American cheese.

Three-fourths cup milk. Salt and pepper. Three tablespoons butter.

One cup diced cooked vegetables. One tablespoon minced parsley. Beat eggs slightly, add crumbled crackers and cheese and stir in milk and season. Melt butter in sauce pan and add cracker mixture. Stir over heat and when mixture begins to thicken add diced vegetables and continue to cook until as thick as scrambled eggs. Serve garnished with minced parsley. Six portions.

Finnan Haddie Savory. Two cups cooked finnan haddie. One cup soda crackers, crumbled. One onion minced. Two tablespoons green pepper, coarsely chopped.

One-fourth teaspoon salt. Three tablespoons butter. One and one-half cups milk.

Place a layer of half the finnan haddie in a greased baking dish, cover with half the crackers, dot with butter and sprinkle with onion, green pepper and salt. Add the remainder of the finnan haddie, and top with the remainder of the crackers. Dot with butter, pour milk over all. Put in a hot oven (475 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake covered for 10 minutes. Uncover and brown.

Noodles and Tuna. Four ounces egg noodles. One small can tuna fish. One cup grated cheese. Two cups medium white sauce. One pint tomato.

Cook egg noodles until tender in boiling salted water; then drain. Add to the white sauce, together with part of the cheese. Flake the tuna, chop the tomato and add these to noodle mixture. Put into an oiled baking dish, cover with the remainder of the cheese, sprinkle with cracker crumbs (bread crumbs may be used), and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Creamed Onions. Peel and cook mild small onions in slightly salted boiling water. Drain well and serve on toast with white sauce.

HONEY AND CHEESE IN FROZEN DESSERTS

Demonstrators at Honey Institute Meetings Give Recipes.

The value of honey in menus was well demonstrated by experts this week during the American Honey Institute meetings.

One combination proved that honey and cheese made delicious desserts proven by well-known culinary leaders. Here are two of their recipes:

Honey Mousse. One orange. One teaspoon granulated gelatin. One tablespoon cold water. One-third cup strained honey. One cup cream. One-half package cheese.

Peel oranges, removing white membrane and cut pulp in small pieces. Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat honey. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Add orange, remove from fire and add cheese cut in small pieces, stirring until melted. When cold, add stiffly beaten cream. Put in refrigerator tray and freeze for four hours.

Serve fruit salad as a combination salad and dessert, and top it with the following: One-half package cheese. One-fourth cup honey. One cup whipping cream. Blend honey and cheese until perfectly smooth. Whip cream until stiff. Fold whipped cream into Fabet-t honey mixture. Turn in to freezing tray and freeze five to six hours.

Fried Apples and Bacon. Pare tart winter apples, and cut into inch cubes, to make about two quarts. Fry bacon in a heavy skillet and as soon as crisp, remove, drain on absorbent paper, and keep in a warm place. Leave about four tablespoons of bacon fat in the skillet, fill it with the apples, sprinkle on one-fourth cup of sugar, cover, and cook slowly until the apples are tender. Then remove the cover, turn the apples gently so the pieces will keep their shape, and let them brown lightly. They are then almost transparent. Place them on a hot platter, and surround them with the crisp bacon.

BUTTER ROLLS

One and one-half cups flour. Two cakes compressed yeast. One tablespoon sugar. One-fourth cup milk scalded and cooled. One teaspoon vanilla. Three egg yolks. One-half cup butter.

Dissolve yeast and sugar in milk lukewarm. Add vanilla, beaten egg yolks. Cut butter in the flour. Combine mixtures. Form in ball. Place in cheese cloth and put in a pan of cold water. Let stand three-quarters to one hour. Remove from cloth. Make into small balls and roll in one-half cup sugar and one-fourth cup nuts. Twist, place in pan, and let rise for 30 minutes. Bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes.

Stroll choice cuts of tender beef tenderloin. Catch and preserve juices. Fry slices of pineapple slightly on either side in part of the juices from the tenderloin. Dip a piece of toast in the remainder of the juices, place on this the tenderloin, then a piece of toast which has been dipped in the meat juice and top with a slice of the pineapple.

Apple Sauce Sandwich. Toast bread, spread with apple sauce, and sprinkle with minced cooked bacon.

ROOSEVELT MENUS FOR MEALS TOMORROW

Tomorrow's Inaugural Is Key-note for Some New Features.

"Roosevelt" sandwiches, "Inaugural" pastas, and other timely sweets will appear in many tearooms tomorrow, and hotels will feature special items on their menus in honor of the new President.

One hotel has announced a "Roosevelt" sandwich which is to be a permanent item on its menu.

It is composed, we are informed, of a Parmesan-flavored omelet, fried with chopped ham and is served with lettuce and Thousand Island dressing on toast.

One church organization is having an inaugural supper, at which every President of the United States will be impersonated, and the menu will include favorite dishes of some.

Washington and a log cabin, composed of rolls in log shape for Lincoln, will be table decorations.

CHICKEN AND MACARONI. Two cups cooked macaroni, diced. Two cups cooked chicken, diced. Two eggs. One cup milk. One-quarter teaspoon paprika. One-half teaspoon salt. Two tablespoons chopped parsley. Two tablespoons chopped celery. Two tablespoons chopped onion.

Three tablespoons butter, melted. Beat eggs slightly. Mix together all the ingredients. Pour into well-buttered gem pans. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Unmold, arrange on a platter and surround with either tomato sauce or a thick cream sauce. Garnish with tiny sprigs of parsley.

Veal Left-Over. Chop cold veal, place in a baking dish with alternate layers of tomatoes and cracker crumbs. Season with salt, pepper, a little sugar and a small onion. Spread crumbled pork on top, pour melted butter over all and bake.

Fruit Baskets. Attractive baskets for fruit salad may be made from half oranges from which pulp is removed to mix with other fruits. Half lemons may be filled with relishes for the meat course.

ROOSEVELT MENUS FOR MEALS TOMORROW

Tomorrow's Inaugural Is Key-note for Some New Features.

"Roosevelt" sundae, "Inaugural" parfait, and other timely sweets will appear in many tearooms tomorrow, and hotels will feature special items on their menus in honor of the incoming of the new President.

One hotel has announced a Roosevelt sandwich which is to be a permanent item on its menu.

It is composed, we are informed, of a Parmesan cheese-flavored omelet, fried with chopped ham and is served with lettuce and Thousand Island dressing on toast.

One church organization is having an inaugural supper, at which every President of the United States will be impersonated, and the menu will include favorite dishes of some.

A monster cherry pie for George Washington and a log cabin, composed of rolls in log shape for Lincoln, will be table decorations.

CHICKEN AND MACARONI

Two cups cooked macaroni, diced

Two cups cooked chicken, diced.

Two eggs.

One cup milk.

One-quarter teaspoon paprika.

One-half teaspoon salt.

Two tablespoons chopped parsley.

Two tablespoons chopped celery.

Two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Three tablespoons butter, melted.

Beat eggs slightly. Mix together all the ingredients. Pour into well-buttered gem pans. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Unmold, arrange on a platter and surround with either tomato sauce or a thick cream sauce. Garnish with tiny sprigs of parsley.

Veal Left-Overs

Chop cold veal, place in a baking dish with alternate layers of tomatoes and cracker crumbs. Season with salt, pepper, a little sugar and a small onion. Spread crumbled crust on top, pour melted butter over all and bake.

Fruit Baskets

Attractive baskets for fruit salad may be made from half oranges from which pulp is removed to mix

Sunday: Beef Stew, Mashed Potatoes, Cabbage, Cranberry Pie.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

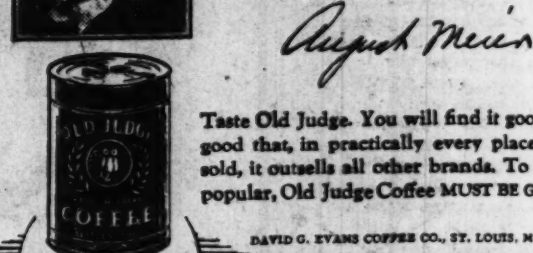

Chicken Fricassee. One medium-sized chicken. Two onions. Boiling water or stock. Small piece salt pork. One teaspoon celery salt. One-half teaspoon plain salt. One-third teaspoon pepper. Two tablespoons butter. Two tablespoons flour. Cut up chicken, wipe and place in saucepan with onions, into one of which cloves have been pressed. Add water or stock to half cover. Cover closely and simmer gently until chicken is tender—one and one-half to three hours, according to age of bird. Dice pork and cook with chicken. Season when half done. Dish chicken, thicken gravy with butter and flour smoothly blended. Simmer five minutes and pour over chicken. Serve with dumplings. Cranberry Pie. Three tablespoons corn starch. One-fourth cup sugar. One and one-half cupsful sugar. One-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. One and one-half cupsful cranberries. One cupful water. One and one-half tablespoonsful butter. Combine corn starch, salt, sugar and nutmeg. Add cranberries, chopped fine, and one cup water. Pour into a pastry-lined pie plate, dot with butter, cover with top crust and bake. Beef Loaf. One pound lean beef. Two slices bacon. One onion. Two-thirds cup stale bread crumbs. One-half teaspoon plain salt. One teaspoon celery salt. One-half cup canned tomatoes. One-third teaspoon pepper. One beaten egg. Put beef, bacon and onion through food chopper. Add bread crumbs, salt, celery salt, tomatoes, pepper and beaten egg. Mix and blend all thoroughly, turn into well greased pan generously sprinkled with crumbs, cover with greased paper and bake in moderate oven about one and a half hours. Serve hot with tomato sauce or leave in pan until cold, then unmold and cut into slices. Stuffed Cabbage. One medium-sized cabbage. One pound beef. One slice bacon. One onion. One-half cup bread crumbs. One-half cup milk. One egg. One green pepper. Select solid cabbage, not too large, remove outside leaves, cut out stalk end, leaving a hollow shell. Chop cooked beef, with bacon and onion, add crumbs soaked in milk, beaten egg, salt and pepper, shape mixture into balls or cakes, arrange in cabbage. Arrange strips of sweet pepper on top of cabbage, tie in cheese cloth, then steam or boil until tender. Serve with tomato sauce.

ICING AND FILLING

One cup sugar. One-quarter cup milk. Two squares chocolate. One tablespoon butter. One egg. Beat egg until thick, add sugar, butter, and melted chocolate. Cook in double boiler until thick. Flavor with vanilla. Two and a half squares chocolate. One cup powdered sugar. One egg yolk. One-half tablespoon vanilla. Three tablespoons milk. Melt chocolate, add sugar and milk. Add yolk of egg. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly.

BEANS ARE GOOD FOR THE LOW-COST MEALS

Government Bureau Advises Frequent Use of These and Other Legumes.

When nutritionists are planning low-cost diets, they always put in a goodly amount of beans. Dried beans are dried peas two to four times as much, advises the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, in its new food guide to low-cost diets. That, of course, is on the assumption that there will be a limited supply of other foods. Beans are very cheap and very filling—more than that, they have very special values which may be lacking in other foods. Beans are out of all kinds—in fact, of the legumes, or edible plants belonging to the pulse family. Probably the most important substance in beans and peas is protein. Most vegetables are remarkable for their protein content. The legumes, however, not only have a great deal of it, but they have a kind more nearly like proteins of milk, cheese, eggs, in meat or other animal foods. If you cannot have meat for dinner, baked beans, for example, or bean soup, plans boiled beans fill the gap better than most other cheap foods.

The calcium and vitamin B content of the dried legumes is also high, and they have more fat than most vegetables, as well as more protein. It is not hard to see, then, why they are important when other expensive foods are out of reach. They are an energy-yielding food, and a building food, with some "active" value—these are many though not by any means complete in nutritive values. They are a standby for the further reason that with their several nutritive values, they have bulk, and "stick" the ribs.

Beans Unusually Cheap. Dried beans or peas of almost any kind are usually cheap, but just now, with an unusually large Michigan crop this year, navy beans are as low as 2 or 3 cents a pound. White pea-beans are our biggest bean crop, as a rule, and most of them are grown in Michigan and New York. But there are also the brown, black, and speckled varieties, pinto beans, grown extensively in Colorado and the Southern States; the Great Northern beans of the Northwestern States, a white variety much like the navy beans; lima beans, which come from California, and black-eyed peas, which take the place of navy beans in the South, and are abundant, because they are a part of a crop grown chiefly for fertilizer and stock feed. Dried beans and dried peas may be used interchangeably in most recipes, though the cooking time varies somewhat with the different varieties. Canned, cooked beans are a substitute which saves both time and fuel. They need only to be heated, and are also cheap. Baked Mashed Beans. One and one-half pounds navy beans, six cups water. Two and one-half teaspoons salt. One-half pound salt pork, diced. Four small onions, chopped. Two tablespoons molasses. Wash and soak the beans overnight in the six cups of water. In the morning, drain, add two quarts of fresh water, one and one-half quarts of the salt, cover, and simmer until the beans are very tender. Drain and reserve the liquid, and press the beans through a colander. Cook the salt pork till crisp, remove the pork and the onions in the fat. Add the molasses, molasses, and the reserved liquid to the beans, both time enough of the liquid to moisten into a shallow pan and brown in a hot oven. Serve from the brown.

Boston Baked Beans. Two cups dried beans. One-half pound salt pork. Four tablespoons molasses. One teaspoon mustard, if desired. One teaspoon salt. Soak the beans overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning, drain, add a quart of fresh water, simmer for 45 minutes, or until the beans begin to soften, and drain. Add the salt, and the reserved liquid to the beans, both time enough of the liquid to moisten into a shallow pan and brown in a hot oven. Serve from the brown.

Onions Stuffed with Beans. Out large onions in half, simmer lightly salted water until almost done. Lift the onions out and move the center rings, chop, and mix with cooked or canned beans. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Fill the onion shells with the mixture. Sprinkle bread crumbs on top and bake in the oven until the onions are tender and brown on top.

Chili Con Carne. Two cups cooked beans. One-fourth pound salt pork. One-half pound ground lean beef. One-fourth cup chopped onion. Two cups tomatoes. One tablespoon chili powder. Put the salt pork into one-eighth of a cube and brown in a skillet. Add the onion to the beans, and the chopped onion in the

Government Bureau Advises Frequent Use of These and Other Legumes.

When nutritionists are planning low-cost diets, they always put in a good word for beans. They are a standby for the further reason that with their several nutritive values, they have bulk, and "stick to the ribs."

Beans Unusually Cheap.
Dried beans or peas of almost any kind are usually cheap, but just now, with an unusually large Michigan crop this year, navy beans are down as low as 2 or 3 cents a pound. These white pea-beans are our biggest bean crop, as a rule, and most of them are grown in Michigan and New York. Canned, cooked beans are a substitute which save both time and fuel. They need only to be heated, and are also cheap.

Baked Mashed Beans.
One and one-half pounds navy beans, six cups water.
Two and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-half pound salt pork, diced.
Two small onions, chopped.
Four tablespoons molasses.
Wash and soak the beans overnight in the six cups of water. In the morning, drain, add two quarts of fresh water, one and one-half teaspoons of the salt, cover, and simmer until the beans are very tender. Drain and reserve the liquid, and press the beans through a colander. Cook the salt pork in a skillet until browned, and add the onions in the fat. Add the molasses, and the remaining liquid to the bean pulp with a hot oven. Serve from the skillet.

Boston Baked Beans.
Two cups dried beans.
One-half pound salt pork.
Four tablespoons molasses.
One teaspoon mustard, if desired.
One teaspoon salt.
Soak the beans overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning, drain, add a quart of fresh water, simmer for 45 minutes, or until the beans begin to soften, and drain. Add the rest of the salt, and the molasses and other seasonings with a little hot water, and simmer over the beans. Add enough water to cover. Place the rest of the salt pork on top, cover the pot, and cook the beans in a slow oven (about 250 degrees Fahrenheit) for 6 or 7 hours. Add a little hot water from time to time to replace what which cooks away and is absorbed by the beans. Keep the lid on the bean pot until the last hour of cooking; then uncover, and allow the beans and pork on the top to brown.

Stuffed Onions With Beans.
Cut large onions in half, simmer lightly salted water until almost tender. Lift the onions out and remove the center rings, chop, and mix with cooked or canned beans. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Fill the onion shells with the mixture. Sprinkle bread crumbs on top and bake in the oven until the onions are tender and brown on top.

Chili Con Carne.
Two cups cooked beans.
One-fourth pound salt pork.
One-half pound ground lean beef.
One-fourth cup chopped onion.
Two cups tomatoes.
One tablespoon chili powder.
Cut the salt pork into one-eighth inch cubes and brown in a skillet. Add these cubes to the beans, and the chopped onion in the

STUFFED ONIONS
Eight ounces fine-cut spaghetti.
Eight large onions.
One-quarter cup chopped ham.
One-quarter cup chopped green pepper.
One tablespoon melted butter.
One cup tomato juice.
Four slices of bacon.
One-half cup dry bread crumbs.
Skin onions and cut a slice from the top of each. Parboil until almost tender. Drain and scoop out centers. Chop onion that was removed. Cook spaghetti in boiling

CHOCOLATE SPONGE
Soak together for about five minutes: One level tablespoon gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water.
Cook together until smooth (which is about five minutes): One and one-half squares melted chocolate, one-third cup sugar, one-third cup hot water, one-fourth teaspoonful salt.
Add softened gelatin to hot chocolate mixture and blend together thoroughly. Cool slightly and when starting to thicken add

Biscuits With Salad
Serve tiny hot biscuits with fruit salad for the bridge club. Spread biscuits with marmalade or cream cheese softened with cream.

CUCUMBER BOATS
Eight ounces egg noodles.
Three eight-inch cucumbers.
One pound veal.
One-half cup cracker crumbs.
Cut veal into very small pieces; cook until tender in salted water. Remove veal and boil egg noodles in veal stock until tender. Drain, but save liquid. Cut cucumbers lengthwise and scoop out centers to form boats. Place a layer of veal and fill up with egg noodles. Thicken veal stock to consistency of thick cream. Pour this over egg

SUGAR ALLOWANCE
A five-pound bag of granulated sugar should last two people for about a month, unless they have a very "sweet tooth."

ORANGEADE
Combine two-thirds cup Sunkist orange juice, one-third cup lemon juice, sugar and ice to taste.

AMBROIA
Peel and slice six oranges. Arrange in bowl and sprinkle with one-half cup powdered sugar and one-half cup grated coconut.

ECONOMY

Is the Rule at A&P

WE'VE known people who are a little touchy on the subject of economy. We feel sorry for them. They forget that economy may be thrift and it's always smart to be thrifty. Our customers who can afford to spend liberally are really more insistent about getting the most for their money. That's economy. Perhaps that's why they are our customers. We practice economy and we are proud of it. In fact economy is conspicuous at A&P. That's why we can offer such great values and that's why you'll find it so easy to practice economy.

BREAKFAST PARTIES NOW FOR SUNDAYS

New Morning Entertainments Are Simple and Enjoyable Affairs.

Next to cereals, bacon and eggs will no doubt always remain the great American breakfast dish, but some departure from this tradition is now in evidence. Variety is beginning to make its appearance on the table, apparently growing out of the desire for the Sunday morning breakfast party which has driven hostesses to find new ways of serving old dishes and devising new.

The Sunday morning or holiday breakfast party probably owes its popularity to its informality and intimacy. Food is necessarily simple and the service problem scarcely exists. People rather prefer to help themselves and certainly not to stand on ceremony.

Frequently the breakfast gathering is a prelude to a day-out of doors, either motoring, golfing or some other sport. For an ice-cream party, breakfast is the ideal prelude or aftermath. In any event, never make your breakfast more than a pleasant meeting of a few friends. Whether they are the "city folks" in the country for the week-end or the couple that live in your apartment, they will like it better if it's not a "party."

Start it with orange juice, probably the perfect beginning for a morning meal, augmented if you like with a few halves of grapefruit, pineapple juice, a shaker of tomato juice and a bowl of fresh fruit on the buffet. Let your friends help themselves, and be sure to have a plate of flaky crackers for them to munch on while waiting for the more substantial food that follows.

Try sausages with graham waffles for the main dish. The waffles can be made on your iron at the table and served, crisp and hot, as they come off. They're a new idea and a particularly good one, because they are so easy to make. If you run short of batter you can always produce a second bowl in a jiffy.

Graham Waffles.
Two and one-half cups graham crackers.

One-half teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons sugar.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
Two egg yolks.
Three-fourth cup milk.
One-half cup melted butter.
Two egg whites.
Add salt, sugar and baking powder to finely crumbled cracker. Add beaten egg yolks to milk and melted butter, and combine with first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes three four-sectioned waffles.

Or if it's a help yourself party try crowned eggs and bacon served in a big platter and watch them disappear when they are made like this:

Crowned Eggs.
Six Holland rusk.
Six long strips or 12 shorter strips of bacon.
Six eggs.
Parsley.

Wrap bacon around rusk, collar-like, and secure with tooth pick. Sprinkle centers of rusk with water. Break one egg on each rusk, inside bacon collar. Place on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (425°F) until eggs are set and bacon browned. Serve garnished with parsley. Six portions. Preparation, nine minutes.

Many a breakfast has been spoiled by indifferent coffee. Take every precaution to insure that the coffee is really good, and have it piping hot with plenty of rich cream available. Coffee can make or break a Sunday morning breakfast hostess.

BISCUITS MAY BE MADE OF SWEET OR SOUR MILK

Two cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One level teaspoon shortening.
One scant cup sweet milk.
Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add milk to make soft dough. Roll out, brush with melted butter and bake in hot oven.
Two cups flour.
One-half teaspoon baking powder.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-third to one-half teaspoon sour milk (approximate).

Two tablespoons shortening.
One cup sour milk (approximate).
Sift dry ingredients together; cut or rub in the shortening; add milk to make a soft dough; roll dough about one-third inch thick; cut, and bake in a hot oven.

SUGARED POPCORN

One and one-half cup sugar.
One teaspoon salt.
Two quarts freshly popped corn.
One cup water.

Cook the sugar, water and salt until the syrup forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water, or until a candy thermometer registers 235 degrees F. Remove from the fire. Beat with a spoon until it is creamy. Drop in the popcorn and stir quickly until each kernel is coated with sugar. Put on a greased platter and separate the strains of corn.

Hot Beef Sandwiches.
Make sandwiches with toasted bread and slices of roast beef. Serve on hot plates with hot gravy poured over the sandwiches, and garnish with a sprig of parsley and a pickle.

VEGETABLE RING WITH NOODLE AND CHEESE

(For the vegetable ring.)

One cup cooked peas, drained.
One cup cooked carrot, sliced.
One cup cooked prunes, chopped.
Two tablespoons melted butter.
One cup cooked stringless beans.
Two cups fine bread crumbs.
Two beaten eggs.
One-half cup milk.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Turn into greased ring mold and bake 40 minutes in moderate oven. Release edge of ring with knife. Turn out on serving platter with this filling:

Three cups cooked egg noodles.
One-third cup flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One and three-fourths cups tomato soup or juice.
One-half cup cheese.
Three tablespoons butter.
Melt butter, add flour, and when smooth add salt and tomato soup. When thick, add cheese and egg noodles. Fill center of vegetable ring. Garnish with mushrooms if liked.

LEMON WAFERS

One cup shortening.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Three eggs, beaten.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.
One teaspoon grated lemon rind.
Five cups flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Candied orange peel, coconut, chopped nuts, raisins or sugar.
Cream fat and sugar. Add eggs, lemon juice, rind, flour and salt. Roll very thin. Cut into fancy shapes. Bake in a quick oven until delicately browned. Decorate with candied orange peel, coconut, chopped nuts, raisins, or sugar, as desired.

The dough may be shaped into a roll, covered with paraffin (or wax) paper, kept in the ice box, sliced and baked as needed.

Flour Biscuits

Dusting the well greased pans with flour prevents sticking. Dredging raisins, shredded fruits and nuts with flour will prevent their sinking to the bottom of the cakes.

Toast Cakes

Cut toast in finger strips, arrange box style to form a case and fill center with creamed chicken or fish.

MANY MUFFINS FROM A FOUNDATION RECIPE

Two cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons sugar.
One egg.
Three-quarters to one cup milk.
Two tablespoons melted fat.
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat together egg, milk and melted fat. Stir the liquid lightly into the dry ingredients. Do not beat. Bake in well-greased muffin tins in a hot oven, 20 to 30 minutes.

Variables.
Bran—Substitute one and one-half cups bran for one cup wheat flour. Add molasses if desired, one-quarter to one-half cup.

Whole Wheat—Substitute one cup whole wheat for one cup flour.
Corn—Substitute three-quarters cup yellow cornmeal for one cup flour.

Cereal—Substitute cooked rice, oatmeal or other cereal for part of the flour, one-third or one-quarter.
Fruit—Add one-half to one cup nuts or fruit. Double sugar if sweet muffins are desired.

SPICED BEEF

Four pounds of chuck beef.
One cup vinegar.
One cup water.
One bay leaf.
Ten peppercorns.
One onion, sliced.
One blade mace.
Two or three cloves.
Have the beef cut in a piece about two inches thick. Prepare the marinade by bringing the vinegar, water and seasonings to the boiling point. Cool and pour over the meat. Let stand in a cold place for 48 hours; wipe the meat dry, dredge it with flour and sear in a hot frying pan. Place three or four slices of fat salt pork on the meat, cover the pan and cook in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for two to three hours, or until the meat is tender. Serve with noodles.

Left-Over Cereal

Save cereal left over from breakfast for use in muffins, griddle cakes and for frying for lunch-eggs.

Hard Sauce

Cream three tablespoons butter and work in one cup confectioners' sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and a sprinkling of nutmeg.

SPAGHETTI AND LIVER

Four ounces spaghetti.
One-fourth cup onion, chopped.
One tablespoon bacon fat.
One cup beef liver, cubed.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
One teaspoon minced parsley.
One-half cup tomato pulp.
Three cups milked, boiling water.
Three tablespoons grated cheese.
Brown onions in bacon fat, cubed liver and seasonings. Cook slowly for 10 minutes, stirring that all sides of the liver are browned. Add tomato pulp and time cooking for 20 minutes. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender; drain and toss with a little oil. Mix liver mixture with spaghetti, add cheese and parsley over top and bake in moderate heat for 20 minutes. Serve hot from making dish.

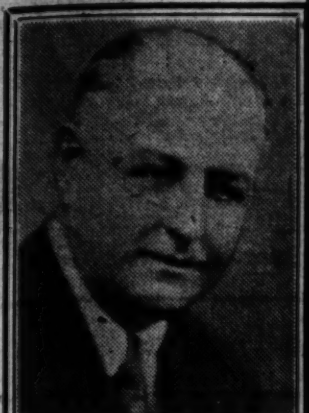

Cinnamon Buns

Butter rusk generously and place in the oven long enough to be better. Remove and sprinkle thickly with equal parts of granulated sugar and cinnamon. Bake at tea time or for the children.

"More crackers per pound..

how on earth do you do it?"

THEY'RE LIGHTER

AND FLAKIER

AND MADE BY THE ACCORDION FOLD METHOD

No WONDER thrifty housewives keep asking how it is Sunshine Bakers give so many more crackers per pound in the big, blue and white Krispy Cracker packages.

15 to 20 More Crackers Per Pound

The reason is that Sunshine Krispy Crackers are made differently from those other, heavier crackers. Just take a look at the diagram in the next column. We've tried to show you graphically how we do it. Every housewife will be interested in this important baking story.

In this special method used by Sunshine Bakers, the dough is rolled and then folded or "pleated" into many layers. By a secret Sunshine method, these laminated folds of dough are held tightly together.

This special Accordion Fold Method makes Sunshine Krispy Crackers lighter and flakier.

More Servings Per Package

Because of these important differences, they're not only much better-tasting with soups, salads, cheese and all sorts of spreads, but they give you more servings per package. As a result, they help make your money go further... without sacrificing quality! Isn't it wise economy always to insist on Sunshine Krispy Crackers at your grocer's?

One tablespoon bacon fat.
One cup beef liver, cubed.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
One teaspoon minced parsley.
One-half cup tomato pulp.
Three cups salted, boiling water.
Brown onions in bacon fat, cubed liver and seasonings. Cook slowly for 10 minutes, stirring. Add tomato pulp and spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender; drain and mix with liver mixture in center. Sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Top and bake in moderate heat for 20 minutes. STEW AND DUMPLINGS
ALWAYS PLEASE MEN

Old Fashioned Combination Is Substantial and Tasty.

"My husband travels a lot and when he gets in after a few weeks on the road he always asks for an old-fashioned stew and dumplings as a relief from hotel fare," writes one of our readers.
And here is the way she makes this welcome favorite:
For the stew, buy 1½ pounds of beef shank, neck, flank or rump. Other ingredients are one-fourth cup flour, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one small onion, one-third cup diced carrots, one-third cup diced turnips, four cups potatoes cut in quarters and one tablespoon of seasoning sauce.

Meat in Cubes.
Wipe meat, remove from bone, cut in one and one-half inch cubes. Mix flour, salt and pepper, dredge cubes of meat. Take some of the fat from the meat and fry out in frying pan. Brown cubes of meat. Put meat and fat into stew kettle, add water to cover the meat.

A pint of canned strained tomatoes may be added if desired. Simmer for three hours. During last hour add carrots and turnips. Twenty minutes before serving time add potatoes. Fifteen minutes before serving time add the dumplings.

Dumplings.
Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one cup milk, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons fat. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in fat and add milk. Drop by spoonfuls on top of the stew, cover tightly and cook 12 minutes. Do not raise cover while cooking. Be sure that dumplings rest on meat and vegetables and do not settle into the stew.

SPOON BREAD

One cup corn meal.
Two cups cold water.
Two teaspoons salt.
One cup milk.
Two eggs.
Two tablespoons melted fat.
Mix the meal, water and salt and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly. Add the milk, well-beaten eggs and melted fat and mix well. Pour in a well-greased hot pan or baking dish and bake for 45 to 60 minutes in a hot oven. Serve from the pan in which baked.

CHILDREN'S LUNCHES AFFECT BEHAVIOR

Experiment Shows Decided Relation Between Food and Conduct.

Down in a New Mexico town they have been experimenting with the effect of food on children's attitude in school, and progress in their studies.

Children who had good lunch habits were found to be less nervous and to adjust themselves better to the schoolroom routine.

A group of mothers took turns in cooking lunches for their children, whole room during the experimental period and results made their efforts decidedly worth while. Something Hot Necessary.

Where it is necessary for a child to carry his lunch to school, child welfare authorities plead with mothers to include one hot item, which can easily be done with the thermos bottle lunch boxes to be had at small cost now.

Cocoa or soup is easily prepared and if put in the bottle at just the right temperature, will provide a real home meal touch to the school lunch.

"Lettuce or other greens in the sandwich and an orange or apple in the box are other necessities to good child health, the experts also tell us."

NORMANDY POT ROAST

One-half pound spaghetti.
Three and one-half cups dried beef pot roast.

One and one-half cups dried apricots.
One and one-half cups inch-diced celery.

One and one-half cups peeled, quartered carrots.
Two tablespoons chopped parsley.
One teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon pepper.
Brown and season pot roast. Place in a tightly covered casserole or roaster. Cook spaghetti in boiling water until tender; drain. Surround meat with spaghetti, cover with the inch strips of celery, then the layer of peeled, quartered carrots. Season each layer with salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Add one cup of water. Cover and bake four hours in slow oven.

FRUIT PUDDING

Four ounces macaroni.
One cup sweet milk.
Two eggs.
Two tablespoons butter.
One cup brown sugar.
Pinch of salt.
One cup raisins.
One cup seeded dates.
One cup nuts.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-half pint whipped cream.
Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Add milk, beaten eggs, sugar and other ingredients. Bake in oven about 15 minutes. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

CHICKEN MOUSSE

Six ounces macaroni.
Two cups whipped cream.
Three cups cooked chicken.
Two cups hot chicken stock.
Three tablespoons gelatin.
One-half cup cold water.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-half teaspoon pepper.
One cup celery, chopped fine.
One cup ripe olives.
Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Chop the chicken. Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes, add the boiling stock and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill and beat until frothy. Add the rest of the ingredients and beat together. Pour into a mold. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

NUT BREAD

One-fourth cup sugar, two tablespoons shortening, one egg, two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one cup broken nut meats.
Put the shortening, sugar and egg in a bowl and beat until thoroughly blended; add the flour which should be sifted with the salt and baking powder, alternately with the milk, add the nuts; turn into a well-greased bread pan, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees Fahrenheit) about one hour.

Peach Dumplings.
Roll out pastry dough in rounds about the size of fruit plates. In the center of each place a canned peach or two halves. Sprinkle with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon, and a few grains of salt. Dot the fruit with butter, and lift up and press together the edges of the dough. Place in greased muffin tin and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serve hot with hard or liquid sauce.

Rolling Pin Hint.
A child's white stocking, foot removed, will make an excellent cover for your rolling pin. This is easily washed and the masher will hold just enough flour to keep the dough from sticking.

CINNAMON COOKIES

One cup sugar.
One cup shortening.
One cup molasses.
Two teaspoons soda.
One tablespoon cinnamon.
One tablespoon ginger.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Five to six cups flour.
Two tablespoons warm water.
Cream sugar with shortening. Add molasses; then add soda dissolved in warm water. Sift two cups flour with remaining dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Add enough more flour to make a stiff dough. Roll out very thin on slightly floured board. Cut in desired shapes and bake eight to 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

BUFFET SUPPERS FOR LARGE BRIDGE PARTY

Plan Makes Refreshment Serving Easier for the Hostess.

When a large group is entertained at a bridge, a dinner first for most hostesses is out of the question.

Refreshments served on the card tables are cramped, and awkward, so why not have a buffet supper and let the guests help themselves?

It's much easier and much more comfortable for guests. And the refreshments may be as simple or elaborate as you wish.

At least one hot dish in addition to coffee or cocoa should be served. But that is easy with the multitude of possibilities to choose from.

Creamed Favorites.
Creamed delicacies are always liked, and it may be chicken, shrimp, lobster, sweetbread, or if economy rules, tuna fish with canned peas is good.

Have plenty of toast on hand—make it on the buffet table as supplies are exhausted and serve the creamed offerings on it.

Plates of gelatine fruit or vegetable salads, lots of olives and crisp bits of celery, little cakes and fruit punch are other aids for a successful buffet party.

SAUCE FOR SUNDAY

Four slices canned pineapple.
One pint pineapple juice and water.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half cup blanched almonds.
One cup candied cherries cut in quarters.

One-half cup finely cut citron.
Strain the juice from the canned pineapple, add sufficient water to make one pint, combine with sugar and salt, and cook for about 10 minutes, or until the syrup is fairly thick. Break the almonds in half, cut the sliced pineapple into thin pieces, and add with the cherries and citron to the syrup. Boil for a few minutes, chill and serve over frozen custard, vanilla ice cream or blanc mange.

CREAM FOR SUNDAY DINNER

One cup brown sugar.
Two tablespoons flour.
Speck of cinnamon.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One cup boiling water.
Two tablespoons butter.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Mix the brown sugar, flour, cinnamon, and salt, add to the boiling water, cook for 5 minutes, and stir constantly for buttercream sauce. Beat in the butter and vanilla and serve hot.

Two squares unsweetened chocolate.
One cup granulated sugar.
One-half cup milk.
One-half cup butter.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Melt chocolate in a double boiler, add the sugar, milk, butter, and salt and cook for 10 minutes until fairly thick. Add the vanilla, beat well, and serve hot.

BAVARIAN CREAM

One tablespoon granulated gelatin.
One-fourth cup cold water.
One cup orange juice and pulp.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
One-half cup sugar.
One cup cream.
Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes and dissolve by standing cup containing mixture in hot water. Add to orange juice and pulp. Add lemon juice, sugar and a pinch of salt. When it begins to jelly fold in whipped cream; turn into cold mold to become firm.

FISH IS IMPORTANT IN LENTEN MEALS

Recipes and Suggestions About Suitable Food to Serve With Fish.

The Lenten season directs attention to fish in the diet. Nutritive values in fish carry the endorsement of modern science as well as the age-old sanctions of religion. Haddock, cod and other ocean fish are a protein food of the lean, non-fattening variety. They contain valuable iodine, as well as calcium and tissue-strengthening elements and are more easily digested than some other protein foods.

Fish may be cooked and sauced so as to delight, or overcooked and undersauced so as to disgust the eater.

"The American housewife cooks her fish too hard and too long," states an expert. "Fish must be cooked slowly, except in broiling or frying. Eat it quickly and you get it of much of its flavor. Fresh fillets of ocean fish have the salt tang of the sea. When boiled, the use of salted water, however, brings out the full flavor, but when cooked in any other way, especially about the use of salted water, should be used for seasoning while cooking."

Fish Dinners.
What to serve the day fish is on the menu, is sometimes a question. Here are some suggestions:

Fish chowder may be the first course, followed by fish croquettes with boiled potatoes, carrots and pickles. Fruit and cream with waters and coffee make a simple dessert.

Steamed fish with boiled potatoes, carrots and cole slaw. Chocolate, coffee or tea.

Fried fish, with mashed potatoes, carrot and cole slaw. Chocolate pudding and a hot beverage.

Fish prepared with tomatoes is served with mashed potatoes and beans. Conclude with cake and coffee or tea.

Fried oysters go well with rice, buttered beets and cole slaw, a peach dessert and coffee.

Fish cutlets combine well with scalloped potatoes, tomatoes and cole slaw, rice pudding and coffee or tea.

Boiled fish is served with baked potatoes and sauerkraut. Molded fish salad introduces another type of fish. Prune fish is served with tea or coffee.

Scalloped oysters call for French fried potatoes and buttered beets. Apple pie and coffee are the usual dessert.

Here are three selected recipes for the Lenten table, tested by a group of most famous cooks:

Broiled Fillets.
Brush the fillets with oil or butter and place flesh side up on a well-greased broiler. Put on rack in broiling oven and broil till brown. Then loosen fish, place a greased cookie sheet on top, invert both sheets, lift off the upper one, brush unbroiled side of fish with oil or butter, season to taste and broil again, until brown. Place platter over fish, invert and remove cookie sheet. Spread fish with butter. Garnish with parsley.

Baked With Tomato.
Wipe fillets and put on greased oven-proof platter. Cover top with sliced fresh tomato, canned tomato drained from juice or canned tomato soup. Bake 15 to 25 minutes in moderate oven 375 degrees, basting twice with one-fourth cup melted butter and liquid in platter.

Steamed.
Put fillets in perforated pie plate or in a piece of cheesecloth or parchment paper and steam over boiling water until tender. This will take 12 to 15 minutes. There is less loss of flavor than in broiling. Remove fillets carefully to hot platter. Cover with egg sauce. Garnish with parsley.

APPLE SAUCE CAKE
Two-thirds cup butter.
Two cups sugar.
Four eggs yolks.
Three-fourths cup cold thick unsweetened apple sauce.
One-half cup milk.
Two and one-half cups flour.
Three tablespoons baking powder.
One teaspoon cloves.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One-half teaspoon allspice.
Four tablespoons cocoa.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Two-thirds cup raisins.
One-half cup nut meats.
Four egg whites.
Cream the butter; add the sugar, beat until well blended; add egg yolks and apple sauce and beat until the mixture is smooth; then add the milk alternately with the flour, which should be sifted four or five times with the baking powder and spices; add vanilla, raisins and nuts, fold in the beaten egg whites; turn into greased layer cake tin, and bake in a moderate oven about 40 minutes. Put layers together with any desired frosting.

PECAN PIE
One-eighth pound butter.
One-half cup sugar.
Three whole eggs.
Three-fourths cup molasses.
One cup lemon.
One cup of fine chips of pecans.
Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, molasses and lemon juice. Beat with egg beater. Add pecan chips, beat well and pour into pie crust. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees F. and 30 minutes 350 to 400 degrees F. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Grapefruit Salad.
Peel the grapefruit; pull it apart in sections, and strip the skin and pith from each section. Arrange the sections on lettuce, sprinkle with chopped nuts and garnish with a little pimiento. Serve with any desired dressing.

SAUCE FOR FISH

New sauces for fish add variety to the Lenten diet. Flavor white sauce with anchovy essence or grated cheese. A sauce containing tomato ketchup, lemon juice, minced olives and horseradish adds a tart flavor to a bland fish course. "Maitre d'hotel" butter, another good sauce, contains horseradish, thick cream and lemon juice, as well as butter. Russian dressing is merely the artful blending of ketchup and mayonnaise.

Tartar sauce is based on mayonnaise with the addition of minced parsley, minced onion, pickles or olives. Egg, Roquefort and other cheese sauces are delicious with fish. One kind of fish may be served with the sauce of another. Lobster or shrimp sauce served with any kind of fish contributes a double flavor.

ORANGE JAM

Two cups orange pulp and juice, one lemon, pulp and juice, one and one-half cups sugar.
Boil quickly about 10 minutes or until syrupy and clear. Make two glasses.

Sandwich Filling.
Combine one part anchovy orange juice with two parts cream cheese; beat to consistency of thick cream.

SO-CALLED "CAKE FLOUR"

Every miller knows that "cake flour" is made from high-grade soft wheat flour in packages.

Omega White Cake. Omega bakes this cake snow white. We have an excellent recipe that will be sent to you on receipt of a post card.

A higher price simply cannot buy a higher quality than Omega. Why pay more?

Why let this "Cake Flour Complex" double the cost of YOUR cakes?

Forget this notion that you need extra-expensive "cake flour" to bake your best cakes. It is NOT true.

Make this test and prove it: Bake your next cake with Omega. When you do, you can forget everything you have ever heard about "cake flour." For with Omega, you will have a cake that costlier "cake flour" can't beat for lightness, freshness, delicacy and flavor. And you will be saving almost 1/2 of the flour cost of every cake you bake.

Omega is just as truly "cake flour" as any flour labeled "cake flour." If we printed "cake flour" all over the package, it couldn't make the flour one bit finer in quality than it is. The selected soft wheat that goes into Omega is so fine that not 7% of all the wheat grown equals it in baking quality. Only the best portions of the choicest, plump wheat berries become the Omega that enters your kitchen.

From the day this golden wheat is brought to the mill until it leaves as flour, it lives in the same June day weather that ripened and mellowed it under sunny skies. To give Omega its extra fine quality we sift it to nearly 30 times the fineness of common flour through silk so fine that even water can't pass through it. Before Omega comes to you it is tested in oven and laboratory. As a result, Omega never varies. It always bakes its best. Why go on paying nearly twice as much for more expensive "cake flour"? Join the thousands of St. Louis housewives who have discovered Omega's quality and its economy. Ask your grocer for Omega in the new, convenient, 5 pound Handipak Package. One trial of Omega will convince you that quality in flour needn't mean the penalty of a higher price.

We warrant OMEGA Flour to be equal or superior in both food and baking qualities to the highest grade cake flour.

Home Economics BANANAS HAVE BEEN UNJUSTLY ACCUSED

Easily Digestible if Ripe; Rich in Three Vitamins.

We know that past attacks of "biliousness" coming from bananas were as much our own fault as from eating green apples. Bananas, just like any fruit, if eaten raw should be fully ripe. All suggestion of green at the tips should have disappeared and the skin a deep yellow slightly speckled with brown. In this condition, the flavor is delicately mellow and the fruit easily digestible. For cooking purposes, the slightly green fruit may be used with safety. Sealed by nature away from dirt, bacteria and insects in a neat package of its own, the banana is one of the most convenient fruits we have. It is ready for use with almost no preparation. It may even be sliced or cut up several hours in advance of serving without discoloration if proper precautions are taken. Just cover the fruit with a simple syrup made of 1 1/4 cups of sugar to one cup of water. Or if used in salad or fruit cup mix the bananas with the juice of the fresh fruits or with the syrup of the canned fruits, whichever is used.

Old Legend.
"Fruit of the wise men"—that's what "Musa Sapientum," the botanical name for the most common variety of bananas means. The name comes from a legend that says that the ancient sages of India reposed in the shade of the banana tree and refreshed themselves with the fruit. Even long ago bananas were known to be a good food. Science now tells us why they are valuable, not only for adults, but especially for children and infants.

Flavor alone would be reason enough for frequent use of bananas, but there are many other virtues to further recommend them. They are primarily a fuel food, being high in carbohydrates. In addition, they contain appreciable amounts of the essential minerals and are rich in vitamins A, B and C. So the modern version of the name might appropriately be shortened to "Fruit of the Wise."

Here are two ways of serving bananas which bring out their luscious flavor:

Banana Cream Pie.
One and one-third cups condensed milk.
One-half cup lemon juice.
Two tablespoons grated lemon rind.
Two bananas.
Blend thoroughly condensed milk, lemon juice and lemon rind and stir until mixture thickens.
Line a piepan (9-in.) with the following crust:

Corn Flake Pastry.
Four cups corn flakes.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One cup butter, melted.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
Put the corn flakes through a food grinder, using the fine cutting disk. This will make about one cup of fine crumbs. Mix with sugar, butter and cinnamon. Brush a piepan (9-in.) with butter and line bottom and sides with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

Fill crust with cream mixture and top with thinly sliced bananas. Cover with the following meringue:

Three egg whites.
Six tablespoons sugar.
Few grains salt.
One-fourth teaspoon vanilla.
Beat egg whites until they hold their shape, then add sugar gradually. Beat until stiff. Add vanilla. Spread on top of pie. Bake in slow oven for 20 minutes.

Banana Souffle.
One and one-fourth cups sugar.
One-fourth cup flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two cups milk.
Four egg yolks, well beaten.
One lemon, grated rind and juice.
One orange, grated rind and juice.
Three-fourths cup melted butter.
One-fourth cup butter, melted.
Four egg whites, well beaten.
Two bananas.
Combine dry ingredients, add milk, egg yolk, fruit juices and melted butter. Beat all together until mixture is smooth. Beat bananas into buttered casserole or pour souffle over. Place casserole in pan of hot water for baking. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees, then minutes at 300 degrees.

STRAWBERRY WAFFLES
One cup bread flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One tablespoon sugar
Two teaspoons baking powder
Two and one-half tablespoons shortening
One-half cup milk
One egg
Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening with knives until like coarse meal. Beat egg, add the milk and mix. Bake in waffle iron until crisp and brown. Serve with butter, crushed strawberries and whipped cream.

Strawberries and Marshmallows
One quart berries
One-half pint whipping cream
One-half lb. marshmallows
One cup sugar
Hull, wash and mash berries, add sugar and the marshmallows cut small pieces. Stand aside for 1 hour. When ready to serve dip in the whipped cream and serve waffles or short cake.

White Celery.
Celery may be kept crisp and white if the juice of half a lemon is added to cold water and the celery soaked in it for at least an hour before serving. The lemon acts as a bleach and whitens the vegetable.

RHUBARB IS GOOD FOR THE TIRED APPETITE

Peps Up Meals After Winter Fare Has Lost Its Charm.

Just about now, dad and the youngsters turn from one dish to another, nibble a little here and there, and generally worry mother, who tries to make meals appealing. Their appetites need pepping up and nothing is better than fresh rhubarb, which is quite plentiful in the shops now.

Grandmother used to count it among her spring tonics. Now it comes early, so it can be served immediately.

Rhubarb sauce is delicious, but there are other ways of preparing it, as the following recipes prove:

Two Rhubarb Fuddings.
Four tablespoons melted butter, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one quart fine, dry bread crumbs, cinnamon or nutmeg, one quart sweetened rhubarb sauce.

Mix the fat and salt with the crumbs. Place the rhubarb and the crumbs in alternate layers in a greased baking dish, and sift the cinnamon or nutmeg over the top. Bake the pudding in a moderate oven. This will require about 20 minutes.

One quart rhubarb cut in small pieces, two cups hot water, one-half cup quick-cooking tapioca, one and one-half cups sugar, one-half teaspoon salt.

Put the rhubarb, water and tapioca in the upper part of the double boiler. Cook over steam for 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add the sugar and salt and cook about five minutes longer, or until the tapioca is clear and the rhubarb is tender. Chill thoroughly before serving with plain or whipped cream.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Pie.
Two cups diced rhubarb, one cup sliced strawberries, one cup sugar, one tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca, boiling water pastry.

Blend fruits and sugar, having rhubarb cut into dice without peeling. Line pie plate with pastry, fill with sweetened fruits, sprinkling with tapioca. Cover with top crust and bake about half an hour. Begin baking at 400 degrees Fahrenheit, afterward reducing heat to about 350 degrees.

Rhubarb Jam.
Four pounds rhubarb, four pounds sugar, grated rind and juice one lemon.

If possible, select strawberry rhubarb because of its color. Wipe and cut into inch lengths, discarding any long strings but retaining pink skin as far as possible. Cover with sugar and let stand overnight. Add lemon rind and juice, bring to boiling point and cook gently one hour. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover with hot melted paraffin.

If desired, a few pieces of ginger root—preferably green—may be cooked with the fruit, but should be removed before turning jam into glasses.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS
Three and three-fourths cups flour.
One cup scalded milk.
One teaspoon salt.
Three-fourths cup sugar.
Two tablespoons shortening.
One yeast cake softened in one-fourth cup lukewarm water.
One egg.
One-half teaspoon grated nutmeg.

Add scalded milk to fat and salt. When lukewarm add the yeast. Add one and one-half cups flour. Allow sponge to stand in warm place until it is so light that it will fall at the slightest touch. Add the eggs, nutmeg, and remainder of flour, and knead. The dough should be softer than bread dough. Cover and set in a warm place to rise.

Toss on a lightly floured board and roll until three-fourth of an inch thick. Cut with a doughnut cutter and let rise. When frying put the raised side of the doughnut down in the fat. The heat will cause the top side to rise by the time the doughnut is ready to turn.

TOMATO CANAPE
Six rusks.
Two large tomatoes.
One tablespoon butter.
One teaspoon powdered sugar.
Two teaspoons dry mustard.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One hard cooked egg yolk.
Two tablespoons each of chopped green peppers, parsley and scraped onion.

One tablespoon vinegar.
Cut each tomato in three slices. Dredge in flour and saute in butter. Place a slice of tomato on each rusk which has been buttered and heated in the oven. On each canape place a ball of the sauce made as follows: Cream the butter, sugar, mustard, salt and cayenne, then rub in the mashed yolk of egg. Add to this mixture the finely chopped pepper, parsley and onion and moisten with the slightly warmed vinegar. Serve as the first course of a dinner or luncheon.

Pineapple and Tomato.
Select medium sized tomatoes. Cut the tops off to make an even opening. Scoop out part of the pulp and fill with crushed pineapple to which a little sugar has been added and in which the tomato pulp has been mixed. Set in a greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven until the tomatoes are tender. Serve with chops.

Economy Scrambled Eggs.
Allow three crackers and two tablespoons milk to each egg. Mix and scramble in hot butter. Four eggs will serve six.

SMOTHERED HAM
One slice ham.
Three sweet potatoes, sliced.
Two tablespoons sugar.
One cup hot water.
Brown the ham lightly on both sides and place in a baking dish. Spread the sliced sweet potatoes over the ham and sprinkle with the sugar. Add the hot water to the drippings, pour over the ham and sweet potatoes, cover, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the ham is tender. Baste occasionally with the gravy, toward the last remove the lid, and let the top brown.

SAVORY EGGS
One tablespoonful minced onion.
Two tablespoonfuls melted fat.
One tablespoonful minced parsley.
Two cupfuls tomato sauce.
One-half cupful sliced soft cheese.
Salt to taste.
Four eggs.
Cook the onion in the melted fat until golden brown. Add all other ingredients except the eggs, and stir constantly until the cheese is melted. Add the slightly beaten eggs, stir gently until eggs are set. Serve on buttered toast.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Two cupsful scalded milk.
One tablespoonful butter.
Two and one-half teaspoonfuls salt.
Two tablespoonfuls sugar.
One yeast cake softened in one-quarter cupful lukewarm water.
Six-seven cupsful sifted bread flour.
Put shortening, sugar and salt in bowl and pour on scalded milk. When lukewarm add softened yeast cake and enough flour to make a soft, smooth, elastic dough. Turn on floured bowl and knead until dough is elastic to touch and bubbles may be seen under the surface. Place in a greased bowl and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk.
Cut through dough several times with knife or punch down with finger tips and let rise again for about 45 minutes. Toss on slightly floured board, knead well, cut in two loaves, shape, and place in greased loaf pans. Allow to rise again until double in bulk and bake in moderate oven of 375 degrees F. for one hour. Remove loaves at once from pans and place on wire cooler. If crisp crust is desired allow to cool without covering.

VANILLA SAUCE FOR FRUIT GELATINES AND PUDDINGS

One cupful hot milk.
Two tablespoonfuls sugar.
Two egg yolks.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoonful vanilla.
Use a double boiler and be sure that water in the lower part does not boil.
Beat egg-yolks and add sugar and salt. Four the hot milk on this mixture and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Return to the double boiler and cook stirring, constantly until the mixture coats the spoon. Remove at once, cool and add vanilla.

Cottage Cheese Salad.
On individual salad plates, arrange crisp lettuce. In the center make a mound of cottage cheese, which has been mixed with cream, salt and pepper, place tomato in slices or quarters around the edge, and serve with salad dressing.

DRIED FRUITS AID IN CUTTING BUDGET

Counted Among the Protective Foods by Government Bureau.

Dried fruits and canned fruits are money savers and they are a good investment because they are protective foods. They supply some of the food values of fresh fruits, is the statement of the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Of the dried fruits, prunes, apricots and peaches are entitled to special mention. When fresh all three of these fruits are valuable for their content of vitamins A, B and C. Fresh apricots and peaches contribute some iron to the diet. Dried fruit is merely fresh fruit with water taken out. After drying, prunes, apricots and peaches retain their minerals and a considerable percentage of their vitamins.

Prunes retain a good proportion of their vitamin B also, and peaches and apricots retain much of their vitamin C if they are sulphured before drying as usual in the commercial drying process. It is in the cooking of dried fruit that some of the food values are most likely to be lost, the specialists say. To avoid this as far as possible, and at the same time to get the best flavor and texture, the bureau suggests: (1) Use dried fruit uncooked when you can; (2) if it is to be cooked, shorten the cooking time to allow the fruit merely to become plump and tender; (3) if the fruit is soaked, cook it in the soaking water; (4) serve the cooking water (or sirup) with the fruit.

Uncooked Dried Fruit.
Prunes and apricots can be used without cooking if put to soak in hot water and left until plump and tender. Dried peaches are best if cooked. Soaking the fruit before cooking reduces the cooking time, but it is not necessary to soak overnight. For serving as stewed fruit, the flavor and texture are better if the soaking time is much shorter. Different lots of fruit may require somewhat different treatment, but half an hour of soaking in hot water will be found sufficient, as a rule, for dried peaches, and an hour for prunes. Dried apricots need not be soaked at all. For puddings and whips, however, where pulp and juice are combined, the fruit may be soaked for several hours or overnight, in order to make the pulp go through the colander more easily.

Canned fruits, as well as dried fruits, retain considerable of the original vitamin content. Apricots, peaches and pineapple, among the cheaper canned fruits, are sources of vitamins A and C.

Combinations Good.
To make the most of the flavor of dried or canned fruits, the Bureau of Home Economics suggests combinations with rice, with hominy or shortcake. For a simple, all-fruit dessert, dried prunes and apricots cooked together are an excellent combination. As a prune variation, a relish may be made by simmering the prunes in a spiced sirup, to which vinegar has been added.

Raisins, of course, have countless uses—with oatmeal or whole wheat at breakfast, in sauce with ham, in cookies and cakes of many kinds, as well as in puddings and pies.

Prune and Apricot Pie.
One-half pound prunes.
One-half pound apricots.
Two cups water.
Two tablespoonfuls cornstarch.
One-half cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon butter or other fat.

Soak the prunes and apricots, drain and save the juice. Remove the seeds from the prunes and cut the fruit slightly. To the fruit juice add the cornstarch, sugar and salt and cook for a few minutes. Add the fruit and cook until it is heated through. Pour the mixture into a deep pie pan lined with pastry. Dot the top with fat. Cover with a layer of pastry dough. Bake about 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Sprinkle with powdered sugar while hot and serve the pie hot or cold.

Jellied Prunes.
One-half pound dried prunes, cooked and pitted.
Two tablespoonfuls gelatin.
One-half cup cold water.
One cup sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth cup lemon juice.

Heat the prune juice, and if necessary add water to make two cups. Meantime soften the gelatin in the cold water and add with the sugar and salt to the hot fruit juice; stir until dissolved and then set aside to chill. Cut the prunes into small pieces and when the gelatin mixture has partly set, stir in the prunes and lemon juice and put in a cold place for three or four hours or until set. Serve plain or with milk or cream.

Three-fourths pound prunes.
One and one-half cups water.
One-half cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon lemon juice or more.
Three egg whites.
Cook the prunes in the water, add the sugar and salt and press through a colander. Add the lemon juice and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of eggs.

CUTLET IN BATTER
One slice veal cutlet.
One-half cup flour.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One egg.

Have veal cutlet cut about one-half inch thick and pound it with the dull edge of a knife until it is thin. The pounding will also help make it tender. Cut the meat in pieces for serving. Mix and sift the flour, salt and baking powder, add the milk gradually, then the well-beaten egg. Dip the cutlet in this batter and fry it in deep hot fat until browned. The fat should be heated to 350 degrees F. or until it is hot enough to brown a cube of bread in one minute. Drain the meat on paper and serve with tomato sauce.

TOMATO COCKTAIL
Two cupsful strained, canned or fresh tomatoes.
Two teaspoonfuls finely chopped onion.
Four teaspoonfuls finely chopped green pepper.
One teaspoonful salt.
One and one-half teaspoonfuls Worcestershire sauce.
Speck pepper.
One teaspoonful celery salt.

If fresh tomatoes are used, peel and press them through potato ricer. Combine all of the ingredients, chill thoroughly and serve in sherbet glasses.

Asparagus on Toast.
Wash asparagus well, scrape off the little scales with a knife to remove all sand, and trim off the tough lower ends. Leave the stalks whole or cut into two-inch pieces. Drop into a small quantity of lightly salted boiling water, simmer for from 15 to 20 minutes, drain, and arrange neatly on thin slices of buttered toast. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour melted butter or other fat over the top, and serve at once.

Vinegar and Smoke.
Try a dish of vinegar as a smoke humidifier next time you have a crowd of people smoking in one of your rooms. It lessens the eye strain and makes the room much less stuffy.

INVESTIGATING DEATHS BY POISONOUS SERUM

Kansas City Hospital Destroys Its Supply—Injections Fatal to Two Children.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 3.—A careful examination of the methods of preparing serum at the General Hospital will be made immediately in an effort to determine how a supply of measles serum recently was turned into virulent poison through infiltration of streptococci.

Dr. James N. Jackson, Director of Health, said today that unless a cure could be found to be absolutely sure the serum would not be poisoned, the practice would be discontinued.

Following the deaths of Edward Tighman Connell, 3 years old, and Rosalie Thornton Gill, 2, early this week from measles serum into which streptococci had entered, there was a close examination of the persons and equipment at the hospital where the serum was made.

"I do not see," said Dr. Jackson, how those connected with the making of the serum could have done the work differently. They followed every accepted practice and observed every rule of sanitation in handling the fluids.

"But we are not through investigating. I am going to call together four or five leading physicians of Kansas City as soon as I can arrange a meeting. We will go into it again and we will see what can be done to guarantee against repetition."

"Until that group's findings are completed, we can do no more than destroy the serum we have on hand, which has been done."

Dr. Frank C. Neff, the physician who gave the children who later died, injections of the serum, said last night it was the first time in his experience, either in practice or in reading medical records, where such a serum resulted in blood poisoning or death.

The condition of Carolyn Mayo Gill, 5-year-old sister of Rosalie Thornton Gill, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild Gill, was reported today at the Bell Memorial Hospital to be somewhat improved. The child is dangerously ill as the result of an injection Saturday of the measles serum.

INVESTIGATION OF UTILITY HOLDING COMPANIES ASSURED

Senate Approves House Resolution to Obtain Information as Basis of New Laws.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A congressional investigation of public utility holding companies in the next Congress was assured today by Senate approval of a House resolution.

The resolution, offered by Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, and speedily agreed to, provides that members of the Senate and House Interstate Commerce Committee together shall continue the investigation begun by the House Committee during the present Congress.

The purpose of the inquiry is given as "obtaining information necessary as a basis for legislation." The committee will have full power to subpoena witnesses, and is authorized to investigate the control and financing of interstate public utility corporations, except railroads.

BERLIN, March 3.—Five persons were killed and many injured in political clashes today at Hamburg, Bernburg, Duesseldorf, Hoechst, Kassel and Bremen.

At Hamburg a 70-year-old bystander was fatally wounded when Communists fired into a parade of National Socialists. A member of the Reichsbanner died of wounds received in a clash with National Socialists.

At Duesseldorf a Communist was killed; at Hoechst a National Socialist was killed and three members of the Reichsbanner wounded.

At Bernburg a laborer was killed in a fight with National Socialists.

STENOGRAPHER HAD BORROWED ROOSEVELT'S MISSING SPEECH

President-Elect Finds Acceptance Address Which He Lost at Chicago Last June.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The original of President-elect Roosevelt's acceptance speech—written on his airplane ride to Chicago last June, and missing since the day he delivered it—has been found.

Mr. Roosevelt recently wired anybody he could recall who might have come into possession of it at Chicago. He received this telegram yesterday from the stenographic company that made a transcript of the convention proceedings: "Roosevelt manuscript located. Register mail to you tonight."

The stenographer borrowed the manuscript to verify her copy.

DIVORCED WIFE IDENTIFIES BODY OF MAN SHOT TO DEATH

Pistol Found Beside It in Woods; Rudolph Bopplich Had Been Despondent.

The body of a man, with a bullet wound in the head and a revolver nearby, found in a clump of weeds at 3800 South Main street yesterday, was identified as the corpse of Rudolph Bopplich, 33 years old, a laborer, 3805 South Broadway.

Identification was made by Bopplich's divorced wife, Bernadine, who lives in St. Louis County with a son, Rudolph Bopplich Jr. Mrs. Bopplich said she saw her former husband a week ago, and he was despondent at that time. Residents of the South Main street neighborhood told police they heard a shot Wednesday night.

"AND where," continued Jody, "did you get my purse?" With sudden anxiety she opened it and rummaged in its contents. "Alas, no name," lamented Paul. "I thought of that, too."

"But how did you get it?" "You really want to know?" "Naturally I do."

"Being of a very yielding, confiding disposition—I wish that trait were shared by some people I can name—I'll tell you. As I was working busily away—by the way, Cinderella, you should see me work now! Really work, I mean—whom should I look up and see but my fairy godmother?"

"Oh, my fairy godmother!" Jody was startled. "Well, old lady, isn't she?" continued Paul. Jody looked at him searchingly. Had he seen . . . "She said you had left your purse behind, and were wandering through this great city with no money and no face powder. Imagine my distress! Your godmother had just received an urgent call from another godchild over in China, so she asked if I would get the purse to you."

"Of course, I said I'd be delighted, so she loaned me your very own pumpkin coach, and here I am, a little breathless, but happy to be of service." Paul's eyes were dancing with so much mischief that Jody decided he had no clue to her identity after all.

"So that's your story!" "And I'll stick to it. But I might point out that you should carry something in your purse, by which to identify you. There might be an accident—you never can tell."

Jody was remembering that her name had been in the purse—now it was gone. And how on earth had Paul got this purse? She would have sworn it was at home.

With Paul, however, she maintained her airy manner. "Pumpkin coaches don't have accidents, Prince Paul. Didn't you observe how careful my mouse coachman was?"

"The prince stuff," said Paul, "is out. I'm down from my tower now, except during business hours. And it seems to me about time that I had some other name for you besides Cinderella. J. L.—let me see—Jennifer Little, how's that?"

"Why was it, Jody wondered, that she should feel so much more at home with this stranger from another sphere than she did with the young men of her own class? It seemed the most natural thing in the world to be sitting here, exchanging banter with him. She considered Jennifer Little. "It's a nice name," she decided. "Much nicer than my own."

"I don't believe you're a fairy judge. Let me decide that." "Have you forgotten what I told you in the tower? I can't tell you my name or anything about me. We can't be friends down on the earth, truly we can't."

"Why not? The only difference I can see is that you're on the earth, by daylight, you're prettier. The sunshine does such things to your hair."

"You mustn't talk like that, Mr. Grafton . . . " "Paul,"

"Paul, you mustn't talk like that. Was herself she was trying to convince, though, not Paul.

But this new, vital, vigorous Paul was not easily to be convinced. "I come here bursting with good news," he said in an injured tone, "and what do I get but the old hokum? Aren't you interested in my career at all, any more?"

"I'm crazy about your career. Tell me."

"I'm to go on a mission for—guess. Not the President of the United States, not the King of England, nothing to be swelled up about that—the Grafton company! Think of it. Tonight I leave for Oklahoma to conduct a secret investigation of my own, along my own lines. I have to boast a little to you, because you started all this, and theoretically, at least, you ought to take a little pride in the advancement of your prince."

"That's not boasting. That's only the recognition due genius. Tell me more."

So Paul told her as much as he could without being guilty of breach of faith. As he talked, all of Jody's doubts and fears dissolved. What harm could there be in sharing this great adventure, this struggle for his rights, with Paul, as far as he wished her to? Fate, in bringing them together thus by accident, had stiller her objections.

At the end of his recital, Paul covered her hand quite simply with his and said, "And when I come back, I want you to have dinner with me the first night and let me tell you about the whole thing, whether it means something or whether it doesn't. Will you?"

"You'll have to tell me your name now, so I can get in touch with you," Paul reminded her, "and would it be a criminal offense for me to write a letter to you?"

Josephine hesitated a long time. Tell him where she lived she could not, for many reasons. But there was no harm, she decided, in telling her name. He couldn't trace her very well from that, since she was not listed in the directory.

Paul, watching her anxiously, was relieved to see her smile at him at last. "All right, so far as the name goes, that is. It's Josephine Lasca—no nearly so nice as Jennifer Little, you see. But you can't write to me, for I simply cannot give you my address, and you must promise to ask me no questions."

CHAPTER ELEVEN.

Little Trinkets
To Give Husbands

BEGIN HERE:
JOSEPHINE LASCA, "Jody," has been married with the idea that she must make a good marriage. Her sister mothers, KIM and HANNAH, who work for a living, are advised only by a desire to provide well for the beautiful girl whom fate has placed in the hands of a husband. Jody has fulfilled their wishes as far as she can.

Mr. Paul wouldn't be allowed to marry her, she says, he wanted to. And she isn't going to let him fall in love with her and be hurt. Jody shows kindness to JIM WALTERS, the young mechanic who has been the favorite in the marriage household. But she cannot give up her lovely plan, and continues so that the fire shall smolder safely by accident.

Now continue with the story.

"But, how then . . . " "What's the fairy godmother for?" Jody inquired triumphantly. "She will tell me when you return . . ."

"And you will give me a ring!" Paul finished eagerly. "It's a bargain—you wouldn't go back on me, would you?"

"Did I ever?" "And is this fairy godmother absolutely reliable? I don't want any slip up on this. Is she guaranteed to inform you the minute I'm back?"

"Well, the next minute. Provided you don't pry into her identity. If you did that, she'd fly away, and neither one of us would ever see her again. And now I have to run." Jody wondered where Aunt Em was, and so that Paul might not see them together, determined to go back home. "Good luck in Oklahoma—down with the ministers and wicked!"

"Oh, they're shaking in their boots this minute! Good-by—until next time."

"WHY, what are you doing here?" asked Jody in amazement when she opened the door to find that and beheld Em first thing. "You were to come back to the park, but it was a good thing you didn't, because"—and then comprehension came to her.

"So Paul met my fairy godmother?" her tone changed to irony. "And he had a purse I lost. Lost! I knew all the time I left it in my vanity drawer. Aunt Em, you did it. Don't deny it, I know you did."

"Don't be mad at me, Jody. Em implored. "I did it for Mr. Paul—he looked that miserable."

Jody flew across the room, threw her arms about Em's neck and squeezed until even that rugged lady gasped for breath.

"Bless you, darling, bless you!" cried Josephine.

No more questionings now for Josephine. She danced about the flat gaily in spite of the heat and had never looked so pretty.

"Go, you act happy these days," Jim Walters said, sitting out on the step with her one evening after the library had closed. "Did you come into a fortune?"

Josephine hugged her knees. "No. Just happy."

She hardly thought of Jim Walters, except when she was in his actual presence. She was very busy improving herself now, watching her clothes, her speech and her manner in an effort to maintain a certain level of elegance, and she couldn't quite make up her mind how to act with Jim. Full of a passionate desire to attain perfection in these matters, it annoyed her to drop back deliberately while talking with Jim. But she was afraid he would be hurt or perhaps annoyed if she departed from the vernacular to which he was accustomed.

"Say, you'd rather go to that library than to a show, wouldn't you?" Jim remarked.

"Rather go there than dance?" "Not than a real good dance, with a swell floor and orchestra. I love that better than most anything, I guess."

"Reminds me, my union's planning a real swell dance. You'll go, won't you, Jody?" "When it?"

"Oh, not for a couple of months." "All right. I'd love to, I guess." Jody spoke self-consciously, "you think I spend an awful lot of time over books, don't you, Jim?"

"Oh, I ain't kidding. I reckon a girl has to do something to pass away the time—before she gets married."

Jody changed the subject hastily. (Continued Tomorrow).

Western Salad

One and one-half cups stewed prunes cut into small pieces, one cup diced pineapple, one cup chopped celery, one-half cup nut meat, one tablespoon lemon juice, one cup mayonnaise. Mix ingredients together and serve quite cold on lettuce leaves.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 2. ANY way you look at it, Sir Guy Standing waited rather a long time to become active in pictures.

It was 19 years ago that he signed his first movie contract, and it was only the other day that he stepped before a camera for the first time. He is not, of course, working under the agreement made in an earlier day of pictures, in the little New York office of Adolph Zukor, head of Famous Players. But it is at Paramount, corporate descendant of Zukor's early concern, that he makes his debut in "The Story of Temple Drake."

When he signed with Zukor he had no idea that war was soon to break. A month later, war seemed imminent. A reserve officer in the British Navy, he lost no time in conferring with Zukor, who agreed to forget the contract for a few months—"until the war is over."

STANDING called the next day, Aug. 4, 1914, the day England and Germany went to war. He came out of the conflict Sir Guy Standing, a Knight Commander of the British Empire—the only actor awarded the knighthood for war service.

And he forgot about pictures, retired to private life in business, and thought his long acting career was over. But five years ago he returned, to star and co-star with such actresses as Ethel Barrymore and Jane Cowl.

Sir Guy today is the embodiment of what every man would like to be in his fifties—a striking, polished figure of a man's man. Tall, lean, athletic, he is bronzed and ruddy from outdoor life. Silver hair and a trim line of mustache enhance a distinguished appearance. Democratic dignity, geniality, warm good humor and brilliant conversation round out the picture.

BEGINNING in London as a boy, Sir Guy really built his theatrical fame in America. He starred and went cold in New York, worked at railroad building in Idaho, and toured the nation's small towns.

Now that he is in the movies at last, he seems destined to stay. In his case a three-year contract probably will mean something.

Where the Knot Should Be. If the knot is placed on the right side of the material under the button, the thread is less likely to become loose and the buttons to come off.

Potato Pancakes. Nice for the next-day's luncheon. One cup mashed potatoes left from the night before, one cup sweet milk, one egg, a little salt, flour enough to thicken. Bake on a greased griddle until brown on both sides. Serve piping hot with plenty of butter. The kiddies like a sweet jam along with these.

Ribbons That Enliven Your Frocks

two ways to renew a dated frock . . . a cape of shirred taffeta ribbon, and a new arrangement of wide ribbon to form a bodice.

THE cape of shirred taffeta ribbon requires one-half yard of net and about eight yards of shirred taffeta ribbon. A half circle is cut of the net and three ruffles of the ribbon sewed around in the manner indicated in the sketch. A two-yard length is sewn about the neck to tie neatly at the front.

An extremely décolleté bodice may be added to a simple evening frock by using four yards of nine-inch velvet or satin ribbon. It is adjusted at the front in a slanting manner with the two lower points crossing to form a double-breasted effect and two buttons added. The two upper points form the top of the bodice and a narrower band of ribbon adjusts it about the neck. The ribbon strips are then brought about to the back, tied at the waistline and the long ends left to extend gracefully almost to the floor. By using a bright scarlet ribbon on a white gown a very striking effect may be achieved.

Blue Tones Named
For Roosevelts
Become Popular

NEW YORK. MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT's flair for blue has started what looks like a national craze. That soft grayish azure blue that has been named in her honor Eleanor blue seems to be sweeping the country.

And there's no doubt about it—it's a nice color. It's not so deep nor so definite as Alice blue, that color named after another Roosevelt in the White House. It has the faintest hint of lavender about it, and for people with blue eyes it's a sure fire hit.

Then there is another blue, named for Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter, Anna Roosevelt Day, that you'll be seeing in spring suits and coats and hats and dresses any minute now. It's called Anna blue, and it's a vibrant tone slightly lighter than navy.

Eleanor blue is lovely in the soft, heavy sheers that they are using in so many evening gowns. It needs no trimming, and is best draped simply, on somewhat classic lines.

It's attractive too, in the new soft tweeds, for coats, suits or dresses. That grayish blue in a diagonal tweed knit is about as decorative a costume as you could select. A suit of it, with a straight three-quarter box coat and a belted skirt, is something to write home about. Especially when you use accessories of navy or Anna blue—Straw sailor, calf handbag and shoes, slip-on blue kid gloves.

The navy blue and the Anna blue which is similar, is the big news of the early spring fashion headlines. It's being used for spring coats, for street dresses, for hats, shoes and what not.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN by Mary Graham Bonner

No Ghosts.
"H. don't stop!" cried some of the little squeaky voices as the trooped an enormous family of mice.
"Play that waltz tune again, cried some of the mice. 'We're the waltzing mice cousins, and you know we love waltzing better than anything!'
The animals and Willy Nilly were so astonished that they began to play without asking any questions, and the waiting mice cousins walked around and around and never became dizzy.
"What in the world does this mean?" Willy Nilly finally asked. "We'll tell you," said one of the mice. "This nearby village was a terrible one for cats, and you know—or at least the news must have reached you—that mice do not like cats."
"It seems to me I have heard that somewhere," Willy Nilly smiled.
"When the people moved out of this house there were some of the others to come, for our fine old Leader Mouse had a great idea. Tell them about it, Leader Mouse. An old gray mouse, with whiskers, began to speak in his squeaky voice.
"I have been around a good deal, and I have noticed that talk of a haunted house and ghosts give people the shivers. People are often exceedingly foolish.
"Well, a good deal of food was left behind by the people who had lived here and I thought we could make this a fine home for mice if we could only get the idea around that it was a haunted house. They knew, we would not be disturbed. 'How did you manage it?' asked Willy Nilly.
And Leader Mouse told him.

Opera Today;
Ponselle, Tibbett, Zimbalist on KSD.
FRIEDA LIEBER, as Isolde; Laurits Melchior, as Tristan; Maria Olaszewski, as Brangane; Ludwig Hoffman, as King Mark; and Friedrich Schorr, as Kurvenal, will sing the chief roles in the Metropolitan Opera performance of "Tristan and Isolde," with which the Wagner Cycle will conclude today. The broadcast, beginning at 12:45 noon, may be tuned on WSM (850 kc) or WSB (740). KSD will carry it from 2:15 to 3 o'clock.
Five minutes of an Echoes of Erin recital by Joe White will open KSD's late afternoon broadcasting. Then will come the Lady Next Door, at 3:45; the Valentine Tidings concert, at 4 o'clock; the Flying Family, at 4:30; the Concert Echoes and Mae Questel's string orchestra, from 4:45 to 5:30; Mae Questel in a "Betty Boop" program, at 5:30; and "Once Upon a Time," from 5:45 to 6 o'clock.
Jessica Dragonette, the Cavaliers and Rosario Bourdon's orchestra will be on KSD from 7 to 7:30, giving up the latter half of their hour to a "pre-inauguration concert" by Rosa Ponselle and Lawrence Tibbett of the Metropolitan Opera; Efram Zimbalist, the famous violinist, and the National Symphony Orchestra, led by Hans Kindler. This concert is scheduled for a full hour.
Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is to make her final talk on the Leo Reisman orchestra program at 8:30. A change of personnel is announced for the Big Six of the Air program set for 9 o'clock, which has featured Al Jolson and Silver's orchestra. Last Friday night was Jolson's last on the air in this series. Tonight, Jack Benny, Mary Livingston, James Melton, Edith Evans and Frank Black's orchestra are filled.
At 9:30, KSD will carry the second episode in the "Neighbors" sketches of small town life by Zona Gale.
Anson Weeks, Harold Stern and Ted Weems' orchestra and Hollywood on the Air are scheduled for the periods after 10 o'clock.
Leopold Stokowski will lead the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in a concert over KMOX at 1:30 this afternoon. Music by Schumann, Chasins and Wagner is programmed, with Abram Chasins playing his own piano concerto.
From 8:30 tomorrow morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon there will be little on KSD, KWK and KMOX, but inauguration broadcasts. All three networks have made the most elaborate of preparations to "cover" everything of importance that happens during the inaugural ceremonies. J. L. S.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 4.
A STRONG day for vibrations between man and women; don't yield to them unless you are sure all is for the best in a constructive way. Avoid experiments with finances prior to mid-afternoon. Evening: socially doubtful.
The Witness in Stone.
It is said that the book of Revelations is the key to the pyramid, and vice versa. We read of "The Witness in Stone." This undoubtedly refers to the pyramids as having occult significance. See Joshua 24, 27: "And Joshua said unto all the people, behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us; for it hath heard all the words of the Lord." There are those who see here a hidden statement that in the pyramid is to be found "all the words of the Lord," that is, all knowledge about man's creation, existence and destiny on this planet. Joshua, the ordained successor to Moses, the great law giver. What more fitting than that those laws be protected against the vandals of time in enduring masonry? And were Moses and Joshua but symbols, too?
Your Year Ahead.
Your hope of success lies entirely in what you know and are able to do about it. The year ahead, if this is your birthday, gives you many opportunities to learn through other people. That is where we all must pick up the ball and run for the touchdown ourselves; after we learn, we must apply what we know. Go to it. Danger: Oct. 21 to 28; and Feb. 16 to March 4, 1934.
Tomorrow.
Better for pleasure and relaxation than for worry and scheming.

Chocolate Fudge
Two cups sugar, one cup milk, two squares chocolate, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup nuts.
Mix sugar, milk, chocolate and butter. Boil gently, stirring frequently until soft ball forms when portion is tested in cup of cold water.
Remove from stove and let stand 20 minutes. Add vanilla and beat until thick and creamy. Add nuts. Pour onto buttered pan. When firm cut into squares.
Worth the Trouble
If you want the blanket-stitching to be particularly even, the best way is to take a ruler and dot with a pencil each place you wish the stitches. Then you cannot go wrong.
A piece of orange skin placed on the top of the rags will take away heavy fragrant odors and give a pleasing fragrance throughout the house or apartment.

WANTED . . . FOUR SUPPORTS!

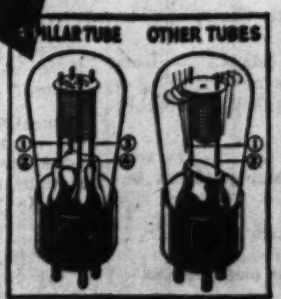

Imagine trying to eat a meal at a two-legged table, on a two-legged chair! Something would be lacking—balance! Chairs and tables need four-square support for firm balance. So do radio tubes. And Eveready Raytheon Tubes are the only tubes with 4-pillar support.

IN A big majority of cases, the cause of poor reception, noises, uneven tone, is—defective tubes! The jolts and jars to which they have been subjected, the constant vibration of the dynamic speaker, have upset the delicate balance of their vital elements—due to lack of proper support!

Eveready Raytheon Tubes have 4-pillar support—for protection against tube damage through knocks and vibration. Eveready Raytheons are the only tubes on the market with patented four-pillar protection. All other tubes have only two pillars.

You pay no more for Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes. And in the long run you save—on accurate performance, long life. Insure the pleasure you get from your radio. Equip it with Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes! Your dealer will demonstrate.

U. S. SENATE REPRESENTED IN INAUGURAL PARADE

Above telephoto shows one of the gorgeous floats that will be in tomorrow's historical Inaugural Parade. This float represents the Dignity of the Senate. To make the presentation realistic the lady will be just a little wobbly. A symbolic figure, representing the junior Senator from Louisiana, will strut in front of the float and sprinkle banana peels.

A march arranged by Mr. Woodin, head of the American Car & Foundry Company, will be the official music for the inaugural parade at the request of the President-elect.

That's one way to answer critics who said Mr. Roosevelt was unfriendly to big business.

Of course, it is nothing new for a big business man to think up the music to which Washington dances.

It might have been more appropriate to let Wall Street decide the official music. Something like "Snuggle Up a Little Closer."

DOWNTOWN INAUGURAL SALES DAY

SATURDAY, MARCH 4

It's a Dramatic Day Throughout the nation ... and a Day That Will Go Down In the Business History of St. Louis!

Let's get business off to a flying start! Brush aside all other engagements. Let nothing take precedence over your attendance at this memorable event.

Additional street cars will be in operation Saturday to help transport the crowds.

Get a 9 a. m. start in your shopping ... and make a full day of it. Stores will be open till 6 p. m. Saturday.

Participating Stores Will Unveil Their WINDOWS
Today (Friday)
at 4:30 p. m.

Come downtown for the curtain raising ... and bring the family with you to make a tour of the windows late this afternoon or this evening.

SOME INAUGURATING is going to be done right here in this City. Downtown members of the Associated Retailers of St. Louis, the majority of them, have joined hands to USHER IN an unforgettable Celebration ... a Sales Day of supreme savings ... a Day that may start the prosperity ball a-rolling. Every participating store is featuring special offerings that should prompt St. Louisans to turn out in vast throngs. These stores have gone the limit to make this a time when Pent-Up Dollars can be Spent Up profitably.

Buy something...somewhere! Your every need for the incoming Spring season can be satisfied at thrilling savings. And consider this! An army of additional employees has been added to the sales staffs. Your purchases will not only quicken the pulse of business for the retail stores but for the manufacturers as well. In other words, the INAUGURAL DAY SALES will be good for you and good for St. Louis.

The advertisements in this section present just a fraction of the countless special offerings. Look for the Inauguration Day Sales signs in the windows and in the departments.

FLYERS WHO PLAN WORLD FLIGHT TO BE GUESTS HERE
Rosa Mahachek and William Solberg to Advertise Chicago World's Fair.

Rosa Mahachek and William Solberg, former Lambert-St. Louis Field flyers, who are planning a round-the-world flight in connection with the Chicago world's fair, will be the guests of local aviation enthusiasts tomorrow.

Mahachek and Solberg, former navy pilots, were instructors in the Universal Aviation School here several years ago. They will attempt to break the round-the-world record of Post and Gatty, beginning and ending their journey at Chicago. They will fly a Lockheed-Sikorski plane equipped with pontoons and plan to make eight stops.

Arrangements for entertaining the visitors are being completed by a committee made up of members of the Chamber of Commerce Air Board and Lambert Field personnel. The flyers will arrive by air, but not in their own plane.

Library Displays Relics Found in Donated Books

They Range From Locks of Hair to Letters by the Earl of Mar and Birthday Card Sent Bishop Tuttle.

Souvenirs of the days when women wore bustles and it was quite the thing on a Sunday afternoon to pedal out toward the West End on a bicycle built for two are on display at Central Public Library.

All of the articles, including letters that belonged to the late Bishop Tuttle and several epistles from the Earl of Mar, were found in books donated to the library during the last 10 years, many of them from libraries of St. Louisans representing a collection of nearly 100 years.

They range from documents to a bit of faded lace, from valentines to hallroom programs when the polka was all the rage. Carefully preserved locks of hair are numerous, while pressed flowers were found in many old volumes.

One of the letters to Bishop Tuttle, with a notation of reply in his handwriting, is a request of the Historical Library of the State of Montana for a picture of its first Missionary Bishop. And there is a card, written in old-fashioned script, thought to be from his mother. It bears the inscription:

"A loving remembrance of thy sixty-fifth birthday, with a mother's love."

The letters from the Earl of Mar, bearing a crest, written in 1876, were found in an old genealogy.
Still plain is the penmanship in an essay of 1848 on "Effects of Political Institutions on the Happiness of a people."

BEETHOVEN'S "PASTORAL" ON SYMPHONY PROGRAM
Conductor Golschmann to Direct First Presentation Here of Fer-rand's "Crowds," Also.

Beethoven's "Pastoral" symphony will be the principal work presented at concerts of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at the Odeon this afternoon and tomorrow night.
It is offered for the first time here since Vladimir Golschmann became conductor of the orchestra. The program includes a first presentation here of "Crowds" by the young French composer, P. O. Ferrand.

The program:
Overture to Fidelio, No. 4, Opus 72—Beethoven Symphony in F Major, No. 6, "Pastoral," Opus 68—Beethoven
I. The Awakening of Joyful feelings upon arrival in the country (allergo manus tropae).
II. The Brook (cantabile molto mosso).
III. Village Festival (allegro).
IV. The Storm (allergo).
V. Shepherd's Song: glad and thankful feelings after the storm. Al-legretto. Third, fourth and fifth movements played without pause.)
Fidelio (Credo)—Ferrand
Overture, Russian Dance—Rimsky-Korsakov

FARM PRICES GO LOWER

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Farm prices declined two per cent from January to February, sending them to the lowest averages since the Department of Agriculture began charting their course.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today farm prices averaged 49 per cent of the pre-war level of 1910 to 1914 during the month, compared with 51 per cent in January. Grain is at the lowest level compared with pre-war prices averaging only 34 per cent of the prices paid from 1909 to 1914. Fruits and vegetables declined from 59 per cent of the pre-war level to 57 per cent from January to February. Meat and animal products one of the few increases, rising 2 per cent. Dairy products dropped from 68 per cent to 62 per cent while chickens and eggs fell from 96 to 97.

The sentiment of a youth of the long ago is evidenced in a worn bit of ruled paper headed "Valentine's Eve 1879" and bearing the penned legend "I love you!"

A day before the radio was ever heard of is reflected in an advertisement of "piano fortes, organs and melodians" and informing the musical public that a new song "My Darling Dwells Over the Sea" had just been issued.

Too, there is a handbill calling attention to the "Second Grand Pastor Concert" at Philharmonic Hall on May 23, 1898, featuring "Senor-ita Josefina Filomeno, the wonderful Chilean violinist and pianist."

Of sterner import is a warrant issued in 1869 in Montgomery County, Alabama, for "Keeping a barroom without a license." The Sheriff's name is there, in faded letters, and yesterday an old woman who passed by the case exclaimed:
"Why, I knew that Sheriff!"

Other legal documents are included in the collection while the religious atmosphere of the times is evidenced in carefully woven bookmarks bearing such legends as "The Bible Our Chart," "Home," and "Love Me Still." Old Sunday School picnic programs are numerous.

And there is an elaborately engraved certificate representing four shares in the "Bank of Merit" and pointing out that "God offers relaxation—any teacher also—they both encourage me."

FEDERAL DEFICIT FOR EIGHT MONTHS $1,360,279,739
Public Debt Increases From $18,- 125,633,115 to $20,954,739,999 in Year.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The latest Treasury statement showed the Government completed eight months of the present fiscal year with a $1,360,279,739 deficit. During the eight months ending with Feb. 28, the Government collected from all sources $1,250,203,197 and spent $2,610,482,936.

Receipts were approximately $84,000,000 less than in the same period of the previous year and the expenditures approximately $90,000,000 less than in the same period a year ago.

At the end of February the gross public debt amounted to $20,934,- 729,209, as compared with $18,125,- 633,115 on Feb. 28, 1932.

Income tax collections for the eight months were $333,332,023, as compared with $668,121,342 last year.
Customs duties dropped off from $267,761,579 to $172,445,281. Miscellaneous internal revenue collections, however, reflected the increase of the billion-dollar tax bill, amounting to $221,373,435, as compared with $245,964,515 in the same period last year.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH REGISTRATION LOSS AT WASHINGTON U.

Decrease of 228 in Degree-Conferring Schools for Second Semester.

Registration for the second semester at Washington University decreased 228 under the first semester, according to figures given out today. The total for this semester is 3016 as compared to 3244 last semester.

Although this semester's figure is 44 under that for the second semester last year, the first semester's total this year exceeded that of the first semester of 1932 by 27. Enrollment for the entire year, therefore, will be about what it was in 1932.

Major losses this semester are 116 in the College of Liberal Arts, 40 in the School of Engineering, 20 in the School of Business and Public Administration, 19 in the School of Graduate Studies, and 10 each in the School of Architecture and School of Law.

The School of Fine Arts, which confers no degrees, had an increase of 10 students this semester and Mary Institute had an increase of three. Students in the School of Nursing who are not candidates for degrees decreased 15 and students in extension classes of University College decreased 506.

HOthouse SALADS IN ARCTIC
Soviet State Farm on Kola Peninsula Grows Vegetables.

LENINGRAD, March 3.—Cucumbers and radishes grown under glass for phosphate miners beyond the Arctic circle is the latest Soviet enterprise in the far north.

Up on the Kola peninsula bordering on the White Sea a dairy and vegetable state farm is supplying the tables of Khabarovsk, center of important apatite deposits. The farm this year will cultivate 675 acres and will grow salad material in two hothouses and 100 hotbeds.

BUFORD PROPOSES CITY OWNED POWER PLANT REGULATION

Measure Might Bar Those Privately Served Under Franchise From Getting Permit to Build.

AUTHOR CALLS IT 'DEMOCRATIC RELIEF'

It Would Replace Public Service Board With New Body and Provide Many Jobs.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 3.—The Buford bill to reorganize the State Public Service Commission, introduced as an "economy measure," and described by its author at a hearing as a provision for "Democratic relief," has been found on examination seemingly to require the consent of the commission for the construction of municipal electric light.

There is a question of the power of the Legislature to restrict municipalities in the construction and operation of their own utility plants, even if that were the purpose of the bill. The bill requires municipalities to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity before constructing a municipal electric plant.

"Democratic Relief." As a "Democratic relief" measure, the bill would abolish the present Public Service Commission and the Oil Inspection and Grain and Warehouse Inspection departments, and create a new commerce commission to take over the functions of all these. This would give the present Democratic administration immediate control of all the jobs involved.

The bill was introduced by Senator Carter Buford and has been reported by the Committee on Consolidations, of which Senator Buford is chairman, without consideration. Only a perfunctory hearing was held, at which Senator Buford described its merits as a provider of jobs for Democrats. It contains nearly 200 printed pages.

Might Bar Some City Plants. Several Missouri municipalities have obtained lower electric rates by building, or threatening to build, their own plants. Under strict interpretation on the Buford bill a city desiring to build its own plant, when a private company with an unexpired franchise was serving it, might not receive a certificate of convenience and necessity.

The present Public Service Commission law enacted in 1913 contemplates regulation of rates of municipal utilities, except waterworks, by the commission, but the Supreme Court has held that part of the act invalid because of a defect in the title.

The Buford bill undertakes to place all utilities, including "common carriers"—so defined as to take in busses and taxicabs—under the control of the commission.

CHARLES A. M'INTYRE AGAINST STATE BAR BILL

Declares Opposition to Measure Is Not Limited to So-Called Damage Suit Lawyers.

Charles A. McIntyre, lawyer, has pointed out that opposition to the State bar bill, now pending in the Legislature, is not limited to so-called damage suit lawyers. He has taken exception to published articles to the effect that the bill had been obstructed through the efforts of damage suit lawyers.

"I take the term damage suit lawyer to mean a lawyer who accepts damage suit business on a contingency contract," McIntyre said. "I take no cases on contingency basis, and there are other lawyers who can say the same, who are opposing the bar bill. We are against the measure because it would prescribe compulsory membership in an organization, and compulsory payment of dues there to, and because it would place great power over individual lawyers in the hands of a few men."

"If the bar bill were enacted, it would still be possible for lawyers to collect contingent fees, and enforce contracts for such fees by law. The way to deal with damage suit abuses would be to change the law, so as to make contingent fee contracts unenforceable, and then to make a move through use of the powers of discipline which the courts now have over lawyers."

ALDERMAN BROCK DENIES HE IS RUNNING AS INDEPENDENT

Says He Is Republican, Although He Is Not Backed by Ward Committee.

Alderman Rudolph H. Brock of the Twenty-third Ward said today he wished to correct an impression as an "independent." Brock was elected four years ago as a Republican and has been active in the Republican organization.

"Some of the voters," Brock said, "seemingly think that because I am not supported by the Republican committee from my ward, I am running as an independent. That is not true. I am a candidate on the Republican ticket and have the support of the committee from my ward, Mrs. Naomi Oldham, and expect to have other committee support."

Brock is conducting an active campaign, speaking at Republican ward and precinct meetings nearly every night. He announced his platform a few days ago, giving his views on many public questions.

JUDGE QUOTES MOSAIC LAW

IN ALLOWING $6000 FEES

Additional Pay for Roy F. Britton and Henri Chouteau as Receivers.

In the absence of other guidance Circuit Judge Hamilton quoted Mosaic law yesterday in allowing additional compensation of $6000 each to Roy F. Britton and Henri Chouteau as receivers for the St. Louis Amusement Co., operator of a chain of neighborhood theaters. According to that there was no set criticism for awarding fees to court officers, Judge Hamilton said, "We read in the laws of Moses that 'Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the grain' and we are admonished under the new dispensation that the laborer is worthy of his hire."

The award, on the receivers' application for $10,000 each, was for services up to last Nov. 23. Each had received $8000 previously. Judge Hamilton said that attorneys for the company had made his suggestions as to the size of the allowances and pointed out that the receivers had collected in excess of $1,000,000 in operating the business during the last year with assets worth more than $2,000,000 under their control. He said he took into consideration compensation allowed to executives in private business.

STATE DEPARTMENT CHANGES

Phillips and Prof. Moley Will Be on Duty Monday.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 3.—William Phillips of Massachusetts, who will be the new Under Secretary of State, will be at his desk Monday morning when Senator Hull takes over as Secretary of State. Prof. Raymond Moley, one of the new assistant secretaries of State, also will be on duty.

Francis White, assistant secretary in charge of Latin American affairs, is to be kept in that post for the present, although he is reported to be under consideration for an ambassadorship. Assistant Secretary Wilbur J. Carr, who handles appropriations for the department, doubtless will be retained in his present post.

ITALY LOSES IN TRADE TREATY WITH RUSSIA

Too Much Paper, No Competitive Bidding in Moscow, Among Disadvantages.

By the Associated Press. ROME, March 3.—Italy's two-year experiment of trading with Russia has ended in regret and a determination not to renew the decision to denounce the commercial treaty of 1924 and refusal to renew the trade agreement definite expressions of disagreement over the fact that Russia's share of the trading, which Italy is left holding the bag half a billion lire in promissory notes.

In the two-year experiment Russia bought machinery, dyes, ships, planes, motors, tractors, marble, and fruits sent in Italian boats. The ships brought back Soviet grain, oil, grapes, manganese, steel and lumber.

At the end of the first year Italy and it had imported $29,000,000 worth and sold $14,000,000. In the second year the adverse balance was cut to $5,000,000.

Moreover, Italy paid largely in dollars. The Soviets paid mostly in dollars, running from nine months to months. Most of this paper is all unliquidated, since the Bank Italy will not rediscunt it. The paper that have expired have been simply paid. But the accumulation of paper when they want cash pays the manufacturers.

Lastly, the Soviet purchasing agents came to Italy and bargained with Italian manufacturers as competitors. The Italian purchasing agents could buy only through the Moscow Government and at set prices.

Agreement on Mortgage Bill. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Senate and House conferees yesterday reached an agreement on theatcher-Steagall bill to authorize the Federal Land Banks. The measure agreed on would direct the land banks to employ a $50,000,000 fund in postponing payments which would be repaid by a 10-year period. It provides that farmers may borrow directly from land banks, instead of through farm loan associations.

U. S. LEADS IN EXPORTS TO UNITED KINGDOM

America Ranks Seventh as Market of British-Made Products, However.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 3.—The leading share of United Kingdom imports in 1932 was derived from the United States, while America ranked seventh among the markets for Britain's domestic exports, according to figures just made public.

A survey by the Board of Trade of the geographical distribution of Britain's overseas commerce shows that 11.9 per cent of the imports came from the United States. The American share, however, was smaller than usual, 12.97 per cent of total imports being furnished in 1931 and 15.88 per cent in 1924.

India Maintains Position.
In the domestic export trade, India maintained its position as the Kingdom's leading customer, with the Irish Free State in second place. Australia, which ranked ninth in 1931, regained its 1930 position in third place. Argentina, second in the import list, was tenth as a market for British exports.

According to these estimates, America's taking in 1932 was 56 cents at par exchange per capita, compared with 70 cents in 1931 and $2.28 in 1924.

PROF. HOLMES SMITH TO RETIRE JUNE 30

Head of Art Department on Washington U. Staff
49 Years.

Prof. Holmes Smith, head of the department of history of art at Washington University, will retire on June 30, after 49 years of continuous service at that institution. He will attain the retiring age, 70 years, on May 9.

Prof. Smith joined the staff of Washington University in 1884, after attending the Royal College of Science in South Kensington, England. For 19 years he was an instructor in drawing, becoming assistant professor in 1903, professor of drawing and the history of art in 1907 and finally professor of history of art in 1920.

He married Miss Rose Greenleaf Elliot, daughter of Dr. William G. Elliot, founder of Elliot Seminary, which later became Washington University. They have one daughter, Dr. Abigail E. Smith, who resides with them at 5440 Maple avenue.

The university was at Seventeenth street and Washington avenue when Prof. Smith became connected with it and he has watched it grow from an enrollment of 400 students to the present figure of almost 7000.

"The curriculum has been broadened to include many new subjects, and as a result students have wider interests and a broader outlook on life when they leave school," he said.

"In former days students had little space for recreation and little opportunity to engage in sports at school. Consequently, they often let off steam in classroom and corridor pranks. Now they have simpler facilities and more opportunities to get rid of excess energy through a program of athletics. This I consider a great advance."

"Life at the university has always been interesting to me. Being around boys and girls all the time makes one feel youthful himself."

Prof. Smith revealed that he is now at work on a history of the university, a project which was suggested to him by the corporation. He expects to devote a good part of his time during his retirement in the writing of the volume.

Prof. Smith received an honorary master of arts degree from Washington University in 1907, and the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts from the University of Nebraska in 1928. He is a former president of the St. Louis Artists' Guild, the Society of Western Artists and the College Art Association and a former vice-president of the Federated Council on Art Education.

SLATED FOR POST ON HIGHWAY BOARD

ST. LOUISAN, who is expected to become chairman of the State Highway Commission in an early reorganization. He will succeed Sam R. McPheters, Democratic member appointed by former Gov. Caulfield.

'FRANKIE AND JOHNNIE' BARRED SO THYRSUS SOCIETY QUILTS

Head of Washington U. Dramatic Group Announces It Has Disbanded for Year.

Following the decision to abandon production of a burlesque on the ballad, "Frankie and Johnnie," with Thyrsus Dramatic Society and Men's Glee Club because of possible objections to its moral tone, Arthur Moore, president, announced yesterday that the Washington University Quadrangle Club will give no show this year and is automatically disbanded.

He explained that the club is organized only for the purpose of giving theatrical productions and since no show will be given this year it cannot exist. "However," Moore said, "the officers will attempt to effect a reorganization next fall and perhaps at that time we will be able to give a musical comedy."

Quadrangle Club was forced to drop plans for the production of the musical comedy, "French Class," when it was unable to raise a $1000 guarantee set by the Board of Student Finances. Selection of the show had involved the membership of the club in a long dispute which resulted in the ousting of three officers.

WEST ST. LOUIS TRUST CO. DEPOSITORS' MEETINGS CALLED

One Tomorrow Night at 4103 Easton and Another Tuesday at St. Anne's Hall.

Depositors' meetings to consider the proposed reorganization of the West St. Louis Trust Co., 4101 Easton avenue, are scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at 4103 Easton avenue and Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at St. Anne's Hall, Page boulevard and Whittier street.

Depositors who have not signed the reorganization agreement are urged to attend the meetings by George Grassmuck, chairman of the Depositors' Committee, who points out that failure of the agreement will result in liquidation of the bank.

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR FOR WHIPPING POST

Asks Legislature to Vote for Use of Stocks Also to Punish Offenders.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., March 2.—Gov. William H. Murray yesterday urged a joint session of the Oklahoma Legislature to pass laws for the punishment of criminals, both youths and adults, by whipping post and stocks.
Blaming lax parental training and the World War for "the loosening of public morals," the Governor told the Legislature the honor system of punishment had virtually failed and other systems must be devised. He outlined his clemency policy, his plans for reform of criminals and urged the Legislature to create an Oklahoma State Ranger force.
"The Legislature should pass a juvenile criminal, malicious mischief act, and upon conviction provide that the boy shall be brought into court and soundly thrashed with not less than 10 nor more than 50 lashes with no clothes on the back except a shirt, by the parent or guardian," the Governor said. "For the second offense, put him into an open court yard in stocks, with his hands and feet fastened, to take for a day or so the scorn, jeers and paper wads of his associates. These punishments will greatly affect him—much more than a year at the institution or in jail and the cost of hickories and stocks will be negligible."

For the older youth the Governor would recommend 30 lashes on the back with double the number of lashes for the second offense. This punishment would be for petty theft, violation of public decency laws, wife-beating, neglect of children, violation of the prohibition laws, reckless driving, porch-climbing and other crimes.
For hardened criminals the Governor would provide a penitentiary term with 30 to 100 lashes on entering and leaving prison, third offenders would receive the death penalty.

FUNERAL OF J. M. BUECHLER

Election Board Employee to Be Buried Tomorrow.
Funeral services for J. Michael Buechler, custodian of records for the Board of Election Commissioners for more than 40 years, will be held tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock at his home, 4581A Cote Brilliante avenue, then at Holy Ghost Church, Taylor and Garfield avenues. Burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Buechler died Wednesday at his home after a long illness. He was 55 years old but, until last Christmas, had rarely missed a day at work. He is survived by two daughters and a stepson.

Axe Manufacturer Dies.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2.—William C. Kelly, 53 years old, founder of one of the largest axe manufacturing companies in the world, died of heart disease yesterday. He was head of the Kelly Axe and Tool Co., which merged two years ago with the American Fork and Hoe Co. of Cleveland. Kelly also was president of the American Barge Line, which he founded.

REPLIES TO HYDE ON LIVESTOCK RATES

H. A. Powell, Secretary of St. Louis Livestock Exchange, Issues Statement.

Commenting on Secretary Hyde's ruling that existing rates and charges for selling and buying livestock on commission at the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, are "unreasonable," H. A. Powell, secretary of the St. Louis Livestock Exchange, issued the following statement:

Effective June 1, 1932, the firms affiliated with the Livestock Exchange made a voluntary reduction on commissions ranging from $2 to $7 a car. This was the second voluntary reduction we have made since the war.

"Those cuts were made in view of the depressed condition of agriculture, and we consider that we are as low as we could go and at the same time give the farmer good service. Secretary Hyde, about a month later, held a hearing at the Broadview Hotel, East St. Louis, on the rates charged here by all interests. That hearing lasted into July.

A detailed schedule of prices to be charged for each class of feed was set forth by the order, with Dunlap estimating that the reductions would aggregate approximately $100,000 annually. Some reduction also was ordered in the yardage rates, the new rates on the first of December we petitioned the Secretary to reopen the case for the purpose of permitting us to give additional testimony and evidence showing the effect of the rate cuts that we made in June on our business. We also asked for the purpose of permitting us to introduce figures showing the increased cost of doing business by reason of the increased postage and other taxes that Congress had imposed after the original government audit was made.

"The Secretary didn't grant our request to admit this new evidence. Announcing the rate cut just before going out of office and following his refusal to permit us to introduce additional testimony which might have materially altered his decision, it looks like the Secretary was determined to give the livestock interests at this market a final poke in the eye after the gong had rung in the last round."

Holds Omaha Union Stockyards Rates Are Unreasonable.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Department of Agriculture today held that rates and charges now being assessed by the Union Stockyards of Omaha for its services are "unreasonable" and prescribed a new schedule to become effective in 45 days.

The order was signed by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary, and followed an investigation begun a year ago.

A detailed schedule of prices to be charged for each class of feed was set forth by the order, with Dunlap estimating that the reductions would aggregate approximately $100,000 annually. Some reduction also was ordered in the yardage rates, the new rates on livestock arriving by rail being 34 cents per head for cattle, 24 cents for calves, 11 1/2 cents for hogs and 7 1/2 cents for sheep.

The order also prescribed rates applicable to livestock resold or re-weighted for purposes of sale. The provision places a yardage charge upon some of the users of the services of the stockyard company who have not heretofore paid yardage charges.

In the case of feed charges, the order sets up a differential between the market price of each class of feed and the rates which the stockyard company may charge its patrons.

These charges, Dunlap said, will reduce the margin of profit for the company. In all, Dunlap estimated that the reductions will result in a decrease of about $145,000 annually in the charges made by the stockyards. Of this amount, the reductions in yardage charges to producers and shippers who consigned their livestock to markets for sale will be about $45,000 annually.

ILLINOIS U. 65TH ANNIVERSARY

Opened in 1868 as "Illinois Industrial University."

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 3.—Sixty-five years ago yesterday 50 college students greeted three professors in an old building a mile west of the Urbana courthouse.

Green street, familiar now to visitors of football season, was a mud road linking Champaign with Urbana. The assembly of that college class on March 2, 1868, then as the "Illinois Industrial University," marked the opening of the University of Illinois.

CITY WITHOUT BANKS PLANS CHECK CASHING EXCHANGE

Attorney-General Rules Merchants of Benton, Ill., May Use Substitute for Depositories.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 3.—A check cashing and money changing exchange planned by merchants in Benton, where there are no banks, is not in violation of the banking act, providing the agreement does not provide for passing title of the merchants' money to the person designated as agent, the Attorney-General held in an opinion today.

The merchants propose to appoint an agent to hold change for cashing checks handled by them in their business. The members would pay an agreed fee to the agent for his services and he may cash checks or bills of exchange for the general public for a fee. The members may also make deposits with the agent. The opinion was requested by Marion M. Hart, State's Attorney of Franklin County.

PLANES CARRY ICE CREAM TO JUNGLE GOLD FIELDS

Fresh Vegetables on Table at Every Meal in Bulele Area of New Guinea.

By the Associated Press.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 3.—Ice cream and electricity are now available to gold miners of the Bulele field hidden away in the tropic mountains of New Guinea, a territory which Australia administers under mandate.

Flying over impenetrable jungles inhabited by cannibalistic tribesmen, airplanes transport the frozen delicacy of the gold fields. Even fresh vegetables appear on the table at every meal.

MISSOURI SENATE DEFEATS CUT IN AUTO LICENSES

Votes Against Perfection of Bill Providing Reduction of About One-Third of Present Fee.

SMALL CARS ONLY SUBJECT TO MEASURE

Duplicate Bill Was Passed in House—Several Reasons Advanced Against Proposal.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 3.—The Senate yesterday afternoon defeated, on a roll call on perfection of the bill, the measure which proposed a decrease in automobile license fees on small cars. It was estimated the decrease would have been approximately 33.3 per cent, and that it would have reduced license revenues available for road construction approximately $3,000,000 a year.

A duplicate bill was passed in the House Tuesday by a vote of 100 to 34, and while the Senate action today was not on the House bill, it made virtually certain that there will be no reduction in the license fees.

Senator Joffe of Kansas City, author of the bill, urged its perfection and passage with the argument that it would mean a direct reduction in taxes and that it was demanded by owners of small cars. Many Senators opposed the bill, arguing that it would hamper road construction, would cause increased unemployment and that it might affect the marketability and value of Missouri road bonds, to the payment of which road revenues to the amount required for the purpose are set aside by the Constitution.

The bill proposed to change the method of computing the license fee, which now is on a horse-power basis, to a flat charge of 40 cents per hundred pounds of weight.

Senator Kinney offered an amendment to fix the rate at 60 cents per 100 pounds, a fee which would have meant no reduction in present rates, but withdrew the amendment when he realized that the Senate would defeat the bill.

The final vote was six for perfection and 22 against. The bill cannot come up for passage in the Senate, though the House bill could, but probably will not be voted on.

FEDERAL AID FOR SCHOOLS THROUGH R. F. C. LOANS URGED Superintendence Group of National Education Association Adopts Resolution.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 3.—Federal aid for schools through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans and establishment of a national commission to co-ordinate economic and social activities were requested yesterday by the Department of Superintendence, National Education Association.

Saying the principle of "equal educational opportunity for all was under serious attack, the convention, in adopting resolutions, called on the American people to "rise to an active protection of the schools."

Other resolutions adopted recommended revision of taxation systems, with a substantial increase in the proportion of educational expenditures borne by the State and Federal governments to assure proper instruction in hard pressed local communities; urged co-ordination and unification of Federal departments and agencies dealing with education; commended the "forward looking program in support of public education" of the American Federation of Labor.

New York Customs Agent Dies.

M. & O. TRAIN NO LONGER TO ENTER ST. LOUIS

Relay Station to Be Terminus for Local From Jacksonville, Tenn.

The St. Louis terminus of the Mobile & Ohio local passenger train to Jacksonville, Tenn., will be changed to East St. Louis tomorrow, because of low incurred in operating the train over Eads Bridge.

V. J. Thompson, assistant to the receiver of the railroad, said the patronage had dropped to one or two St. Louis passengers a day.

the others getting off in East St. Louis. The cost of crossing the bridge is $4.50 for a coach or motor-coach, with which the Jacksonville local is operated. It usually pulls but one coach.

The only other passenger train operated into St. Louis by the railroad, running from Mobile, Ala., on fast schedule, will continue into its Union Station terminus. Under the new arrangements the Jacksonville train will stop at 5:08 p. m. tomorrow at Relay Station, East St. Louis, and the southbound train will leave at 9:02 a. m. Sunday from Relay Station instead of Union Station.

NEW INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF JOHN R. FELL IN JAVA

Officials Refuse to Accept Verdict That Sportsman Was Stabbed Accidentally.

By the Associated Press.

BATAVIA, Java, March 3.—Further investigation has been made into the death in a Surakarta hotel of John R. Fell, American sportsman, who died as the result of a stab wound in the chest from a big knife.

Although a local investigation Surakarta ended with an official verdict confirming an accidental death, official interest is still shown here.

An officer of the Criminal Investigation Department left here this morning accompanied by a Hydrick, a member of the Rockefeller Foundation, bound for Samarang to interview authorities there.

Mrs. Fell is still in Surakarta.

DIGEST SAYS 45 STATES MAY RATIFY REPEAL

Magazine Bases Estimate on 1932 Poll Which Showed 46 Favored Change.

The Literary Digest, in this week's issue, prophesies that the pending twenty-first amendment to the Constitution, repealing the eighteenth amendment, will be ratified by nearly all the states, probably by as many as the 45 which ratified the eighteenth amendment in 1918-19. Ratification by 36 states is required for adoption of the repealing amendment.

The Digest bases its prophecy not on any poll or survey of the last few months, but on its nationwide prohibition polls of previous years, chiefly that taken in the spring of 1932. In the 1932 poll, with the issue between repeal and retention of the eighteenth amendment, 46 states were shown as voting for repeal, 33 of them by more than a 2-to-1 vote. Kansas and North Carolina were shown as voting for retention of the amendment by more than 50 per cent, but less than 51 per cent.

As the result of the form in which the twenty-first amendment has been submitted to the states, the states will ratify or reject it through the action of state conventions, to which the people of each state will elect delegates. Holding of the conventions depends on the action of the State Legislatures. In Missouri, a bill providing for a convention has passed the lower house and is in the Senate.

In last year's Literary Digest prohibition poll, of 150,409 votes cast in Missouri, 106,519, or 70 per cent, were for repeal. The latest test at the polls was the vote in 1926 on a proposal to repeal the State bond-enforcement law. The repeal proposal was beaten, 570,000 to 286,000; however, it was opposed not only by the drys, but by many non-drys, who did not think it wise to repeal the State law while national prohibition continued.

LAST SURVIVORS OF G. A. R. POST

HENRY SEIBEL.

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
JOHN GAST.

DEATH LEAVES ONLY TWO ALIVE OF DISBANDED G. A. R. POST

One Survivor of Brouster No. 233, Which Met at Clayton,
Is 93, Other 87.

With the death in Kirkwood this week of Valentine Bopp, Henry Seibel of Manchester and John Gast of Kirkwood became the last two surviving members of Brouster Post No. 233, Grand Army of the Republic. The post had officially disbanded about 10 years ago when only seven of the original number of about 80 were still living.

Seibel, who celebrated his ninety-third birthday on Feb. 16, served in the Fourth Missouri Cavalry and during the war was held prisoner for a long time at Belle Island. He had been owner of a contracting company in Manchester for 65 years and is still active to the extent of helping his sons make out the payroll.

Gast lives with a son-in-law, Henry Schrimper, on Mason road, north of Manchester road, and just south of where he himself had a farm for many years after coming out of the Union Army. He served in the Forty-seventh Missouri Infantry and the Second Missouri Regiment and was the only recruit to go from his home town of Washington, Mo. He was 87 years old last October. Brouster Post, until its discontinuance met at Clayton.

MISSOURI, JOIN THE NA BANKING

Only Two States, Delaware and South Carolina, Have Not Restricted Withdrawals — Shipment of Gold Abroad Halted.

STOCK EXCHANGES ALSO ARE CLOSED

Gov. Horner Refers to Heavy Demands on Chicago Depositories, Which Paid Out $350,000,000 in Two Weeks.

The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 4.—Bank holidays prevailed today practically throughout the nation.
As a result, the New York Stock Exchange and all other exchanges in the city—cotton, coffee, sugar and rubber, also suspended activities. Exchanges in other cities followed the lead of New York.

The State of New York began a today suspension of banking under an early morning proclamation Gov. Lehman. Almost simultaneously a holiday was called for free days in Illinois, and two in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other states that took similar action.
In only two states—Delaware and South Carolina—were there no restrictions.

Gold Shipment Stopped.
One important effect was the stopping of gold shipments, both New York and to other countries, for the Federal Reserve Bank
New York was closed.
A hundred million dollars in gold left the bank in recent days scheduled for foreign account, and an estimated amount had been drawn by citizens of the United States.

Gov. Lehman issued the New York proclamation after a conference with members of the Clearing house committee, and other leading bankers. Among those at the meeting were Thomas Lamont, a partner in J. P. Morgan & Co.; George Harrison, Governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank; William W. Aldrich, president of the National Bank, largest commercial bank in the world; James H. Perkins, chairman of the board of the National City Bank, and Joseph A. Broderick, State Superintendent of Banks.

Heavy Gold Withdrawals.
Gov. Lehman abandoned a trip to the inauguration at Washington to preside over the conference.
Heavy currency withdrawals and a drain of gold for foreign account prompted the meeting.
It followed a day in which demands on local banks increased.
The loss of gold amounted to $116, 000, the largest amount of the total the United States ever had to draw up in a single day. The domestic demand for gold continued unchecked, currency circulation appeared to be further enlarged, and money market stiffened, compelling its readjustment to the increase from two and one-half to three and one-half per cent in the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The position of the large Wall Street banks was described as unstable by leading bankers, who advised with Gov. Lehman in attrib-uting the necessity for the holiday to hysteria and the burden caused by the banking situation in other sections of the country. In many of other districts, in turn, leading bankers described banking restrictions as due to pressure from neighboring areas.

Condition of Savings Banks.
Bankers said that savings banks were in excellent condition, with the highest type of investments, but that these could not be converted into cash sufficient to meet the demands of a stampede without causing great harm by dumping the holdings.
At most of the local banks yesterday, normal business was done, but some there was unusual activity as depositors closing out their accounts.

"Until early this morning it was my hope," Lehman said in his proclamation, "that it would not be necessary to interrupt the continuous operation of the banking system of New York State."
The spread of hysteria and the restrictions imposed upon the bank-
